Red Meat Exports Expected To Continue Growth

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

PHILADELPHIA—U.S beef, pork, lamb and variety meat exports have more than doubled during the last decade, totaling a record $2.6 billion in 1991. That's the report given by officials at the U.S. Meat Export Federation meeting here Thursday.

While consumption of red meat has decreased in the domestic market, exports have shown tremendous increases that have helped to keep the meat industry strong.

"With domestic markets for red meat flattening, exports present a tremendous opportunity for U.S. meat and fed grain producers and their allied industries," said Phil Seng, USMEF president and CEO. "U.S. beef and variety meat exports in 1991 accounted for more than eight percent of total domestic production by value."

Seng released a study by the Federation that projects the impact of U.S. beef and pork exports on the U.S. cattle and hog industries through the end of the century. This study shows that U.S. red meat exports are expected to increase by 250 percent by the year 2,000.

Already this year, meat exports have exceeded last year in each of the first four months. This trend is expected to continue.

Japan is the largest importer of U.S. beef, veal, pork and variety

Study Compares New Broiler Buildings To Old

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — If you look at the data, then tunnel-ventilated broiler houses may be "in," and the naturally ventilated houses, at least for the time being, are "out."

That's the conclusion reached in a study undertaken by Penn State's Department of Ag Economics and Rural Sociology. The findings were presented on Monday by Dr. Milton Madison, Penn State ag economist, at the Poultry Management and Health Seminar.

More than 29 broiler industry representatives heard why more research is needed to validate some of the findings about the tunnel-ventilated houses as compared to naturally ventilated.

The study, which examined the performance of the houses on growout against other, older houses within the same companies, did not "cross-compare" results with different companies.

Three companies

In all, three companies were examined — Pennfield, Tyson, and Farmer's Pride. The Pennfield study compared three houses against all of their older structures, according to Madison. The Tyson study compared six of the new housing types against 120 of the older houses and the Farmer's Pride study compared three houses to 150 of the older structures.

The Pennfield study involved curtain-sided houses measuring 44 feet by 500 feet at a cost of $113,000. The cost of construction for the curtain-sided houses, not including excavation and well

Faith, Farming Inseparable For Ammons

LEWISTOWN (Mifflin Co.) — When Noah stepped out of the ark, he was given a promise by God — "While the earth remaineth, seedtime and harvest, and cold and heat, and summer and winter, and day and night shall not cease."

Perhaps that is why Bill Ammon of Lewistown says to "have faith, be a good steward, and be diligent in your work."

Because as surely as the seedtime comes, so will the harvest.

The Ammon farm has seen the seasons come and go for five generations. On the banks of the Juniata River, Bill and Helen Ammon farm the riverbottom ground as good stewards should, earning Cooperator of the Year in 1988 and Farm Family of the Year for Conservation in 1991.

In 1990, they installed a 60-foot by 12-foot manure system to protect against run-off into the Juniata River.

"We're probably putting half of the nitrogen on our corn we normally did, so it saved on fertilizer," Bill said. "Plus, it's more convenient. You don't have to haul twice a day in the winter. It's a good conservation practice. You don't have the manure run-off."

Ammons sow a lot of rye as a cover crop and spread the manure on that. As part of the Chesapeake Bay Program, Ammon farms with

DelVal FFA Students Help Others

DOYLESTOWN (Bucks Co.) — More than 20 million Americans know some form of hunger each week. The latest government figures indicate the need for food rose 26 percent last year.

To farm families that produce food and eat abundently, these figures seem hard to believe. Most farmers don't know many people who go to bed hungry. But these people are real, they are in our communities, and if given the opportunity, many would love to grow their own food.

That's why Scott Barnett, senior at Delaware Valley College, has become involved in several pilot programs at college. In these programs, farmers donate excess veggies to local food banks and teach the recipients of these donations to grow their own food.

The programs, called "Adopt A Plot" and "Grow A Row," were initiated by Vilma Frattone, president, Terra Vision Foundation and embraced by DelVal's ag training center. Through the sponsorship of Professor Donald Claycomb and the FFA chapter at the college, the programs are growing beyond expectation.

"A number of the students donate their time for these projects," Barnett said. "The whole idea is education. The college has

PMMB Weighs Conflicting Testimony

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The three members of the Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board (PMMB) must weigh conflicting testimony from various farm organizations as they decide what to do about the current $1.30 market add-on the board imposes on farm milk prices.

Those members — J. Robert Derry of Penn Run, Don Lanius of York and Leon Wilkinson of Landenberg — are expected to issue a decision June 18 following an unusually lengthy hearing on the issue in late May, according to Tom Kugel, a board spokesman.

The current premium is set to expire at the end of the month.

The Mid-Atlantic area's major dairy cooperatives, led by Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, the region's largest, testified in favor of reducing the so-called over-order premium to 80 cents a hundredweight during the two-day hearing.

However, two of the state's general farm organizations, the Pennsylvania Farmers Association and the Pennsylvania Farmers Union, backed a continuation of the current $1.30 premium in their testimony.

A third group, the Pennsylvania State Grange, testified in support of a $1.05 level, which was where the premium stood for months before it was raised to $1.30 in February in response to testimony about the impact of last summer's drought.

N.E. Chicken Parts

EDISON, NJ.
JUNE 10, 1992
NORTHEAST BROILER/FRYER PARTS. FEDERAL-STATE

Trucklot buying interest ranged fair to fairly good and better than expected for mid-week. Boneless skinless breasts were in good balance with an active call as buyers look for additional product to cover retail features. The trade sentiment was firm. Line run breasts were irregularly distributed. Trading was at steady prices but the undertone was fully steady to firm for late week production. Yellow skin leg quarters were clearing to a good demand but white skin product was offered at competitive prices. Legs and wings were in good balance with needs and clearing at steady prices.

TODAY'S NEGOTIATED SALES AS OF 11:30 A.M., 10-JUN-92 PRICES PAID PER POUND, ICE PACKED PARTS DELIVERED IN POOL TRUCKLOT AND TRUCKLOT QUANTITIES

DAILY NATIONAL GRAIN SUMMARY

WEATHER CONDITIONS SEEMS TO HAVE SHIFTED, MOVING WET WEATHER OUT OF SOUTH AND INTO MIDWEST AREAS. WHEAT 2 TO 3 CENTS LOWER AND UP TO 21 CENTS LOWER IN MINNEAPOLIS. CORN MOSTLY STEADY. SORGHUM STEADY TO 1 CENT LOWER. SOYBEANS 4 TO 5 CENTS LOWER. WHEAT PRICES DECLINED ON IDEAS DRIER WEATHER FORCAST FOR SOUTHERN U.S. HARD RED WINTER WHEAT AREAS WOULD ALLOW HARVEST TO RESUME. SPOT CUTTING IN AREAS OF SOUTHERN OKLAHOMA AND TEXAS SHOWING LIGHTER TEST WEIGHTS BUT SPROUT DAMAGE NOT AS EXTENSIVE IN OKLAHOMA AS IN TEXAS. PAKISTAN'S LARGE WHEAT PURCHASE ALREADY FACTORED INTO MARKET EARLIER THIS WEEK, ADDING LITTLE SUPPORT TO PRICES. CORN PRICES CLOSED FRACTIONALLY LOWER; SOYBEANS MODERATELY LOWER, INFLUENCED BY RECENT RAINS OVER MIDWEST AREAS. TRADERS ALSO SQUARING POSTIONS BEFORE TODAY'S RELEASE OF USDA'S SUPPLY AND DEMAND REPORT. LONG-TERM OUTLOOK STILL CALLING FOR DRIER-THAN-NORMAL CONDITIONS THIS SUMMER IN MIDWEST, UNDERPINNED PRICES. USDA'S CROP PRODUCTION REPORT FORECAST WINTER WHEAT PRODUCTION AT 1.54 BILLION BUSHELS, DOWN 5 PERCENT FROM MAY 1 BUT 12 PERCENT MORE THAN 1991 CROP. FEWER ACRES FOR GRAIN COUPLED WITH LOWER YIELDS CAUSED DECLINE FROM LAST MONTH.

EXPORT NEWS: PAKISTAN BOUGHT 273,000 TONNES U.S. NO. 2 OR BETTER SOFT WHITE WHEAT, USING GSM-102 FINANCING FOR AUGUST. TAIWAN BOUGHT 54,000 TONNES U.S. NO. 2 YELLOW CORN.

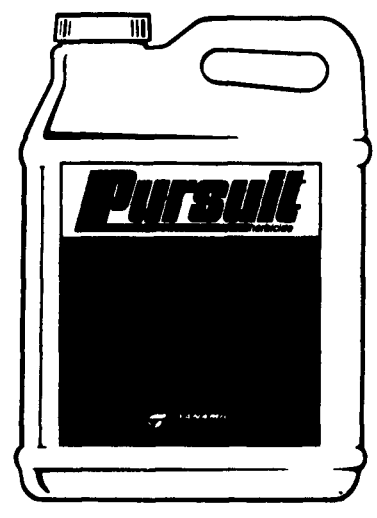
FOR DOUBLE-CROP SOYBEANS, THERE'S ONLY ONE LEADER OF THE PACK.

PURSUIT® herbicide is today's best tool for double-crop beans. It not only delivers the highest degree of overall weed control, it's also the only postemergence product that combines contact and residual activity to give you superior control of more than 40 tough-to-control grasses and broadleaf weeds. Including velvetleaf, foxtails, cocklebur, pigweeds, nightshades, common ragweed, giant ragweed, sunflower, shattercane and seedling Johnsongrass. Without causing crop injury. And because of its advanced chemistry and low rates of application, PURSUIT offers a responsible choice for the environment. That's the kind of leadership everyone can respect. And reason enough to try PURSUIT. See us soon.



Always read and follow label directions carefully.

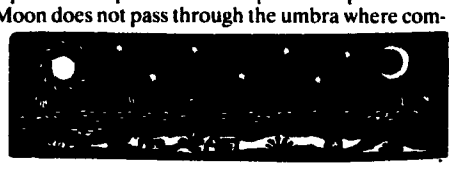
The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

JUNE 8-14, 1992

FULL STRAWBERRY MOON, JUNE 14.

SHADOWS AND ECLIPSES

On the night of June 14-15, there will be a partial eclipse of the Full Strawberry Moon, that is, the Moon will pass through the Earth's complete shadow (umbra) so that a portion of the Moon is darkened by that shadow. Do not confuse a partial eclipse with a penumbral eclipse. In a penumbral eclipse, the Moon does not pass through the umbra where complete darkness prevails, but only passes through the transition area of partial shadow known as the penumbra. During this week's partial eclipse, the Moon passes through the penumbra (beginning at 9:09 P.M. EST) on its way to entering umbra (at 10:26 P.M. EST). The Moon leaves umbra at 1:27 A.M., EST and leaves penumbra at 2:45 A.M., EST.



Life is like the Moon; now dark, now full.

TIP OF THE WEEK

One teaspoon of fresh herbs equals ½ teaspoon dried.

EARTHWISE

If it's time for a new garden hose, there are many ways to recycle the old one. Punch holes at regular intervals and turn it into a soaker. Or slide short lengths of hose over swing chains for a steadier grip and to prevent little fingers from being pinched in the links. Use sections of hose to insulate your lug wrench and jack handle and the next mid-winter tire change won't be such a frosty experience. Many garden tools can benefit from a vinyl-coated handle. See what uses you can invent.

LOGANBERRY PIE

3 cups loganberries
1 cup sugar
1 cup heavy cream
1 double-crust pie pastry

Line a 10-inch pie plate with pastry and fill with berries. Cover with pastry and pierce to let steam escape. Bake at 425° F for 10 minutes, then at 350° F for 40 minutes. Take pie from oven and carefully cut and remove top crust off pie. Sprinkle sugar over berries and replace top crust. At serving time, again lift off top crust and pour cream over berries. Replace crust and serve.

Makes one 10" pie.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECAST

NORTHEAST: Clear and warm, few showers, cold wave and showers, sunny south, warming west

SOUTHEAST: Sunny and hot some showers cloudy and mild Florida seasonable

MIDWEST: Clear and warm, showers and mild central, then cloudy and cool, sunny and warm central

NORTHWEST: Sunny and warm, cool and rainy mountains, then cloudy, showery, and mild

SOUTHWEST: Sunny and cool, clear and hot California, rainy mountains

OPINION

Ode To An Up-Stream Neighbor

Editor:

This morning as I checked my herd of beef cows, I crossed the creek that flows from your farm to mine. I was amazed by the amount of mud and manure in the water.

In an effort to determine the source of these contaminants of this small stream. I walked up-stream to your farm. What I saw there infuriated me. You had applied liquid manure recently on a ten acre field. The field sloped directly into the stream which skirted the field for approximately 1200 feet.

There were no contour strips nor terraces. There were only gullies where sod waterways should be. Time had not been taken to incorporate the manure even though last night's rain had been forecast 48 hours in advance.

I am a 60 year old Penna. Dutchman who has farmed all his life. I have no ax to grind with you and I have no desire to have you incur any legal expense or aggraauation so I will not file any reports or grievences against you. But it has been over 12 hours since the rain has stopped falling and your farm continues to float past my farm.

Dear neighbor, we do not need more government interference. We need farmers who practice soil conservation out of love for their land and respect for their neighbors.

Sincerely,
Muddied Down-Stream

NOW IS THE TIME

By John Schwartz
Lancaster County Agricultural Agent

To Be Aware Of Alfalfa Leaf Spot Diseases

Robert Anderson, extension agronomy agent, reminds us that yellow alfalfa does not always mean we have a leafhopper problem.

The fields he has checked this week have been infected with leaf fungus diseases. Cool, wet weather causes fungus diseases on plants. So, before spraying an alfalfa field that looks yellow for leafhoppers, check for diseases and use an insect net to check for insects.

The most prevalent disease this spring has been Lepto Leaf Spot. Lepto Leaf Spot appears as small brown spots on the leaflets, which are surrounded by a yellow area or halo. The spots will enlarge and acquire a tan center with an irregular border in time.

The yellow halo is a key to identification. Infection is confined to young leaves and the greatest damage occurs on new growth which is infected shortly after cutting.

The infected leaves will eventually die and cling to the stem for a period of time. Leafhopper damage starts as a wedge shape area at the tip of the foliage.

Leafhoppers will stunt plants and turn the leaves yellow and red in color. The only control for leaf diseases is warmer and drier weather.

So check your fields before spraying and only spray for leafhoppers when numbers are above the economic threshold. We expect leafhoppers to be a problem in the very near future while leaf spot diseases are the problem in most fields this week

Rotation Of Crops Will Increase Yields

With a good fertility program, good weed and insect control, and proper selection of varieties and planting methods, a field growing continuous corn will remain highly productive for decades.

However, corn that is rotated with another crop such as a grass-legume hay will almost always produce a higher yield in the first year than a similar field used to grow continuous corn.

Agronomists recognize the benefit of crop rotation on yields but are unable to explain exactly why it happens. In addition, crop rotation may reduce fertilizer costs, improve the soil's physical condition, and decrease pest problems associated with insects and weeds.

Cover crops will also provide some of these benefits. By using crop rotations and cover crops, we would be addressing many of the concerns of environmentalists while improving the soil.

To Provide Summer Cow Comfort

Hot weather is stressful to cows. When temperatures rise above 75-80 F, cows eat less, they milk less, and many will fail to conceive.

To help combat heat stress, cows need shade, air and water. Shades may consist of trees, sun filtering nets placed over feeding areas, or well ventilated barns.

Be sure shade areas are clean and dry. Fresh air may be provided by opening up the barns and using fans.

Remove sidewalls and ridge caps. Build barns with high eaves. If necessary, insulate the roof and protect insulation from bird damage.

Fans may be used to:

- Provide tunnel ventilation.
- Pressurize ducts and blow air onto cows.
- Blow air over cows.

Also, make sure cows have easy access to lots of fresh, clean water.

Would you please include this open letter in your next issue?

Open letter to dairy farmer members of the Red Rose DHIA

Now that the issue of transferring of your records to Raleigh DRPC is behind us, I feel it is my obligation, to you, as one of your elected state directors, from the southeast district, to share some of my concerns with you. Up until this time I did not want to make any comments for fear they might jeopardize the negotiations between PA state board and the Red Rose board.

The final decision to ultimately leave PDHIA and go to Raleigh DRPC, even though you showed your loyalty to Red Rose and sent in a request to switch, still is in your hands. Please be absolutely sure Raleigh will meet your needs and at a guaranteed price. So far we have only heard speculations on what the price might be.

At the time your board requested transferring of records, I admit that PDHIA did not have the resources to fill the needs of dairy-

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE GUILTY BYSTANDER

JUNE 7, 1992

Background Scripture:
Obadiah.
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 96:7-13.

The "innocent bystander" is usually a contradiction in terms. If one is standing-by while witnessing someone suffering, it is very difficult to be truly "innocent."

This is the charge that the prophet Obadiah leveled against the people of Edom. When the Babylonians came up against Jerusalem, the Edomites "stood aloof," "gloated" over their brother's "misfortuned," indeed "rejoiced" over it, and actually looted "his goods," prevented Israelites from escape, and "deliverd up" survivors to the Babylonians.

What made this particularly odious was that the Israelities and the Edomites should have been "brothers," for they were descended from Jacob and Esau, respectively, the sons of Isaac, the gransons of Abraham. Genealogically, they were "family" and there should have been them some compassion. So there was no way that the Edomites could be innocent bystanders to the depredations of Babylon upon Israel. And for this great sin, Obadiah was prophesying for God: "Behold, I will make you small among the nations, you shall utterly be despised" (v.2).

ALL PEOPLES

although the prophecy is more than 2,400 years old, it is relevant to much of the world's history that has followed and even our own times. If anything, it has been broadened because we are beginning to understand that all people everywhere are our brothers and sisters, even if, like the Edom and Israel, we refuse to recognize it. In the sixth century B.C., Edom was castigated for its lack of brotherliness; in our day, all nations are guilty bystanders if they watch with glee or even indifference at the sufferings of others.

A few weeks ago we toured what used to be popularly known as "East Germany." For a half century we have watched as the nations of Eastern Europe struggled under the burdens of Communism. I can remember those times I have bisited the Berlin Wall or stood and looked over the Iron Curtain; I honestly never thought these would come down in my time. How thrilled I was, then, to walk through the Brandenburg Gate in Berlin a few weeks ago and to saunter through what used to be the terrible "Checkpoint Charlie"!

For the most part, as nations there was not much taht we could do that we did not do during the Cold War—I don't think Obadiah's prophecy will fall upon us for that. But now that the walls are down—solely by the grace of God, I suspect—will we watch indifferently as these peoples struggle to make their dreams of freedom come true? Will we be the guilty bystanders at a time when we are called to be their brothers and sisters?

JUST LIKE US

None of us should think for one moment that the Iron Curtain is down for good. As we drove through the former East Germany—Dresden, Leipzig, Weimar, Erfurt—we found these newly "free" people in said straits: large numbers now without a job, those that worked poorly paid, prices out of sight and, with their new—found freedom and democracy they were experiencing some of the burdens of becoming "just like us"—drugs, crime, corruption, mushrooming at an alarming pace now that their police state is gone. How many of these, we wondered, may opt to return to what they had before? For the day of the Lord is near upon all the nations. As you have done, it shall be done to you, your deeds shall return on your own head.

Or We'll Build A Unit To Meet Your Needs

THE kränzle PUMP MAKES THE DIFFERENCE:

The kränzle pump is direct drive. No belts or pulleys to tighten. No moving external parts for user safety. The direct drive pump gives us greater motor bearing life and allows us to produce 10-15% more PSI & GPM than a crankcase pump. All pumps run at 1800 RPM for longer life.

Brass head CU ZN39PB3; Plungers triplex ceramic: Packing, teflon with moylbdene, which gives us long life even if run dry. Valves stainless cartridge (1.4303) will draw water 9' from open vessel. Pump can be easily serviced - no special tools needed.

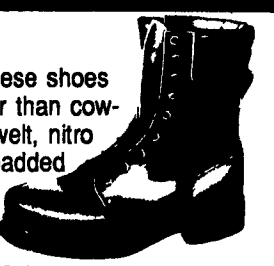
HORSEHIDE
GENUINE HORSEHIDE
Barnyard Acid Resistant American Made



Made of tough, long wearing horsehide, these shoes stand manure, silage, oil and grease better than cowhide. Shoes feature a genuine Goodyear welt, nitro cork sole that will not track, steel shank, padded collar, cushion insole and arch support. Ideal for barn use. Sizes 7-13 including ½ sizes. 1st quality. Our experience shows that horsehide outlasts good cowhide by 50% or more for farm use.

Work In Strawberry Patch Pays Off For 4-H'ers

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — When her alarm clock rang at 5:30 a.m. on Wednesday, Marilyn Holloway, 17, was tempted to ignore it. Instead, she hurried to her strawberry patch and now she's glad she did.

Marilyn's two quart boxes of strawberries brought a hefty $360 at the Strawberry Roundup Auction held at the Farm and Home Center. Every year, the Rotary Club of Lancaster holds the auction for the 4-H Strawberry Club. Calvin High of High Industries was the highest bidder.

"The Rotary supports entrepreneurship and we feel this (auction) motivates young people to get involved in capitalism at an early age," said Bob Crosby, past president of Rotary.

Participants in the 4-H club must keep extensive record of costs, labor for weeding and picking, and profit received for the berries.

Marilyn has been a member of the club for four years, but this was her first win. In fact, it was the first time she could compete because she had school finals on auction day or her berries were not at the right stage during other competitions.

The 17-year-old winner will be a senior at Solance High School in the fall. Her parents are Joyce and Clifford Holloway III of Peach Bottom.

Marilyn said that she picked strawberries from 175 Early Glow plants and sorted through them to find uniform berries to fill two boxes.

Judge for the event, Elizabeth Lenton, a master gardener, chose Early Glow varieties for both grand champion and reserve. For the second time, Hans Leaman's strawberries captured the reserve ribbon. He is the 14-year-old son of John and Nancy Leaman of Bird-In-Hand.

"I learned life-long values and good discipline with this project," Hans told more than 200 Rotary members. "My least favorite activity was weeding, but the project taught me the basics of business and how to develop good relationships with customers."

Before the auction began, Hans told the Rotary, "When I'm picking berries in the hot sun, I think of the Rotary and how all this hard work will pay off. Now you can make this come true."

And Rotary member Don Horn, president of Pennfield Corporation, did make Hans' work pay off by bidding $170 for the berries.

The auction brought total proceeds of $1,164.50 for the 17 youth who entered the competition. Other winners included the following: Jill Harnish, Christiana; Amy Martin, Leola; Kendra Bucher, Manheim; Durell Leaman, Leola; Michael Yost, Lancaster; Marc Siegrist, Lancaster; Derek Stoner, Lancaster; Randy Ebersole, Lancaster; Neil Wenger, Manheim; Melissa Holloway, Quarryville; James Mullen, Quarryville; Kandi Mullen, Quarryville; and Joel Leaman, Bird-In-Hand.

Rotary Club members made 4-H'ers work in the strawberry patch worthwhile when the annual Strawberry Roundup Auction was held on Wednesday. From left: Donald Horn, Pennfield Corporation; Hans Leaman, reserve champion; Zoann Parker, 4-H extension agent; Harold Keller, auctioneer; Marilyn Holloway, grand champion; and Calvin High, High Industries.

donated land to be subdivided into plots for people who don't have the opportunity to grow fresh vegetables. We are going to teach them how to garden and take care of the plots up to five years if they are willing to do it that long."

For the sun-tanned, muscular youth who has spent the last eight summers working at the Funk Brothers vegetable farm and green houses near here, to help feed hungry people and teach them to be self-sustaining has personal motivation.

"I get a good feeling through knowing I am actually doing something worthwhile," Barnett said. "I know I have a lot of opportunities that are given to me that many other people are not as fortunate to have. I would like to share some of mine with them."

For Barnett and the 14 to 16 other FFA student volunteers at DelVal, there is no course credit involved in the projects. Their work may look good on a future job resume, but mostly it's a labor of love.

DelVal has two to three acres for vegetables and 15 acres of peaches and apples that are sold by students at a roadside stand. Under Professor Claycomb's direction, students with majors in these fields get hands-on experience.

"My main interest in the Terra Vision programs is to have people learn how to raise vegetables so we can give them a plot to raise food," Claycomb said. Along with the land from the college, he said, the Philadelphia Electric Company provides land that can be divided into 34 growing plots for individuals to use.

"Next year, we hope to be in full swing with these projects," he said.

For Vilma Frattone, a retiree from the business world, the programs to engage FFA students, 4-H members, and many other volunteers has been started to "connect family, farmers, and food kitchens," said Frattone. She is asking every interested party to raise extra fruit or vegetables this year and donate them to their local food kitchen.

The volunteers will visit their community and sign up farmers, asking them to "Grow A Row" and donate it to the needy. The student is to make the connection between the farmer and the local food kitchen. This way, according to Frattone, there is no distribution problem and no money exchanges hands. The response has been exceptional.

Seed companies, corporations, and small businesses have donated to the projects. At DelVal, two acres of vegetables are being grown for a local program that supplies distribution to the needy in Bucks County. Large quanities of sweet corn has been donated at harvest time. And in western Pennsylvania, pumpkins will be made available.

FFA student Glenn Cappo is also a food broker. He is signing up many New Jersey farmers and overseeing the deliveries. Cappo expects tons of food to be donated by the end of harvest.

For Barnett, the idea is to use the food bank at Central Manor. The people at his church, the Washington Boro Chruch of God, have offered to help.

Student Kenneth Hartman plans to work in northwestern Pennsylvania near the Ohio border. He hopes to involve junior and high school students and his 4-H club in his hometown near Pittsburg.

James Wabler of Coopersburg is Claycomb's assistant. Wabler helped to plant and oversee the two gardens at the college. He will also go into the community and teach people in low-income areas the best way to get the most out of their urban growing plots. Wabler and Claycomb will run free classes at the college for those who wish to learn production methods.

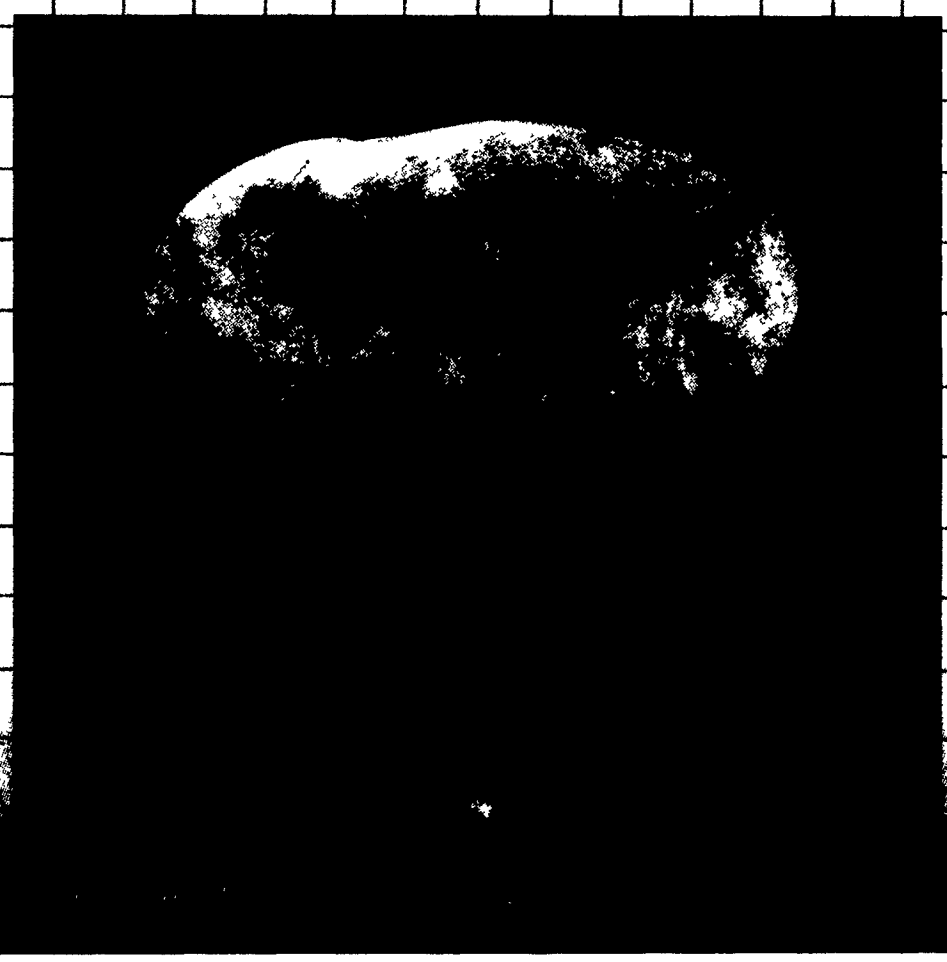
FOIL® BIOINSECTICIDE
Proven Performer / Consistent Control



Today, There is an Alternative — FOIL®
Environmentally Sound Control of Insects on Potatoes

Ecogen Inc. developed Foil® Bioinsecticide from a novel genetic combination of three strains of Bt (Bacillus thuringiensis). As insects eat Foil, they immediately stop feeding and crop destruction is halted.

Foil is the only biological insecticide that is effective against both Colorado potato beetles and European corn borers. Foil makes a powerful alternative to chemical pesticides and other Bt products.

With environmental issues a concern for all growers, Foil is indeed today's alternative.

Derived from Bt, a natural pesticide, Foil has no pre-harvest interval and does not contaminate ground water.

contour strips, and have installed a waterway and a limited access area. Because of extensive spring development, both pastures offer watering troughs.

Bill and Helen Ammon's 325 acre Dairy of Distinction includes two farms with 175 tillable acres and the rest pasture and woodland. Bill estimates they plow only about 20 percent of their corn acres and no till the rest.

In 1948, Bill's father bought a neighborhood farm. The "home" farm, where the Ammon's live with son Mike, 22, and daughters Ellen, 20, and Christine, 19, remains a short drive around the flat fields to their second farm.

The second farm houses their 70-cow herd of registered Holsteins in a stanchion setting in a picturesque landscape — the historic Pennsylvania Canal, with three old locks, runs the complete length of the second farm.

The 20,000 pounds of milk herd average provides a respectable start for the fifth generation — Mike Ammon.

"Mike's really into pedigrees," Helen exclaimed. Mike said that concentrating on the numbers seems to be the best way to make a herd profitable while maintaining the current herd size. He said the choices of pedigree promise to improve quality and ultimately make more money per cow.

"Our main focus is to develop a herd of registered cows that are in demand. We'd like to become more aggressive with our embryo transfer program," Mike added.

Mike said he shies away from showring animals who may not necessarily be bred for production. He said he breeds for production, sound functional type, and popular pedigrees — high indexes.

Mike stepped into the role as herdsman with full approval from his father. "They really work well together," Helen said. Bill manages the crops and machinery and "loves to watch the corn come up!" his wife laughed.

The home farm of the Ammons sits along the bottom lands of the Juniata River and has good soil and moisture.

Helen helps finish up the morning milking. The men start milking around 3:30 a.m. or 4 a.m., going in for breakfast around 6:30 a.m. In the afternoon, they milk from 3 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.

When not at college, Christine prepares supper for the family and Ellen helps at the barn. Ellen is enrolled in the secretarial program at Lancaster Bible College. Christine attends Harrisburg Area Community College studying Food Service Management.

Mike earned his way to districts a couple of times through the 4-H dairy club. Ellen and Christine both entered cooking projects in 4-H. Mike finds time for church league softball and both father and son are avid hunters.

While raising their children, Bill and Helen said they held firm to two beliefs — always attend church together and always eat supper together.

"That should be a goal for everybody — get your family together at suppertime. I think that's real important," Helen said. "Even if you're arguing or fighting," Bill chimed in.

"We're always in church together," Helen said. They are members at the Wesley Chapel Methodist Church in Strodes Mills.

Helen echoed what farm wives have known for generations — the farm is a great life for raising children. "Even farm kids have a lot of struggles and temptations. It takes a lot of prayer. But I think farm kids have a tremendous advantage over other kids because maybe they're busier (working at home) and have less temptations. That doesn't mean they can't get into trouble."

Bill said, "We do a lot of work. Even though we're working, we have more hours together (than other fathers and their children)."

The Ammons joined the Fellowship of Christian farmers after seeing the organization's Farm Show display booth.

"They get groups of farmers together and go to different countries to build churches. It's really a good organization. We'd like to do that some day," Helen said.

Each generation of Ammon's seems to follow the next as stewards of the soil just as one season follows the next, each enduring an occasional wind of change.

Last year's wind of uncertainty came in the form of a drought.

Helen relfected, "I shouldn't have worried because there hasn't been a season yet where there wasn't a harvest. The Lord's always provided the harvest. And you gotta believe He always will."

Bill Ammon and son Mike check yearling calves in a pen, one of which was the first embryo transfer heifer born on the farm.

Payne's Dairy: The Home Of Udder Goodness

C.J. HOUGHTALING
Tioga Co. Correspondent

KNOXVILLE (Tioga Co.) — In days gone by, folks traveling Tioga County roads didn't have far to go to find a dairy store that offered its own farm-fresh processed milk. When the number peaked at nine in the late 1960's, there seemed to be one at the edge of nearly every town or crossroads. Only two are still in existence today. Of those two, only one delivers its products to 45 other retail outlets in Pennsylvania and New York and serves five schools in the county.

Payne's Dairy of Knoxville began its first day of processing milk from its two farms Jan. 3, 1969 with a goal of 100 gallons a day. Grown to a daily production of 1,000 gallons, it still provides the public with the freshest milk possible. "Milk that came out of the cows this morning is processed, bottled and delivered to stores this afternoon. You can't get any fresher than that," said Alan Payne.

Although Alan and his brother Bernard were raised on a dairy farm, they didn't become farmers themselves until each tried other occupations upon completing high school. Bernard, eight years older, first did a stint in the Navy, then worked construction before landing a job at Ralston Purina whom he eventually managed a mill for in Arcade, N.Y. After the death of his father, Bernard took over the family farm just outside of Knoxville.

Alan also served his country in Vietnam and tried construction work. He was employed at the Corning Glass Works when Bernard wound his leg in a PTO in Oct. of 1967. Alan did his brother's chores days and worked nights in the factory until Bernard was able to resume his livelyhood several months later.

By then the brothers decided to go into partnership. But their plans were on a grander scale. As Alan put it, "Why milk 100 cows when we can milk 40 and sell the milk ourselves for the same amount of income?" So they scouted for a location to put their own dairy store, secured a loan from the bank and were in business.

They chose a farm on route 49 between Knoxville and Elkland because they thought the customer draw would be higher than at other locations and the barn was in better condition. Alan moved into the house and the cinderblock store/plant was constructed.

Business was so good those first few years, in fact, Payne's Dairy suffered growing pains. To keep up with demand, they added on to Alan's barn, making it 210'x38'. Harvestore silos measuring 20'x60;, 20'x70' and 20'x80', plus a trench silo were built to store enough feed for their growing herd. At one time they even operated three farms. But they discovered the extra time and trouble involved wasn't worth it so they cut back to just the two farms.

Alan milks 110 cows at the dairy store farm while Bernard milks 70 at the homestead. The cows are fed mainly haylage and corn silage. Grain is also given to them, as well as small amounts of baled hay.

"As a rule, we don't buy anything, but because of the drought last year we've had to buy hay," said Alan.

After milking chores are completed each morning, each brother had his own portion of the dairy operation to oversee.

Alan manages the field work. The Paynes work 1000 acres, 500 of which they own. About 10 acres are used to pasture the milking herd two hours each day. They also pasture 250 to 300 young stock and heifers.

Approximately 200 acres of corn is planted, with the remaining acres planted into sorghum, alfalfa, and oats. Although much of Paynes' soil is clay, some of it is good. Alan's decisions on which seeds to plant is determined by the type of soil. To improve the clay conditions, nothing beats "good ol' organic matter," according to Alan.

Bernard conducts the processing and tends to the store's needs. Processing takes place on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays and occasionally on other days if their supply runs low.

The Paynes bottle skim milk, 2 percent, whole milk and chocolate milk in half pint, two-thirds pint, quart, half gallon and gallon plastic containers and in half gallon glass containers.

They also make their own soft-serve ice cream mix and juice from frozen concentrate. During the holiday season they make their own egg nog. "It's a good product because ours' is the only one that has ever seen a real egg," Alan

(Turn to Page A24)

Payne's dairy farm and retail store.

Frank Brown helps load crates of freshly bottled milk into a cooler. The milk will be trucked to various retail outlets throughout the county and into New York later in the afternoon.

Alen Payne inspects the cooler where milk and milk products such as soft ice cream mix is stored at a constant 38 degrees F.

At Payne's Dairy the milk house in the dairy store farm is typical of other milk houses except for the pump that sends the milk directly from the bulk tank to the processing room for homogenizing and pasteurizing.

Bernard Payne, front, and Alvin Spencer fill plastic jugs with just-processed milk.

Stark New Director

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Harrisburg native John Stark, 39, has been appointed director of the Bureau of Market Development at the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

The Bureau provides a multitude of programs and services designed to assist Pennsylvanians in agriculture-related industries with the sale of their goods and products.

"We're delighted to have Mr. Stark on board as our director of Market Development," Agriculture Secretary Boyd E. Wolff said. "John comes to us with over 15 years of private sector work experience, including 10 years in the beverage industry.

"He'll use that experience to help create and expand the markets for Pennsylvania agricultural products and agribusinesses," Wolff said.

Mercer Gets First Farm Preserved

CAROL SMITH
Mercer County Correspondent

SHARON (Mercer Co.) — Gov. Robert P. Casey completed the state's purchase of the development rights to a Mercer County farm of Friday, the first in western Pennsylvania to be included in the state's program to preserve prime farmland.

"We're not just preserving precious land, we're preserving a way of life that's essential to Pennsylvania's future as it was to our past," Casey said during ceremonies in which he presented a $51,055 check to farm owners, John and Cindy Angermeier.

Casey visited the Angermeier farm as part of activities recognizing nearby Sharon as Pennsylvania's Capital for the Day.

"This brings the number to 158 farms now approved for preservation for agricultural purposes," Casey said. "These farms are located in 28 counties and cover more than 18,000 acres of farmland."

The governor said the program was needed to stop the disappearance of prime farmland.

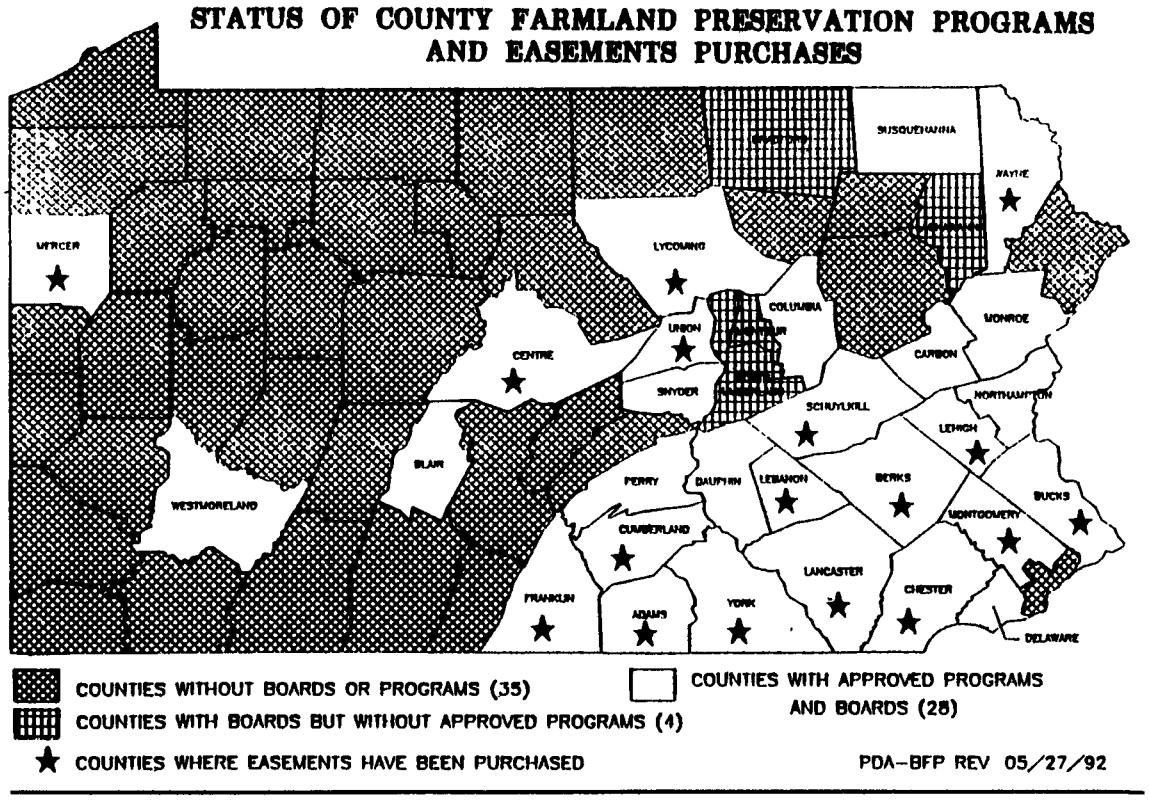
"In 1960, there were 106,000 farms in Pennsylvania, today there are only 53,000. In the same time period, the amount of farmland dropped from 12.3 million acres to 8.1 million acres," he said.

The program, which is administered by the state Agricultural Land Preservation Board and the Department of Agriculture, works with county farmland preservation boards to purchase easements on the development rights of farmland based upon local real estate values.

The program is funded through a $100 million bond issue approved by Pennsylvania voters in 1987 and $13.6 million in local funds. Mercer County's current allotment is $438,738.

"Beginning in July of next year, 2 percent of Pennsylvania's cigarette tax also will be used to support farmland preservation which could provide another $15 to $20 million per year," Governer Casey said.

In addition to the 102 areas of prime farmland in the preservation program, the Angermeiers lease another 240 acres. The 45-cow dairy farm, which is now in the Agermeiers' third generation, produces alfalfa, wheat, corn, oats and potatoes.



Alliance To Host Auction

NARVON (Lancaster Co.) — The Red Rose Alliance will host its eleventh annual auction on Saturday, June 13, at the Goodville Fire Hall, Rt. 23, Goodville, starting at 9 a.m.

Among the many items to be auctioned are quilts, guns, household items, plants, flowers, shrubs, gift certificates, and celebrity items.

Donation and commission items are appreciated. Contact the Alliance at (717) 354-8687 or (215) 445-7413.

Payne's Dairy

explained. "Everybody else uses egg concentrates now. We beat up our own eggs and put in our own milk."

Unlike farmers who sell their milk to co-op plants, the Paynes do not get paid for the butterfat in their milk. While most processed milk has a lot of the butterfal removed for other commercial needs, Paynes retain the butterfat in their whole and chocolate milk, hence their products have a richer, creamier taste.

Three years ago Payne's added a produce stand next to their dairy store. Fresh fruits and vegetables, along with flowers and bedding plants are supplied by a farmer's market in Buffalo, N.Y.

They have a total of 17 full and part-time employees which include two other full-time hands helping Alan, three more full-time employees helping Bernard, and a full-time truck driver. Also helping with the chores, errands, field work, bookkeeping and what ever else needs doing are Bernard's wife, Beverly and Alan's wife, Judy, son, Wade (Tater) and son Chad's finance, Amy McCawley. Chad is currently stationed in the U.S. Navy at Norfolk, Va. Bernard and Beverly have three grown daughters; Carrie, Robin and Debbie.

The Paynes don't have plans for any of their children taking up the family business as their livelihood. "I don't encourage it," said Alan. "There's not much of a future in it. The hours are long and hard, seven days a week, and farming requires a number of skills: herdsman, veterinary, welder, mechanic, carpenter.

"It's a good life," Alan said. "We've always been happy we've raised our kids on a farm. I think they have more values established because they've had to work for a living.

"But the farm economy is out of touch with the rest of the world. Twenty-four years ago we were getting 85 cents for a gallon of milk. Now it's around $2.25 as an average. It hasn't gone up like everything else." He explained, "Back in 1971, two years after we opened, I bought a brand new pickup turck and gave $3200 for it. The same truck now would cost $18,000."

And he doesn't forsee the situation improving. "It's not politically popular," said Alan.

Still, the Paynes, like every other farmer, will continue to work the fields and milk their cows and pursue the goal of being debt-free. It's a life-style that creates self-worth and satisfaction that no other can.

Study Compares

charges, came to $5.14 a square foot.

Compared to the company average, according to Madison, the Pennfield return to grower was up 4 percent on average and the electricity use was down 50 percent. Gain per day was .1 percent higher than average, weight .6 percent higher, feed conversion .5 percent higher, and liveability +.7 percent. Condemnations were also higher, about 4 percent up from average, and gas use was 3 percent higher than average.

Madison said he was concerned about the drop in electricity use by the newer Pennfield houses. "That seemed like an awful lot when I took a look at it," he said, "(although) I haven't gotten any confirmation from anybody at the company."

Tyson study

The Tyson study, according to Madison, included curtain-sided, tunnel ventilated houses measuring 44 feet by 500 feet at a cost of $115,000. This came to $5.23 per square foot. Return to grower was +1 percent of company average, gain/day was +3 percent of average, weight gain +7 percent, feed conversion up .4 percent, liveability down .4 percent, and condemnations were up 50 percent of average.

"It seemed like there was one house that was causing some problems," said Madison about the high condemnation average for Tyson. "That was one of the things that they were concerned about that I wasn't concerned about. They had a house that has gotten everything that was going around, they said, and they were sure it hadn't anything to do with the type of house." A Tyson company representative at the meeting commented that the health of the birds in their curtain-sided houses has been much better than average.

The Farmer's Pride study, with a dirt floor, was a slightly larger house than the Pennfield and Tyson, but not curtain- sided. The fully enclosed tunnel-ventilated houses, measuring 66 feet by 500 feet, came to a cost of $175,000, or $5.30 per square foot.

The Farmer's Pride naturally ventilated houses, measuring 80 by 500 feet, cost $245,000, or $6.13 per square foot.

Return to grower

For the company, return to grower on the new tunnel ventilated houses was 1.7 percent higher, gain/day 1 percent higher, and weight up 4 percent from company average. The feed conversion and liveability were the same as company average, and condemnations were 2 percent higher. Gas use was up, at 10 percent higher than company average.

On the naturally ventilated houses at Farmer's Pride, the return to grower was about 1.5 percent lower than company average. The gain per day was also lower, at 4 percent down, and the weight was down about 5 percent. Feed conversion was up, at 1 percent higher than company average, but liveability and condemnations were down 3 percent and 11 percent, respectively.

Gas use was up 19 percent.

About the gas use, Madison said he spoke with a Farmer's Pride representative, who told him the company is working to reduce the gas costs for all the new housing.

Feature better gain

In summary, the tunnel ventilated and curtained houses cost from $5.14-$5.30 per square foot, feature better gain per day, heavier birds, higher feed conversion, and a higher return to grower, according to the study. Tunnel ventilation, which forces air through the building in a tunnel-like formation, helps reduce heat stress to the birds and may stem condemnations. On the other hand, the naturally ventilated houses in the study, according to Madison, were more expensive, at $6.13 per square foot, with a lower gain per day, higher feed conversion, and lower return to growers.

As for the naturally ventilated houses, Madison said, "It didn't sound like there were a lot of people interested in putting this house in in the near future," what with the high investment costs, lower return to grower, and other factors.

Madison said he wasn't sure if the results were due to the housing type or the managers, but those factors have to be considered. Also, he said that some companies were nervous about taking company data and comparing that data with different managing techniques.

Also, the data does not compare companies because all produce a different type of bird, said Madison.

"There need to be some cautions," he said. "These are new housing types for Pennsylvania. We don't have the large numbers that we like to see for statistical purposes, trying to get some information out of them, what the new houses are doing. We need to put something together."

More than 29 broiler industry representatives heard why more research is needed to validate some of the findings about the tunnel-ventilated houses as compared to naturally ventilated. The findings were presented on Monday by Dr. Milton Madison, Penn State ag economist, at the Poultry Management and Health Seminar in Manheim.

Red Meat Exports

meats with 54 percent. Canada imports 18 percent of our exports, Mexico, 11 percent, South Korea, 9 percent, and other countries 8 percent.

For long range planning MEF has four major key requisites. They set export goals for value and tonnage; establish yearly forecasts; identify target markets to achieve projected growth; and they apply the total quality marketing concept in individual countries to support sales.

For example, in Japan, the Federation helps to conduct education seminars, schools and trade shows for the trade as well as on the consumer level. They develop menu promotions and co-op advertising plans.

"MEF is your associate in your market endeavors," Seng said.

Ann Veneman, deputy secretary of agriculture, USDA, told the group of international attendees that competition is the key to prosperity. She decried the protectionism attitudes that prevail in some areas and said this attitude was a sign of weekness.

"We have seen exports hit an all time high," Veneman said. "We need to focus on a global market place. International trade is our greatest opportunity for future growth."

Veneman said 95 percent of all the people of the world now live outside the U.S. and gobal poplution growth out paces our population by 70 percent each year. By the end of the year 2010 the world population will be up to 7.5 billion people. Just to keep the current caloric intake on a world average, food production will need to increase by 40 percent.

According to the most recent economic report by President Bush, exports accounted for 25 percent of new jobs created by American industry between 1986 and 1990. For every $1 billion in agricultural exports, 27,000 jobs are created and $1.59 billion of economic activity is generated.

The meat industry's contribution to the agricultural exports has been significant. Over the last five years, the value of meat exports has more than doubled and these and other ag exports have helped to strengthen the economy at home. International trade has never been more important to the economic future of American agriculture and this trend is expected to continue.

"We have seen exports hit an all time high," Veneman said. "And two weeks ago, we revised our ag export outlook for fiscal 1992 up to $41 billion. This would be the highest since 1981. We see an even brighter picture for value added livestock products. In fact we project record exports of these products," Veneman said.

Representatives from 15 foreign countries were present at the conference to meet industry leaders.

CCC Dairy Prices Change

LEESPORT (Berks Co.) — The Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) purchase prices were increased by 6.10 cents per pound to 97.30 cents for nonfat dry milk, and reduced by 11 cents per pound to 76.25 for butter, according to Richard Troutman, chairman of the Berks County Agricultural, Stabilization and Conservation Service.

The CCC purchase prices for block cheddar and barrel cheese were increased to $1.1175 to $1.0875, respectively.

He said the changes would better reflect the market value of milkfat and nonfat components of milk, encourage milk producers to produce milk with a higher proportion of nonfat solids and promote greater commercial use of milkfat.

The $10.10 per hundredweight support price for milk was not changed. The price is for manufacturing milk with a milk fat content of 3.67, and compares with $9.97 per hundredweight for milk with a milk fat content of 3.5 percent.

Troutman said the 1990 Farm Bill allows up to two adjustments to be made in butter and nonfat dry milk prices per calender year. These changes are the second adjustments this year.

Your Farm Credit Banker.
Nobody Knows The Field Better.

Sure, you'll find Farm Credit bankers all buttoned up, ready to talk short- or long-term loans, mortgages and sophisticated lines of credit.

But underneath the shirt and tie, you'll find the one thing the other banks don't offer. A fellow farmer.

Most Farm Credit loan officers were born and raised on farms and got their college degrees from ag schools. Nearly all of them grew up with 4-H and the Future Farmers of America.

And, if that's not enough, every single one of our loan officers goes through the toughest ag lending training program in America.

That means when you talk to a Farm Credit loan officer about any kind of ag loan, you won't have to spend your time translating farming to banking.

Farm Credit loan officers understand farming as well as they understand finances. And because they have the same loan closing authority as many local bank presidents, they can get the job done fast.

So when you need competitive rates or creative options, see your local Farm Credit banker. Because nobody knows the field better.

Fixing Up Pastures Just Small Part Of Field Day In White Horse

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

WHITE HORSE (Lancaster Co.) — Oftentimes, farmers get caught up in the daily grind of chores and time-consuming tasks and delay taking a moment to see how things can be improved on the farm.

Often they're aren't aware that there may be other ways of solving problems and streamlining farm operations.

With this in mind, Penn State, in cooperation with the Soil Conservation Service as part of the Pequea-Mill Creek Water Quality Project, is sponsoring a Field Day at the Gideon Stoltzfus Farm along Rt. 897 in White Horse.

The purpose of the field day, set for Tuesday, June 23 from 9:30 a.m.-3 p.m., is to allow farmers to get acquainted with the work of the project and the agencies involved and to provide solutions for farmers.

Kinds of issues

The field day "is basically an introduction to the Pequea-Mill Creek Project," said Jeff Stoltzfus, project associate. "It's an introduction to the kinds of things we're working on, the kinds of issues that we're dealing with."

The field day will overview various projects, including pasture rotation, solar water pumps, slit tillage, pasture pumps, portable shading, pesticide mixing pads, and more. Representatives from Brubaker Agronomics, Agri-Basics Soil Service, the Lancaster County Conservation District, the Soil Conservation Service, and the Pennsylvania Game Commission will speak at the field day.

A focus of the field day will be small pasture improvement. On the Gideon Stoltzfus farm, the Pequea-Mill Creek Project has recently helped install new electrical fencing and is working to repair sod to the barnyard.

"We're going to talk about the benefits of stream fencing and pasture management from a herd health and from a water quality point of view," said the project associate.

The Field Day will look at the benefits of stream fencing and pasture management from a herd health and from a water quality point of view. Fencing, such as the type shown here by Andy Mellinger on his farm near Stasburg, will be examined.

Also, the project will demonstrate watering pumps and troughs, including a solar pump and a special portable pumping trough that the cow operates, shown here by Stoltzfus.

Three paddocks

The field day will also examine three paddocks, totalling eight acres, on an adjacent farm operated by Amos Stoltzfus. There are separate paddocks for horses, cows, and dairy heifers.

On the Amos Stoltzfus farm, approximately one acre of land (including a barnyard and path to adjoining paddocks) has been worn down to dirt. The project is busily working to reseed and restore the pasture to allow for improved soil conservation and to provide a cleaner pasture area, according to the project associate.

On a field day recently to Virginia, associates for the Mill Creek Project learned how cleaner and cooler properly maintained pastures can be for cattle. In one example, adjacent pasture was eight degrees cooler than bare ground.

Well-maintained grass "is cooler on the cows and it's better on the feet," he said. "Cows are cleaner. They're not dirty when you bring them in to milk them. You don't have to deal with dirt and everything on the udders, because they've been lying in the grass.

Using Progesterone To Synchronize Estrus

MIKE L. O'CONNOR
Penn State Dairy Specialist

COLLEGE PARK (Centre Co.) — There has been considerable interest in the use of progesterone or progesterone-like products (progestins) to synchronize estrus in dairy heifers.

The only approved progestin product currently available is SYNCRO-MATE-B (SMB). This system involves a 9-day treatment in which an implant of Norgestomet is placed subcutaneously in the ear.

At the time of implant insertion, the animal is injected with a combination of Norgestomet and estradiol-valuate. The estrogen causes regression of the corpus luteum in animals that are in the early portion of the estrous cycle. The Norgestomet injection allows this progestin to get into the system rapidly while the implant maintains the drug level over the 9-day period.

Once the implant is removed, final maturation of the follicle occurs, heat is expressed, and ovulation occurs. Research trials have shown that synchrony of estrus and fertility are consistently good.

Melengestrol Acetate (MGA) is another progestin. It has been approved and used for many years to suppress estrus and improve rate of gain when fed to heifers in a feedlot situation.

Several commercial premixes containing MGA are available from feed companies in Pennsylvania. Since MGA inhibits estrus when fed, it also allows for synchronization of estrus once it is removed from the diet.

During recent years, research has been conducted to develop the optimal synchronization system using a combination of MGA and prostaglandin (PG). It has been demonstrated that feeding MGA for 14 days at a rate of 0.5 milligrams/hd/day, followed by a PG injection 17 days after the MGA feeding period, has resulted in very good synchrony of estrus and fertility.

Cattle which express heat and are inseminated immediately following the MGA feeding period will experience low fertility during this estrous period. Thus prostaglandin must be used with this system.

Although this system is not yet approved by FDA, it is a promising method of estrous synchronization.

Beef producers who have fed MGA suggest that heifers be accustomed to grain feeding before adding MGA to the diet. Cattle must consume the required amount of MGA on a daily basis.

Although the MGA-PG system is successful, it is a 31-day program and careful planning is essential. Compared to the conventional PG synchronization programs, progesterone treatment, when properly used, induces estrus in some previously non-cycling heifers.

As more research is conducted and products are approved, dairy producers will have several synchronization systems available to them.

Dairy Sales, Consumption Grow

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Fueled by strong sales of both butter and cheese, total milk sales increased in 1990 by 2.5 percent over 1989. That increase is the largest single year growth during the past five years.

The increase was due in large part to a hefty 5.2 percent increase in butter sales and a 5 percent increase in cheese sales.

Those large gains were partially offset by a decline in nonfat dry milk, which lost ground due to a drop in exports caused by higher wholesale prices.

Sales of cottage cheese and frozen dairy desserts also declined somewhat.

Fluid milk sales were stable, increasing a slight .1 percent.

During the same year, milk production nationally increased approximately 2.6 percent as production per cow increased 2.9 percent.

NAVIGATOR II
STRESS-FREE ROW CROP GUIDANCE

- Unique design keeps the implement parallel with the rows even when the tractor moves laterally as it drifts off course. Most other systems oversteer the toolbar which adds damaging side pressure to the stabilizing coulters
- Automatically compensates for sidehill drift.
- Eliminates excessive pull and stress on hydraulic components associated with other guidance systems.
- Very few moving parts provide smooth, friction-free lateral movement.
- Works effectively on all conventional and ridge-till cultivators, planters and 4-wheel drive articulated tractors.

Conflicting Testimony

The difference is significant because the various organizations typically have supported the same premium levels in petitioning the board. Industry sources say it reflects disparate judgments about what the premium should reflect.

John Bell, a PFA attorney, said he offered testimony that "at least from a cost standpoint justified continuation of the $1.30 over-order premium which is currently in place."

Advocates of this position could point to testimony from Jim Putnam, director of business research for the Farm Credit Banks of Springfield. Summarizing data from 122 Pennsylvania farms that participated in the bank's Agrifax accounting service, Putnam said over half of these dairymen lost money in 1991 and another quarter operated only around the break-even point.

On the other hand, prices so far in 1992 are up considerably from last year. Most economists are predicting an increase of 75 cents to $1.25 in farmers' average price for the year.

Bell acknowledged that recent increases in the basic federal order prices have helped dairymen. (At $12.06 a hundredweight, the May M-W price series, the price setter for the various federal orders, was $1.73 higher than the May 1991 M-W.)

But, he added, "The return is still insufficient to meet cost needs and needs for capital improvement."

In his testimony, Jim Fraher, an Atlantic economist, said the lower premium was necessary to avoid erosion of fluid milk sales by Pennsylvania processors who have to pay the premium.

Fraher represented Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Cooperative Association, Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative, the Middle Atlantic Division of Dairymen Inc., and Dairylea Cooperative Inc., in addition to Atlantic.

"We presented — as we do — evidence on the supply of milk, the demand for milk, the cost of production, projected prices and those being received, and also the cost of alternative supplies," Fraher said later. "And our recommendation was based on our judgement as to the level of premium that would both maintain producer incomes and be competitive with the cost of alternative supplies."

Last week, however, PFA's Bell continued to challenge the cooperatives' position.

"We've been hearing rumors that Pennsylvania processors are threatened," he said. "There isn't really any hard and fast evidence that shows that they are."

PMMB's own information indicates that about 50 percent of the raw milk sold by Pennsylvania dairymen goes to Class I sales, the higher priced fluid uses, according to Bob Yonkers, an ag economist at Penn State University.

However, because the PMMB's pricing authority does not extend to out-of-state plants, only about half of that milk (25 percent of the total) carries the premium. Moreover, milk produced by farmers in other states that is sold in Pennsylvania also is not subject to PMMB pricing.

The result, he said, is that there is a big pool of lower priced milk out there that potentially could flow into Pennsylvania markets.

When supplies exceed demand, as is currently the case in the region, the potential for such displacement increases.

Cooperative milk marketing officials note that more milk is moving into Pennsylvania these days from plants in Virginia, New Jersey and New York. A lower premium, they said, is needed to allow their processing customers to remain competitive.

For most of the time it has been in effect, the PMMB price also has served to set the over-order premium level for MACMMA, a cooperative bargaining agency in Federal Order 4, the Middle Atlantic Order.

However, in February, when the PMMB price moved up to $1.30, the MACMMA price outside of Pennsylvania, in southern New Jersey and Maryland, remained at $1.05. Failure to come down to the 80-cent level in July will exacerbate this difference and undermine MACMMA, leaving dairymen worse off in the long run, according to the officials.

Penn State's Yonkers agreed that dairy farmers cannot afford to ignore market concerns.

"Cost of production is a good concern, but it is not a substitute for supply and demand," he said. "You've got to have some kind of supply and demand basis for estimating the level of that price or whether there should be a premium at all."

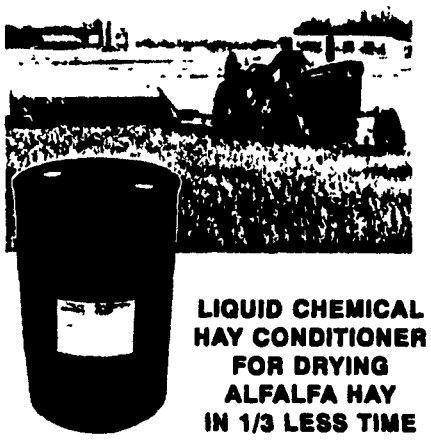
SWATHER'S CHOICE

ALFALFA HAY CONDITIONER

NEW!



LIQUID CHEMICAL HAY CONDITIONER FOR DRYING ALFALFA HAY IN 1/3 LESS TIME

Alfalfa and other legume crops have a coating of wax. While this coating is a natural protection for the growing plant, it is an inhibitor to moisture loss in field curing and to feed utilization in the digestive system of ruminant animals. The presence of this coating of wax also makes the hay stem brittle and less palatable to livestock.

Swather's Choice "washes off" the outside waxy coating of alfalfa, allowing for the water inside the plant to evaporate more rapidly than in untreated hay. Swather's Choice is actually a soap that is safe for livestock consumption and won't affect palatability.

In studies at Michigan State University, hay treated with the ingredients in Swather's Choice had higher protein and lower fiber. In a further study at Utah State University, cows consumed 2.2 pounds more treated hay per day.

Unlike conventional granular drying agents, Swather's Choice is a liquid chemical hay conditioner. It is easily tank mixed with water and requires only fifteen gallons per acre in most applications, compared with the conventional products that are normally applied at 30 gallons per acre.

men who wanted same-day records access, (I make use of that access through Aris and find it invaluable in my management abilities) your board was on the right track. PDHIA did not have that ability because, up until your board requested it, there was no need for that kind of service. I think you would not want a board to spend money on projects that we assume members don't want or need.

Since your membership request has come into the state board we have acted in a very expeditious manner and have introduced into the PADHIA system, as a pilot project on a very fast track, Dairy Comp 305. This is the state-of-art stand alone system for the dairy farmer's own health, reproductive, and management records and the softwarer for the DHIA supervisor. Unlike Raleigh this software will interface with most DRPC's as they have all elected to use this software. PADHIA is membership driven, as attested by all of the accomplishments in the past six months. But we must know what the membership wants, not just a rumor, or someone's personal thoughts on a subject.

I am sure it is going to be a time consuming job to learn to read and understand the format of Raleigh reports, I would hate to see you spend that time during a busy time of the year and then find out that you don't have the very latest state-of-the art records system, anyway. I have told many people, including your Red Rose board, that I think they acted in a very responsible manner, looking out for your needs and getting PADHIA off dead center. They have done that and I personally want to thank all of them, especially Cliff Blank, John Howard, and Bob Wenger. They spent many hours researching and investigating all aspects of DRPC's. But now PADHIA is on the right track and in a few short months will have, to offer to Lancaster Co., as well as all Pennsylvania, the finest state-of-the art DHIA on-farm electronic barnsheet and stand alone farm management software system available in the industry, bar none.

Again, I ask you to please understand what you personally are going to be undertaking in making this change, and will it benefit you in your own operation? Your loyality to your county board is commendable, as it should be, but now we're getting down to serious decisions that will ultimately help or hinder your ability to manage. That decision should be yours, not your supervisor, neighbors, feed dealer, or vet. Please take time to understand all the facts. I, as I know all of our board members will, would be happy to answer any of your questions concerning this issue or any concerns you might have with PADHIA. It is in your best interest; a little time spent inquiring now might end up being some of your best time spent, ever.

Regardless of what your decision is, I am sure all of PADHIA staff and board want to work with you in improving your production testing ability in an expeditious manner, at the least cost to you, generating reports that you want and need, not forcing upon you unneeded information that you don't have time or interest in reading or understanding.

Thank you for taking time to read about my concerns. I feel they are genuine. I would feel I was neglecting my obiligation to you, as your director if I did not express them to you.

Dear Editor:

As June approaches so does the end of my reign as Susquehanna County Dairy Princess. This past year has created many memories I will always cherish. Although I was very busy and sometimes became discouraged I believe, if I could do it over again I would. There were so many activities that it is difficult for me to choose the ones I enjoyed the most.

Being part of all the summer parades and festivities was an excellent way to begin. After you receive a crown you wonder-What comes next? Many friendships were made at the different farm meetings, nursing homes, and political meetings. Everyone tried to help me and encourage me for which I am thankful.

Seminar in Williamsport was not only a learning experience but a great time of meeting other girls with the same goals and responsibilities I had. It was nice to know I wasn't alone but there were a lot of Princesses and other people trying to promote Pennsylvania's Great Dairy Industry.

The State Pageant in Harrisburg, although nerve-racking at the time, was a great experience I will always remember.

I think the school programs were the real highlight. Children really are a blessing! They are so eager to learn and to be challenged. I hope they enjoyed " Little Red Riding Hood" and Geraldine as much as I did.

Many people have helped me tremendously this past year. Most of them worked behind the scenes with little or no recognition. Now, I would like to thank them and give them a big round of applause-they definitely deserve it! Virginia Beeman, Marcine Carpenetti, Susan Gestford, Denise Pease, Debbie Place, and Ileana Seaman were all a part of the Dairy Princess Committee this past year. They all sacrificed a lot of time to make everything work.

Thank-you ladies! For those who are not coming back next year well, the next Princess won't know what she has missed. And for the new members, thanks for being to devote your time and efforts! June is not only the time for me to say good bye it is also Dairy Month so make an extra effort to support our Dairy Farmers and remember to Drink Milk!

Editor:

I really enjoyed reading your May 23 article "Children Who Consume Calcium Have Lower Blood Pressure." The story served as just one more validation of a fact we've been repeating for sometime now: Dairy products provide the nutrients people need to stay healthy.

In 1991, the National Dairy Board launched the "Dairy Foods and Fitness" project, which set the record straight as far as just how good dairy products are for people -- especially young people. Through this project and others like it, we were able to tell 75 million people last year alone that dairy foods are just what they need to support their active lifestyles.

As long as scientists keep studying, and farmers keep producing, we'll keep getting excited about telling people just how good dairy products are for them.

And we can all go on living longer, healthier lives.

Editor:

The Saturday, June 6, 1992 issue of Lancaster Farming reported that at the most recent Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board (PMMB) hearing, on over-order premiums, Atlantic Dairy Cooperative (ADC) "testified that no over order premium was needed,". This is not true.

At the May 28 PMMB hearing, ADC presented testimony in support of a 80 cents per hundredweight Class I premium, for the year beginning July 1, 1992.

In support of its position, ADC presented evidence regarding the supply of and demand for producer milk, producer prices, producer cost of production, and market conditions in alternative supply areas.

Wills Acres Farm To Host Somerset County Day At The Farm

GAY N. BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

SOMERSET (Somerset Co.) — Wills Acres Farm, owned by Robert and Tomalee Will, will host this year's annual Somerset County Day At The Farm, sponsored by the Somerset County Farmers' Association (a part of the Pennsylvania Farmers' Association).

Set for Sunday, June 28, the event is from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Visitors should turn onto the Wills Church Road off either Route 31 east of Somerset or Route 219 south of Somerset. Each is approximately four or five miles out of town. The farm is located on the Wills Church Road.

Bob and Tomalee say they felt that hosting Day At The Farm would be an opportunity to return good to friends and neighbors who tirelessly gave of themselves last year when Wills Acres barn was destroyed in a fire. Although all the animals—117—were saved, the loss still reached $175,000.

The fire was caused by malfunctioning electric wiring, according to Bob, discovered during the morning milking around 5:30 a.m. Thus the animals could all be led out of danger, but keeping them from returning inside was tough.

Bob said that the animals were hauled in livestock trailers to a farm 10 miles away. Here they stayed for the next four months until the new barn construction was completed.

Tomalee (who has a twin brother, Thomas), says when Judy, the first milking cow returned, she walked straight to her own stanchion stall, as if she had never left it. At least the stanchions were okay after the fire damages were assessed.

Wills Acres Farm has a menagerie of exotic animals that is bound to thrill adults and children alike, when Day At The Farm rolls around. "We've always had a liking for animals," said Bob.

"We started with regular chickens but got into exotic by talking to other people and trading back and forth," said Tomalee.

They have no children, so Bob, and especially Tomalee, shower lots of affection around their extensive animal kingdom.

Baby June is the Vietnamese Pot Belly pig, and what a pig she is with a belly that threatens to drag the ground and dainty feet that look too small for the rest of her. Her broad face has horizontal wrinkles from an excess of skin.

"She's so ugly she's beautiful," said Tomalee, opening the pen for Baby June to amble through the barn. But Baby June is oblivious to Tomalee's coaxing, "C'mon, baby, C'mon out, honey," being called in a voice usually reserved for human babies. The gray, roly-poly pig's ear is being licked by a little Holstein calf who's leaning out of the adjacent pen. Baby June is the picture of contentment.

Jasper is the raccoon the Wills are legally permitted to keep. Inside his big wire cage, Jasper has a cozy home in a hollow log. He is cautiously curious about the foreigner near his home so he only reveals his dark-trimmed, heart-shaped face, to peer at her with black marble eyes.

Lawrence the Llama is another of the favorite exotic pets on Wills Acres Farm. There are also turkeys, exotic chickens and pheasants of breathtaking color and size, peacock, guineas, dwarf rabbit, angora goats, a lamb and the usual baby kittens and mother cat found on all farms.

Bob and Tomalee Will are shown standing at the lawn entry with their pretty farmhouse in background. They will host the Somerset County Day At The Farm on Sunday, June 28.

When necessary, Bob and Tomalee get the required ownership permit for having a rare animal or bird on the farm.

"We stress our main job is milking when people come," said Tomalee. They ship to Milk Marketing in Ohio.

Every cow has a name. Her basic history and lineage is recorded on a large, protected card that is kept just over her stall. Tomalee says that like people, each cow has its own personality.

The new barn, which will be used for tours and demonstrations during Day At The Farm, also houses an office for Bob. Unlike the old setup the milk tank is bulk-headed now.

Bob says he's the third generation of his family living on and working the farm's 324 acres. It was his mother's homeplace, said Bob. His grandfather and his uncle farmed it first before Bob's dad, a tractor-trailer driver, finally bought it.

In 1973, 10 years following his marriage to Tomalle, Bob took over the farm.

An active farm couple, Bob is a member of the Pennsylvania Farmer Association, a director in Agway, member of the Wills Grange, member of the Somerset Co. Holstein and DHIA Association. Tomalee is on the Dairy Promotion Coronation Committee and a part-time paraprofessional working four hours daily in the Somerset Area High School library. They actively support their Faith Lutheran Church congregation.

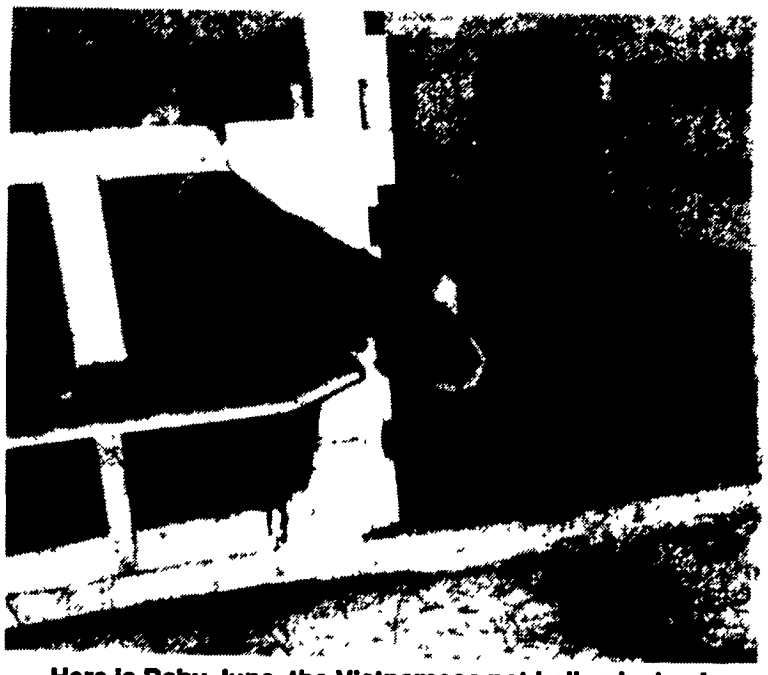
It wasn't planned by the Farmers' Association, but Bob and Tomalee are contributing to the entertainment this year, a square dancing group. They say the dancing will be modern-western, not the old fashioned, hoe-down kind. The difference they say is that each person will have to listen well to the directives of the caller. The dancers usually need about six weeks of lessons for the modern-western type.

Expect the popular hayrides and new attractions like the milk chugging contest, hay bale toss and calf-dressing contest. Coupon booklets will allow for food samples this year at Day On The Farm. These will be given when folks register upon arrival at Wills Acres Farm.

Food commodities will include samples of beef, lamb, cheese, milk, potato chips, maple sundae, milk punch, pork and butter.

For kids there will also be a face painter on hand. Featured personalities will include the Pennsylvania Maple Queen or her first Maid of Honor, the Somerset County Dairy Princess, Somerset County Lamb and Wool Queen, and a representative of the Somerset County beef industry. Radio personalities will be there, too, from Johnstown in Cambria County.

Even though Bob said it was the first time he ever had to commute to work when his barn burned down in 1991, now he is happy to show visitors the new, modern, and clean dairy barn standing at the same place.



Here is Baby June, the Vietnamese pot belly pig, having her ear licked by a young calf. The two are neighbors in the Wills Acres barn.

Dairy Products Give Nutrients

HARRSIBURG (Dauphin Co.) — For dietary guidelines, a one cup serving of 2% lowfat milk is equivalent to the following: 1 cup lowfat plain yogurt, 1.5 ounces of cheese, 1.5 cups skim milk, 3/4 cup of whole milk, or 1 cup of lowfat butter milk. Dairy products contribute 76 percent of the calcium in the U.S. food supply, along with other valuable nutrients like phosphorus, riboflavin, and protein.

Fixing Up Pastures

And just by lying on the grass you're probably going to reduce mastitis some, because the udders are not as dirty."

Areas in sod

The project is trying to help farmers keep the small pasture areas in sod and to get rid of some of the large bare areas, sometimes acres in size, near the side of buildings.

The emphasis is on repairing a path by seeding it with tall fescue, a good sod, according to the project associate.

In the summertime, the tall fescue is not palatible and doesn't become so until the fall, when the sugar content increases. The unpalatibility of the grass allows it to keep its form and maintain standability in the path and other areas that will remain ungrazed.

The field day will also focus on how to regain a pasture taken by weeds.

Cows onto grass

"We're going to reduce the erosion, first of all," he said. "Then we're going to get the cows onto grass instead of dirt."

Stoltzfus said farmers must understand that there will always be a bare area "right outside the barn door. You can concrete from here to the pasture, but you're still going to have that bare area. We want to minimize that area as much as possible."

But small pasture management is only part of the overall program on the field day. Other important topics will include streambank fencing, shading, and other pasture management techniques. Also, leaf hopper scouting and integrated crop management, which are emphasized in the project, will be discussed.

"We're not focusing on any one thing," said Stoltzfus. "This is kind of a general overview of the Pequea-Mill Creek Project and the kinds of things we have to offer."

Movable pads

The field day will also talk about portable mixing site pads. These movable pads, which can contain spills, allow more flexibility for farmers with smaller acreage who cannot afford the huge concrete slabs used by commercial applicators.

The portable mixing pad will be demonstrated at the field day. Also, the project will demonstrate watering pumps and troughs, including a solar pump and a special portable pumping trough that the cow operates.

The field day, which includes lunch, will allow farmers to take a look at some alternative solutions to some problems they may encounter.

"We're still looking for practices that we can put on the farms fairly cheaply and easily, and that can address some of the water quality issues," said Stoltzfus. "We're looking for water quality solutions, not water quality problems."

For more information, contact the Pequea-Mill Creek Project Office, (717) 396-9423.

Jersey Cows, Roses, Wildlife Inspire Artist To Keep Sketching

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

PEACH BOTTOM (Lancaster Co.) — "Once you had color, you'll never go back to black and white," Doris Hough said.

She is not referring to television but to her "beloved Jersey cows."

Doris and her husband George purchased their first Jersey cow in 1959. At that time, the Houghs lived on seven acres in New Jersey and bought the cow for the family's milk supply.

"But we got quite caught up with our Jersey cow and built up a herd by buying calves," Doris said.

After 15 years on a New Jersey farm, the family moved to their current farm in Peach Bottom.

"Why would anyone want to move anywhere else when they saw this area?" Doris asked.

In additional to the rolling hills in a secluded area of Peach Bottom, Doris has added to the area's beauty by planting roses, nasturniums, orchids, and perennials that are ablaze with color.

"Years ago, my eight-year-old son had wanted to plant a flower garden for a 4-H project," Doris said. "That was the first time I planted a flower and things sort of mushroomed from there," said Doris who now specializes in planting old varieties of roses. Her whole front yard is a glorious mass of fragrant roses. She has 64 varieties.

Inside, her home brims with paintings and sketchings of flowers, fox hunts, quail, horses, and outdoor scenes.

"I'm getting ready for an art exhibit," Doris said. Her impressive array of artwork will be on exhibit at the Lancaster General Hospital in October. She expects to have 30 to 40 paintings ready by then, but some of her favorites will not appear in the exhibit because she is only allowed to exhibit pictures to sell. Many of her paintings are dear to her heart and she cannot part with them.

"That is a picture of a fox hunt that I went on in New Jersey," she said. "I want to get a horse and ride again." She points to another picture, That's a picture of the way our New Jersey farm used to look."

Her explanations for her many paintings are punctuated with hearty laughs and exclamations of "Oh, there is a story behind that one."

Doris has taken art classes with several individual artists. "Fortunately, I took classes with an impressionist and he taught me to get things down fast," Doris said as she flipped through stacks of sketch books. "Pigs are neat to sketch. And I like to attend dog shows to find a lot of neat subjects.

Of course, there are plenty of sketches of her beloved Jerseys and also of horses. She plans to use these sketches for oil paintings — and possibly book illustrations — if she finds time.

"There's just so many things I love to do," she said. "I'm just interested in everything."

Doris made a New Year's resolution to paint everyday.

"I haven't kept my resolution, but, at least I'm painting more that I used to paint," she said.

One of the reasons that she is painting more often is because she has more time after a traumatic year last year.

"Last year was a bad year for me," Doris said.

She was injured when she fell in the barn. She required 32 stitches and had four teeth knocked out in addition to being trampled by the heifer herd that spooked when they heard her fall.

As if that injury was not bad enough, Doris was hospitalized with cancer, stung in the face by a mosquito resulting in an affected mosquito bite, and almost losing her mother who suffered from a massive ulcer.

But the very worse event was losing her Jersey herd.

"I had a mastectomy because of cancer but that didn't bother me nearly as much as losing the cows," Doris said.

Because her husband George is 80 years old, the cow herd was sold last year.

"It was just too much work for him to do two times a day," Doris said. Before her illness, she had been helping with the milking. calves, registration, and showed locally.

"Since the cows are gone, it overshadows everything. My whole lifestyle has changed," Doris is lamented. "They were all my pets."

"You better believe Jerseys are very nice or I wouldn't still be mourning losing the herd," Doris said.

"Jerseys are efficient. They give

(Turn to Page B3)

The easel is always ready in Doris's kitchen for her to take a few minutes to add some touches to the canvases she is preparing for an art show.

Many of Doris's sketches reflect life on the farm.

A popular piece of Doris's art work is this cheese box featuring a Jersey cow. A rub out method is used with burnt umber and turpentine.

Doris sketched these quail that are reproduced on note cards.

This oil painting shows the Houghs' Jersey herd on their former New Jersey farm.

Genetically Engineered Foods Are Safe

Genetically engineered foods are not dangerous — in fact, they provide many benefits to producers and consumers, according to Penn State experts.

Following the announcement last week by the federal government, that genetically engineered produce will be approved for market without undergoing extensive testing, many people have expressed concern that these foods are not "natural" and that they can harm the environment.

Penn State researchers maintain that genetic engineering is not something to fear. It is an extension of plant breeding techniques that have been used for the past century.

The fruit, vegetable and grain farmers produce today is radically different from their wild relatives. Scientists have used breeding and selection to introduce desirable characteristicis into food crops, such bigger size and better taste and texture.

Other improvements include increased vigor and yield, better resistance to pests, and higher protein and vitamin content.

For example, the wild tomatoes indigenous to South America do not hold a candle to the tomatoes available today. The wild species are the size of cherry tomatoes. By recombining genetic materials, plant breeders have developed better tomatoes, such as the beefsteak tomato.

Breeding and selection have helped increase the quantity and quality of the food supply worldwide. But these techiniques have their limitations.

Now biotechnology has given researchers a new set of tools. They can manipulate genes within a plant by turning them on and off and can move genetic information from one species to another. Scientists are reaching objectives that were never before obtainable.

Over the past few years, biotechnology companies have developed dozens of genetically engineered foods, from cucumbers to cantaloupes, which they hope to soon place on the market. These plants have been altered only slightly, with most of their natural genetic information left intact.

For instance, a tomato developed in California has no new compounds of additives. Researchers altered the gene that makes the tomato soften, simply by slowing the ripening process. The tomato can stay on the vine longer and retain firmness during harvesting and shipping.

Some people may be hesitant to eat a genetically engineered tomato. However, several centuries ago people were terrified to eat just plain old tomatoes.

Tomatoes are part of the nightshade family, which includes potatoes and peppers. When these foods were brought back to Europe from South America, they were considered poisonous.

We think this is amusing today. Maybe 20 years from now we will look back and laugh at the current reaction to genetically altered plants.

Many food crops naturally produce compounds that could be harmful to human health if not held in check by careful plant breeding. Potatoes can produce alkaloids that can be toxic at high levels.

Researchers at universities and in private industry follow stringent regulations when developing genetically altered products. The four federal agencies involved in screening new products include the Food and Drug Administration, the National Institute of Health, the Environmental Protection Agency and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Consumers concerned about the effects of genetically altered plants on the environment should know that these plants can be ecologically beneficial. Numerous plants have been produced with improved resistance to insects and weeds.

a pile of solids for their size."

While some persons frown on milk's fat content, Doris contends: "The French and Denmark people eat more cream, sweet butter, and rich sauces than our country yet they have less heart attacks than Americans. We are the only country in the world that pays more money for less quality."

During the heyday of their Jersey herd, Doris said that they often had visitors from other countries tour their farm — a great delight to Doris.

While they no longer have a herd to attract people, Doris remains active in many organizations.

She is a member of Farm Women Society 17, Fulton Grange 66, Drumore Flower Show, Octararo Art Association, Pa. Jersey Cattle Club, and the American Jersey Cattly Club.

In the past, Doris has illustrated a TMR Cookbook filled with Totally Marvelous Recipes, compiled by the Pa. Jerseys Cattle Club.

She sells original prints of her artwork and notecards and calendars of her sketches in additional to a variety of crafts featuring Jersey cows.

She may be contacted at Milk N Honey Jersey Farm, 1782 Cherry Hill Road, Peach Bottom, Pa. 17563-9672 or call (717) 548-3162.

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

Cheating. It almost feels like cheating.

But when you can combine a job with pleasure, that's not really cheating. Is it?

Hanging out laundry on a perfect June day is so pleasurable it almost feels as though you've dawdling about at something you shouldn't be doing.

Pinning clean, damp clothing to a wire is not something out mothers and grandmothers would have considered a pleasure — at least not during much of the year. Prying frozen-stiff jeans off the lines and wrestling them into the warmth of a drier place always fills me with considerable respect for those who did laundry chores in earlier times.

And renewed gratitude for push-bottom, indoor, ease of clothes drying through cold and rainy stretches.

But fresh air drying is hard to beat on warm sunny days. And a perfect reason to be outside with a balmy breeze ruffling your hair and birds singing overhead.

Plus, what a great excuse: "Oh, sorry lunch is late; I was hanging out clothes."

Right.

Not to mention playing with the dog. But when he comes carrying his favorite ball, and drops it right at your feet while you're hanging up those damp towels, it would be beastly to totally ignore man's best friend. Wouldn't it?

So we throw the ball around a couple of times. Toss a couple of sticks. Retrieve a Frisbee.

And then pick up and cuddle the cat, because — after all — it wouldn't be fair not to lavish equal attention on all the pets.

Then there's the pen of bunnies, which needs moved to a fresh area of the lawn for grass nibbling. They'd love a couple of handfuls of fresh clover, the pulling of which just happens to take you past the strawberry patch.

Berries are ripening, so you poke around under the leaves taking inventory - ultimately "tasting" a half-box of berries. Birds have been pecking holes in some, so you retrieve a couple of lengths of plastic net wrap removed from hay bales to spread over the patch as a bird barrier.

I love birds but there's a limit - and strawberrry snitching is it.

Just yards form the berry patch is the little pond, where you spy to see if any of the small gold fish put in recently are visible. And check out the water snakes, which have laid claim to a wooden pallet floated on the water - intended for the ducks and geese, not snake sunning.

A one-minute side trip to the garden stretches longer, as two weeds pop up to replace every one pulled. And the roses are soooo fragrant it would be a shame not to cut a few to enjoy on the kitchen counter.

The basement porch demands to be swept and the plants in the greenhouse and potted around the patio are in need of a thorough soaking. Trash containers overflow and a bucket of ashes left from late May woodstove burning must be scattered.

By the time you get back to hanging out the second load of laundry, bright sun and balmy breezes have done their job with the first round. But with feeding the family a hot noon meal, putting cows back in the barn, milking and calf feeding chores, the moon is sometimes shining overhead before the last piece of laundry is removed, folded, and piled on the overflowing basket.

And the dog comes carrying a ball and drops it at your feet....

Some days, it seems all I get done is laundry.

I just can't figure out why it always takes so long.

Dairy Princess Robyn Groff, right, on behalf of the Lancaster County Dairy Promotion committee and the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program presents a basket of dairy foods to the family of Jay and Kelly Masters, Elizabethtown. The Masters' daughter, Victoria Heather, born on June 1, was named June Dairy Baby for being the first baby born in Lancaster County during June Dairy Month. Babies born in county hospitals during the month of June will be given T-shirts with the I Love Milk logo in celebration of June Dairy Month. The T-shirts are from the dairy promotion committee.

"Microwave Magic"

By:
Carol Stark

How many ways can you cook a hot dog? With summer here and time being short with going to the pool, ball games etc., hot dogs can be a quick meal that everyone likes.

Franks

Because frankfurters are precooked, they only need heating. Futhermore, they react quickly to microwave energy, causing many beginners to overheat them, not realizing that franks will be ready in such a short time.

If you are cooking franks in a main dish casserole, bury them under moist ingredients, such as beans or sauerkraut. If meat is on the bottom, the casserole won't need stirring.

Defrosting: For 1 lb. of franks, place unopened package in the oven. Microwave at Defrost 3 to 5 minutes, just until franks can be separated. For 1/2 lb, cut time in half.

Microwaving: Franks vary in size. Larger ones, such as Polish or bratwurst, will take longer. Franks are prone to pop or explode. You can remedy this by piercing them with a fork, but diagonal slashes are especially attractive. To Microwave franks on a paper or pottery plate, cover them with wax paper. Use a casserole and additional water to heat more than 6 franks. To heat franks right in the bun place a napkin or paper towel under the bun to absorb moisture. A bun placed directly on a plate or the oven floor gets steamy underneath. To heat more than four, do them in successive batches.

Barbequed Franks

3/4 cup ketchup
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon chili powder
1 tablespoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash liquid pepper seasoning (tabasco)
1/2 cup water
1 lb. franks

In a 2 quart casserole mix together ketchup, Worcestershire sauce, chili powder, sugar, salt, liquid pepper seasoning and water. Place 1 lb. franks in sauce, pushing pieces below surface to prevent overcooking. Cover.

Microwave at HIGH for 9 to 12 minutes, rearranging franks after 5 minutes. Serve on buns, if desired, with generous amount of sauce over each. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Tavern Franks

For fuller flavor, pierce franks and marinate in beer 3 to 4 hours or overnight before cooking.

1 lb. franks
1 small onion, thinly sliced
1 can (12 oz.) beer (1 1/2 cups)

In a 2 quart casserole place franks. Separate onion into rings and distribute over franks. Pour beer over all. Cover. Microwave at HIGH 7 to 9 minutes, redistributing franks so bottom ones are on top after 4 minutes. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

Wiener Bean Pot

2 cans (1 lb each) pork and beans
1/3 cup chopped onion
1/4 cup ketchup
1/4 cup water
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 lb. wieners cut up in thirds

In a 2 quart casserole stir together beans, onion, ketchup, water, brown sugar and mustard. Add wieners, pushing pieces below surface of beans to prevent overcooking. Cover. Microwave at HIGH 13 to 15 minutes, stirring after 8 minutes, until hot. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Sausage And Sauerkraut

1 lb franks scored or 1 lb Polish sausage (Kielbasa)
1 can (1 1b.) sauerkraut, rinsed and drained
2 tablespoons instant minced onion
1 teaspoon beef bouillon granules

In a 2 quart casserole place meat. Cover with sauerkraut mixed with onions and bouillon. Cover. Microwave at HIGH for 12 to 14 minutes, rotating dish 1/2 turn after 6 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Red Rose FFA Holds Officer Training

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Recently, the FFA Red Rose Chapter held its first annual Lancaster County FFA officer training conference at the Lancaster Mennonite High School.

The officer training conference was held to improve officers' abilities and to generate more interest and participation in chapter activities.

The conference included forty-eight chapter officers from eight different chapters in Lancaster County. Ten advisors and four guests were also present.

The Lancaster County officer training conference began with opening ceremonies and then started with a "mixer" — a time where members from one chapter met others from other chapters.

After the mixer, officer training, taught by the county officers, provided chapter officers with information about their official duties.

Following dinner, hosted by the Lancaster Mennonite High School, FFA state reporter Michelle Kerdeman spoke about motivation and goal setting.

Following Kerdeman's speech were alternative workshops, including fund-raising organizations, community service, careers in agriculture, recruiting members, FFA ideas and projects, and FFA contests.

AGCO ALLIS
8600 SERIES TRACTORS

36 SPEED CHOICES

AGCO Allis 8600 Series tractors give you 36 speed choices, an electronic engine speed governor and many other quality performance features, as well as a comprehensive 4-year/4,000-hour warranty.

- Speed choices for all conditions. The standard synchropower transmission offers 24 forward and 12 reverse speeds. An optional power Hi-Lo transmission boosts that to 36 speeds both forward and reverse. Both 8600 Series models are AWD with planetary final drive, and a self-adjusting, hydraulically-actuated clutch.
- The air- and oil-cooled engine advantage. The 8600 Series tractors feature the high-output, 6-cylinder, air- and oil-cooled diesel engine that eliminates components that cause downtime in liquid-cooled engines. The 8610 model has a 103 PTO hp engine with a 22% torque rise and the 8630 model has a 120 PTO hp turbocharged engine with a 30% torque rise.
- PTO power and versatility. The independent PTO operates at 540/1,000 rpm with 6- and 21-spline shafts and an electrohydraulically-actuated wet PTO clutch. The 3-point hitch comes standard with telescopic stabilizers: Category II/I on the 8610; Category III/II on the 8630. Optional telescopic lower links are available.
- Quality performance features. The 8600 Series tractors ride on premium Goodyear radial tires. They have hydrostatic steering, a tilt-telescope steering wheel and hydraulically-actuated wet disc brakes on all four wheels for 40% better braking. These models also have electrohydraulically-actuated rear and front differential locks that an operator can manually disengage for tighter turns.

To learn about all the quality features of the 8600 Series tractors, or any of the "orange" line of AGCO Allis tractors ranging from 40 to 128 PTO hp, stop by or call us soon.

Dear Golden Pride/Rawleigh:

...If it weren't for Formulas #1, #4, #6, #7 and Bee Perfect, I probably wouldn't be walking anymore. I have severe arthritis in my knees and also some in my back and shoulders. Since taking the FORMULAS FOR HEALTH, I haven't had the need to use my cane. I know it's these products that are doing the job of relieving the pain. When not using them, it really hits me. It gets to a point where crutches are needed.

Now I can climb our hill to the mail box without crutches or a cane Thank you so much again.

Helen Buss

Dear Golden Pride/Rawleigh:

"Help! I can't seem to get out of my chair and furthermore, I don't want to." This has been my cry for the last four years.

For twenty-nine years I have taught school and have been so tired when I got home that I had to force myself to fix supper and do the necessary things which had to be done. By the time I fell into bed each night, I was too tired to sleep

Lorraine has tried for years to get me to try your products. I've always had an excuse not to... she finally talked me into trying your products and I'm only sorry that I didn't do it before now.

I have been taking Formulas #1, #6, and #7. I can't tell you how great they are I feel like I did twenty years ago. Now, I have the energy to make meals at home and my husband loves it! It is also great to sleep all night again and feel rested in the morning... By the way, for the first time in eight years, my blood pressure registers "normal".

Thanks so much for having sponsors that are willing to share and don't give up on some very stubborn people.

Celebrate June Dairy Month With These Recipes

Did you know that in 1937, grocer organizations sponsored National Milk Month? By 1939, it became Dairy Month, promoting the use of all dairy foods and saluting America's dairy farmers.

That's the purpose of our June Dairy Recipe Contest Drawing. Many of the recipes from the contest appeared in last week's issue and more will appear in each issue printed during the month of June.

Make sure you clip the recipes so that you can continue to try these "dairy favorites" throughout the year. Watch for a list of the winners that will be published in the June 27 issue. Until then — happy cooking with dairy products!

QUICK QUICHES

1 cup butter, softened
6 ounces cream cheese, softened
2 cups flour
2 2¼ -ounce cans deviled ham
1 medium onion, chopped
1⅛ teaspoons nutmeg
Dash pepper
2 teaspoons butter
½ cup grated American or Swiss cheese
2 eggs, slightly beaten
½ cup milk

Cream together 1 cup butter and cream cheese until light, gradually add the flour, making a smooth dough. Chill thoroughly. Shape dough into 1-inch balls and press into 24 muffin tins. Spoon a small amount of deviled ham into each cup. Saute onion in 2 teaspoons butter until soft but not brown. Toss with ¼ cup cheese and sprinkle over deviled ham. Combine remaining cheese, eggs, milk, nutmeg, and pepper. Spoon evenly into cups. Bake at 450 degrees for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake for 15 minutes or until filling is set. Serve warm.

My husband Al and I are dairy farmers in Ulster County in southeast New York. We raise mostly Holsteins and a few Brown Swiss. We are milking about 30 cows and have 20 heifers. We grow mostly fodder crops. Other interests include country music; we drove to Tennessee last year to see Nashville. We try to visit Lancaster at least once a year—it's our favorite spot to visit.

I like the recipe I've enclosed because I can prepare it ahead of time and serve it on days that are busier than usual such as haying time.

CHUNKY ASPARAGUS SOUP

2 pounds fresh asparagus (chopped)
1 small onion (chopped)
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon curry
1 clove garlic (minced)
1 4 oz. jar mushrooms (chopped)
2 teaspoons pimientos (heaping)
1 large can Pet milk
1½ cups shredded Velveeta cheese
1 quart chicken broth

Cook asparagus, onions, butter, garlic in chicken broth until soft, add curry and simmer five more minutes. Add mushrooms, pimientos and cheese and stir until cheese is melted. Add milk and heat. DO NOT BOIL.

Our favorite springtime soup has a fresh lively taste. What a better way to chase away the winter days. I don't know how many servings this makes, but I do know it gets all before I have a chance to count. (Happy dairy farming.)

COCONUT PIE

2 eggs beaten
1 cup molasses (white or dark)
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup sugar or less
1 tablespoon flour
2 tablespoons melted butter
1 cup coconut

Pour into unbaked pie shell.

Grill a gourmet pizza! Over charcoal, pizza grills best, covered, about 5 inches over medium to medium-low coals. Be careful that the coals are not too hot or the crust will brown before the toppings heat through.

HOT CRAB CANAPES

½ pound fresh crabmeat
1 cup (4 oz.) shredded cheddar cheese
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
⅛ teaspoon garlic powder
2 teaspoons grated onion
1 tablespoon parsley flakes
2 hard cooked eggs (chopped)
¼ cup mayonnaise
20 slices of white or whole wheat bread.

Combine ingredients and mix well. Trim crust from bread, cut each slice into four squares. Spread each square with crabmeat mixture. Place on ungreased baking sheet. Bake at 350° for 10-15 minutes or until lightly browned. Yield 6½ dozen appetizers.

My family and I farm in Frederick County. We raise beef and crop farm. Our children Diane, age 8, and Cody, age 2, enjoy helping with the farm work, especially feeding calves.

CAKE PAN POTATOES

4 large new potatoes
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¾ cup shredded sharp cheese
3 tablespoons butter
¼ cup finely chopped onion
⅓ cup light cream and parsley for garnish.

Peel potatoes and cut as for french fries. Put potato sticks, about five cups in a 1½ quart baking dish. Sprinkle with salt, pepper, onion and cheese. Dot with butter. Pour cream over. Cover dish. Bake at 425° for 50 minutes or until tender. Remove cover last 10 minutes or so to allow some browning on top. Trim with parsley. Can be baked at lower temperature with other dishes in oven.

June has been celebrated as Dairy Month for more than 50 years and Pennsylvania's dairy farmers are joining this annual celebration with a special statewide promotion campaign. The entire promotion, "Pennsylvanians Celebrate June Dairy Month," is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program. As part of the campaign, free recipe brochures are available for consumers to celebrate the industry with a "dairy" meal.

The recipe brochure includes recipes for a complete meal, from appetizers to desserts. In addition, the pamphlet includes information on the calcium contents of dairy foods. This information should be especially useful for women who need 800 mg of calcium per day to help reduce the risk of Osteoporosis, a crippling bone disease. Dairy foods contribute over 75% of the calcium in the United States food supply, offering a readily available source of this nutrient.

Consumers who receive the brochure will also find information about the state's leading agricultural industry. Pennsylvania's dairy industry has been recognized nationally as the fourth largest producer of milk. In addition, the state is a national leader in the production of butter, cheese, and ice cream. But, more importantly, the dairy industry contributes nearly $1.4 billion to the Pennsylvania economy, generating 40% of the gross receipts for agriculture, the state's number one industry.

The complete June Dairy Month recipe brochure is available by sending a self addressed and stamped legal sized envelop to: "June Dairy Month Recipes," the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program, 2301 N. Cameron Street, Harrisburg, PA. 17110.

Here is one of the recipes for you to try.

ORANGE COTTAGE CHEESE SALAD

3 ounce orange-flavored gelatin, dry
1 pint creamed cottage cheese
1 cup cream, whipped
1 small can mandarin oranges
1 small can crushed pineapple

Drain fruits, Whip cream. Thoroughly mix cottage cheese and dry gelatin. Add fruit and whipped cream. Blend and chill until firm. Serves 6-8.

ITALIAN POTATO PIE

1 loaf frozen bread, thawed and raised
5 cups raw potatoes
2 leeks, white part only, split and thinly sliced
1 small onion, chopped finely
1 cup grated Parmesan cheese
8 ounces Ricotta cheese
3 ounces cream cheese
Olive oil

Roll ½ the bread dough very thin and place in a greased 9x13-inch pan. Brush dough with olive oil. Arrange potatoes in pan and sprinkle with leek and onion.

Mix cheeses slightly and spread over vegetables. Put top crust on and seal edges, cut slits in top. Brush with olive oil. Bake 400 degrees for 50 to 60 minutes. Cool slightly before serving.

My husband Don and I live on a 20-acre farm in rural Maine. We have chickens, a pony, dogs, and cats and a large vegetable garden. We are very active in Mill Stream Grange in Vienna, Maine.

PEANUT FUDGE RIPPLE ICE CREAM

4 cups milk
4 cups whipping cream
2 tablespoons vanilla extract
2½ cups sugar
1½ cups chopped salted peanuts
2 24-ounce jars fudge or chocolate topping

Combine milk, cream, extract, and sugar in a large bowl; stir until sugar is completely dissolved. Add peanuts. Freeze in ice cream maker according to manufacturer's directions. Alternate layers of ice cream and fudge topping in plastic freezer containers. Using spatula swirl for marbled effect. Place in freezer for at least 2 or 3 hours before serving.

Roy and I live on a 200-acre farm, milk around 70 head of cows, and have 50 young heifers. Our son Royce is a full-time employee.

I like gardening and I collect cows. I also work at James Buchanan School cafeteria.

NO-BAKE PUMPKIN PIE
(Makes one 9-inch pie)

1 (9-inch) graham cracker crumb crust
1 envelope unflavored gelatine
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
½ teaspoon ground ginger
½ teaspoon ground nutmeg
½ teaspoon salt
1 (14-ounce) can sweetened condensed milk (NOT evaporated)
2 eggs, well beaten
1 (16-ounce) can pumpkin (about 2 cups)

In heavy medium saucepan, combine unflavored gelatine, cinnamon, ginger, nutmeg and salt; stir in sweetened condensed milk and eggs. Mix well. Let stand 1 minute. Over low heat, cook and stir constantly until gelatine dissolves and mixture thickens slightly, about 10 minutes.

Remove from heat. Stir in pumpkin; mix well. Pour into prepared crust. Chill 3 hours or until set. Garnish as desired. Refrigerate leftovers.

FRUIT DIP

7-ounces marshmallow fluff
8 ounces cream cheese
¼ cup sour cream
1 teaspoon lemon extract

Mix all ingredients together. Dip fruit such as apple, pear, strawberries, and pineapple into mixture.

We own 135 acres in Harford County, Md. We raise Angus steers for freezer beef and crossbred sheep. Most of the sheep are sold for freezer lamb although some are sold as pets or to flock owners. We have about 35 ewes that we put purebred rams on. We also raise all of our own chickens and we have a few Peafowl that we raise.

My husband is a general contractor and I do most of the farming as well as shearing quite a few small flocks of sheep in the spring. In the fall I work for a local fox hunt. We have one son, age 34, and tree grandchildren.

RED VELVET CUPCAKES

1½ cups sugar
2 eggs
½ cup oil
2 tablespoons cocoa
1 teaspoon salt
2 ounces red food coloring
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup buttermilk
2 cups flour
1 tablespoon vinegar
1½ teaspoons soda.

Cream oil, sugar and eggs. Make paste with food coloring and cocoa. Add to mixture, mid - add salt and vanilla - add buttermilk and flour alternately. Mix soda and vinegar - FOLD IN LAST BY HAND. Bake at 350°. Cupcakes - 20 minutes; cake 30 minutes.

BROWNIE CHEESECAKE

1 German chocolate cake mix
½ cup shredded coconut
⅓ cup softened margarine
1 egg
2 (8 oz.) packages softened cream cheese
2 eggs
¾ cup sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla
2 cups sour cream
¼ cup sugar
1 tablespoon vanilla

Blend first four ingredients in mixer until crumbly. Press lightly into ungreased baking pan (13"x9"x2"). Beat next four ingredients until smooth and fluffy - spread over cake mixture carefully and bake 20-25 minutes until firm. Mix last three ingredients until smooth, spread on cheesecake when it comes out of oven. Cool at least eight hours. Serves 20.

This recipe is a delicious favorite around here. Cheesecake and chocolate lovers are sure to love it!

I'm a 28-year-old dairy farmwife and mother of three - Douglas 7, Justine 5, and Amber 2.

My husband, Elvin, 29, and I just started in dairying a year ago. At the present we're milking 28 cows. We also have 3,000 broilers contracted in an old broiler house here on the farm which we are renting. We also have two pigs, a few cats, and a boxer dog, Benjie! We love farm life and being together as a family.

My time right now is fully occupied with raising children, housekeeping, cooking, baking, gardening and milking cows. I enjoy it all! I also enjoy watching birds!

ANSWER — E. Hertzog, King of Prussia, requested a stewed tomato recipe. Thanks to Debbie Frock, Spring City; and to Betty Marsteller, New Park, who sent a recipe that she said is very tasty and different from plain stewed tomatoes.

Stewed Tomatoes

1 pint home canned tomatoes
Sugar to taste
3 tablespoons cornstarch
½ cup water

Combine water and cornstarch until smooth. Bring tomatoes to a boil and add sugar and cornstarch mixture. Stir until thickened.

Stewed Tomatoes

Saute until lightly browned:
1 small onion
4 tablespoons butter
Add:
½ cup brown sugar
Pinch salt
Mix with:
¼ cup butter
1½ cups bread crumbs
Pour mixture over six peeled, quartered tomatoes and bake 30 minutes.

ANSWER — Janet Huber of Williamstown, N.J., wanted to know how to have an old-fashioned pig roast by digging a pit in the ground. Thanks to Janice A. Yoder, Nescopeck, for sending directions that she found in a Grange Cookbook from Alaska.

An Alaskan Luau

Materials needed:
Pieces of steel (cat track pins and bushings)
Burlap sacks
Chicken wire
Lettuce trimmings
Mechanic's wire
Salt

Decide what size pig you need. A general rule is a pound per person. Pigs weighing 30 to 80 pounds should cook 6 to 9 hours; 80 to 100 pounds should cook 9 to 10 hours; 100 to 150 pounds should cook 10 to 13 hours; and 150 to 200 pounds for 13 hours.

Soak the burlap sacks in water for a full day before the pig is to be cooked. Dig a hole for the pig that is 4 feet deep. Build a fire to heat the steel. If you can provide a draft into the hole, it is a good idea to build the fire in the hole. This will preheat the dirt. I have difficulty getting a good enough draft into the hole to make a rip-roaring fire. Instead, I build a fire on top of the ground, get a hot bed of coals and heat the steel in that fire. I still build a fire in the hole to heat the dirt, but it doesn't get as hot as the fire above the ground.

While the fire is heating the steel, prepare the pig for cooking. Make lacerations through the meat about every 2 inches for the full length of the pig. Salt it inside and out very liberally. Get the chicken wire ready to wrap the pig in, but don't wrap it yet.

When the steel is glowing red, the action begins. Using something to handle the hot steel (I use 24-inch water pump pliers) place 2 or more pieces of steel inside the pig. Now wrap it tightly in the chicken wire. Make long handles of mechanic's wire in each end. You will need these to pull the pig out of the ground after it is cooked.

Using half of your hot steel, line the bottom of the hole (the unburned wood needs to be removed before you put the hot steel into the hole). On top of the steel, line the bottom of the hole with wet burlap sacks. On top of the sacks, throw a couple of boxes of lettuce trimmings. Next, lay the pig in the hole, making sure the wire handles are up. Cover that completely with wet burlap sacks. Put in the remaining hot steel. Throw the dirt back in the hole, filling it up completely.

With that done, just wait until it's time to pull the pig out. If you are like me, you'll worry like crazy about whether the pig will be cooked or not when it is finally time to pull it out.

ANSWER — Kathryn Agett, Franklinville, N.Y., requested a recipe for rye bread. Thanks to Virginia Eckert, St. Mary's, for sending a recipe.

Rye Bread

Mix together:
½ teaspoon yeast
½ teaspoon sugar
¼ cup warm water
Add:
2½ cups rye flour
8 cups white flour
2 tablespoons sugar
2½ tablespoons salt
1½ tablespoons shortening
2 handfuls caraway seed
1 quart lukewarm water

Knead dough and let rise until doubled in size. Place on greased cookie sheet and bake at 375 degrees for 45 minutes.

CHICKEN SUPREME CASSEROLE

2 cups cooked chicken
2 cups cooked macaroni
2 cans cream of mushroom
2 cups milk
2 medium chopped onions
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons butter
1 cup grated cheese

Combine all ingredients except cheese; put in casserole, grate cheese on top. Bake ½ hour at 350°.

We live on a 100-acre farm. Milk 36 cows. Raise around 25 heifers. We also have four children, two boys and two girls. Life is never boring around here. Both my husband and I come from Lancaster County. Most of our family lives there. We still like to visit down there. Children always have many happy memories every time we come home.

MEAT-POTATO QUICHE
(Serves 4-5)

Preheat oven to 425°.
In 9-inch pie pan, stir together:
3 tablespoons vegetable oil
3 cups coarsely shredded raw potato

Press evenly into pie crust shape. Bake at 425° for 15 minutes until just beginning to brown. Remove from oven.
Layer on:
1 cup grated Swiss or cheddar cheese
¾ cup cooked diced chicken, ham or browned sausage
¼ cup chopped onion
In a bowl beat together:
1 cup evaporated or rich milk
2 eggs
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Pour egg mixture onto other ingredients.

Sprinkle with 1 tablespoon parsley flakes

Return to oven and bake at 425° about 30 minutes or until lightly browned, and knife inserted one inch from edge comes out clean. Allow to cool five minutes before cutting in wedges (a good recipe to use up leftover beef roast or any kind of meat).

Enclosed find a recipe that my family enjoys, especially with a tossed salad. My phone number is 215-593-5345.

I am a grandmother to 10 children. This past week we just had a set of twins born to one of our sons.

My husband and I have been farming on this same farm now for 42 years. We had eight sons, no daughters, we buried our two-year-old 36 years ago.

We are farming close to 1,000 acres with three of our sons. We milk 52 cows, and raise 175 acres of potatoes. The rest of the acreage is in alfalfa, wheat, barley and soybeans.

Our oldest son is in recycling in Philadelphia. Another son is a doctor in John Hopkins in Baltimore, another has just returned from MCC agriculturalist in Jamaica and now has accepted a position with MCC in Akron. Another son is a cabinetmaker and employs two other employees.

I keep myself busy gardening and canning and freezing, helping to milk, and in potato planting and harvesting.

Also my parents are in Tel Hai Nursing Home at Honey Brook, so I try to visit them or else have them here every week.

God has been so good to us, we attend Kennett Square Mennonite Church and I am on the Auxiliary of the West Fallowfield Christian Day School. We do wedding receptions and banquets.

MIST SPRAYER ADVANTAGES

1. ROTARY ATOMIZATION distributes an even size droplet spectrum that greatly improves penetration and coverage.
2. LOW FIRST COST compared with conventional sprayers with the same acreage capabilities.
3. COST LESS TO OPERATE: 50-90% savings on diluent. Water swaths at higher speeds with less tank fillings. Save a bundle on fuel.
4. SAVE ON COSTLY CHEMICAL. More complete coverage with 25-50% less chemical compared with conventional dilute solution sprayers.
5. LOW MAINTENANCE. Simple design with few moving parts means little upkeep. No down time due to repairs or plugged nozzles.
6. MORE EFFICIENT CONTROL as a result of fine particle efficiency through distribution of chemical.
7. COMPACT UNIT — use of smaller tractors and no booms to contend with.

It's Ag On The Farm Every Day For The Bollingers

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — You have heard about Ag in the Classroom. That's when fourth graders learn about agriculture in the classroom and many students take a trip to the farm.

In Ephrata, Sue Bollinger is chairman for Ag in the Classroom. That means she arranges classroom instruction and farms for the students to visit.

Sue has three sons and one daughter who know a whole lot more about agriculture than students will learn in the Ag in the Classroom program because they have ag at home everyday.

Sue, her husband Tom, and children, Andrew, 15; Richard, 11; Philip, 10; and Valerie, 20 months, live on a 108-acre farm. They rent an additional 130 acres. They have 139 milking cows and 36 calves. That means there is a lot of chores for the children to do each day.

Richard gives hay to the cows, feeds calves, and helps milk occassionally. He doesn't like to get dirty.

His favorite pasttime is eating — especially fruit. He likes to read, use the computer, and watch animal specials on television. He is in the sixth grade at Akron Elementary School where he likes social studies. He plans to be a veterinarian or a zoologist.

Ten-year-old Philip feeds the cows every evening and sometimes at 6 o'clock in the morning. He also helps give hay to the cows and feed the calves.

He doesn't like cleaning his room and putting his clothes away. He enjoys playing the violin and piano. He also likes to play computer games and watch some television shows. Philip is in third grade at Akron Elementary School.

The boys have been in several church musical that their mother directs at Middle Creek Church of the Brethren.

Of course, Valerie is too little to help on the farm, but she acts like she really enjoys farm life. She said that she likes "moos." She also meows when the kittens are mentioned and barks when her brothers call Cocoa the dog.

If students want to know more about agriculture than they learn in the classroom, they should ask the Bollinger family who know all about ag on the farm. They live it everyday.

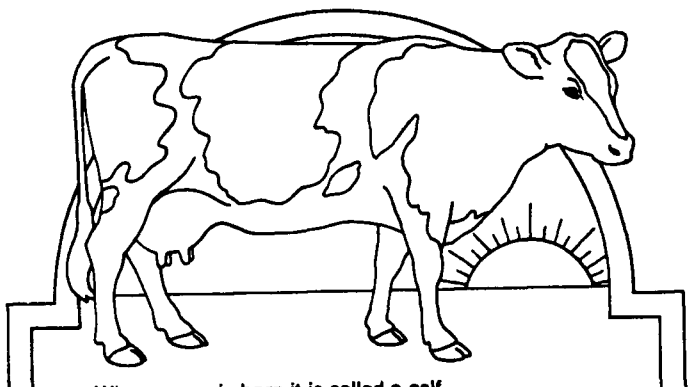
One of the nice things about living on the farm is the freedom to drive around in a four-wheeler with a dog at your side. Richard, Philip and Valerie are shown with Cocoa the dog.

Did You Know?



When a cow is born it is called a calf.

A calf weighs about 100 pounds.

A cow weighs about 1500 pounds.

Cows come in all colors: red and white, red, black and white, brown, brown and white, and golden brown.

The black and white cows are called Holsteins.

A cow eats 90 pounds of food each day.

A cow drinks 25 to 50 gallons of water each day.

A cow makes milk from the food and water she eats.

A cow gives 100 glasses of milk each day.

Get Off Merry-Go-Round Of Confusion Says Chester County Dairy Princess

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

NOTTINGHAM (Chester Co.) — "Are you confused about nutrition? Don't be on a merry-go-round of confusion, but be on a merry-go-round for healthy food that circles around dairy products," Noel Scheib told those who attended the Chester County Dairy Princess Coronation on June 6.

Crowned the Chester County Dairy Princess, Noel will spend a lot of time helping others take the confusion out of nutrition and teach them how to include enough calcium in their diets by using dairy products.

Noel also is the Alternate Pennsylvania Jersey Queen, a college sophomore at Eastern College in St. David's, and a summer assistant with the Chester County Cooperative Extension Service. Despite all those responsibilities, Noel still helps her parents, Clyde and Alda Scheib, with dairy farming duties on their French Creek Farm in Phoenixville. The Scheibs, who have been farming for 60 years on 100 acres, have a mixed herd of Guernseys, Jerseys,

Dairy Contest Recipes

CHICKEN AND BISCUIT CASSEROLE

Casserole Base:
½ stick butter
1 cup celery, chopped
½ cup onion, chopped
¼ cup flour
¾ teaspoon celery salt
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 cups milk
3 cups cooked, chopped chicken

Melt butter and saute onion and celery till soft. Add remaining ingredients except flour. Mix flour with some water into a paste. Heat mixture and thicken with the flour paste. Use a 9x13 cake pan or large flat casserole.

Biscuits:
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ cup butter
¾ cup milk
1 cup cheddar cheese

Mix everything but cheese. Roll out on floured surface. Spread grated cheese on top. Roll up like a jelly roll.

Cut into a twelve equal slices and put on top of chicken.

Bake at 350° for ½ hour.

This freezes well. Make a double batch and bake both. Then freeze.

I am happy to submit a family favorite to the Dairy Recipe contest. I got this recipe from a good friend, so it is not original with me. We are a family of eight, mom, dad, four sons and two daughters, aged 15 to 1 year. We crop farm plus raise registered heifers. My husband buys and sells a lot and enjoys it very much. I am a full-time mom, of course. How would I have time for anything else? I enjoy working in my kitchen especially baking bread and pies and I even manage to sell a few. I would send a picture of our whole family if I had one with all of us on. Sorry! We live in the very beautiful southern end of Lancaster County. I hope you enjoy my recipe and I do hope to win one of those neat cow items. Good luck to me!

Esther Smoker, Omar, my husband, Joanna, age 15, Nathan, age 12, Philip, age 9, Bethany, age 7, Joseph, age 4, Ryan, 16 months.

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE

¼ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
2 egg yolks
½ teaspoon almond extract
1¾ cups cake flour
¼ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ cup milk
2 stiffly-beaten egg whites
1 pint strawberries

Bake in 350-degree oven about 40 minutes.

I am a single lassie living on a 127-acre farm with two brothers and a sister. Our main crops are hay, wheat, barley, oats and corn. We have mostly beef cattle but until about a year ago had been in the dairy business 60 years.

My sister and I try to manage an oversized garden and sell the produce along with eggs on an egg route my older brother has.

I like to collect baskets, children's pictures, and bells. Flowers are a great pleasure as well as church work, Grange and poetry. Pen-pals are a lot of enjoyment too.

COCONUT CREAM PIE

3 cups milk, heated
3 tablespoons Clearjel
3 tablespoons flour
½ cup sugar
Pinch salt
½ cup milk
4 eggs, separated
Coconut, to taste
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons butter

Heat milk to scalding point. Mix Clearjel, flour, sugar, salt, and add to milk. Beat egg yolks and stir into milk mixture. Add coconut, vanilla, and butter. Pour mixture into a baked pie shell. Beat egg whites until stiff. Add ½ cup sugar and ½ teaspoon vanilla. Top pie with meringue and broil in oven for 10 to 15 minutes until lightly browned.

We live on a 23½-acre farm that we bought this spring. We have 4 acres in produce and the remainder in field corn and hay. We also have a bike shop where we sell new or used bikes and repair a lot too.

We have two girls and one boy ages, 4, 2, and 11 months. We also have a boarder to help us in the evening. We never have a boring moment. My family loves pies, cakes, and pudding made with milk.

HAM AND NOODLE CASSEROLE

½ pound medium-wide noodles
4 tablespoons butter, melted
4 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
1 cup grated American cheddar cheese
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups cooked ham, cut up
1 cup drained canned peans

Mix ingredients together. Mix 2 tablespoons additional melted butter with ½ cup bread crumbs and sprinkle over top. Bake at 375 degrees for 30 minutes.

I'm the Lebanon County Dairy Maid. I live on a 165-acre dairy and broiler farm with my mom, dad, brother Andy, and sister Amanda. We milk 85 Holsteins. I own six animals.

I am secretary of the NoSoAnn 4-H Dairy Club, the Lebanon Co. Jr. Holstein Club, and the South Mountain 4-H where I am in my third year of photography.

I'm a sophomore at Cedar Crest High School. I'm involved in chorus, Pep Club, Youth Education Association, SEE Club (Sky, Earth, and Environment), Spanish Club, an honor student, and a member of the National Honor Society.

BALL OF EGG 'Hrutka'

12 eggs
2 cups milk
1 can of canned milk
1 teaspoon allspice
1 tablespoon salt

Blend eggs with electric beater. Add milk and salt. Place over low flame and cook until lumpy. Sprinkle with allspice, strain in strainer, and put lump in big dish towel. Tie with long rope or baler twine. Keep winding rope to form ball. Hang up outside or inside the house to dry. When dry, remove, place in a pan, brush on one egg yolk on top and bake in 350 degree oven until lightly browned. Cool. Put in refrigerator. Slice and enjoy.

This recipe is good to make as on our farm there are always plenty of eggs and milk to use. My mom always used to make it now I do.

I am the third generation farming our farm with my brother and dad. We milk cows and belong to the National Farmers Organization (NFO). I raise all our calves, heifers, bulls, sheep, all types of poultry — chickens, ducks, geese, turkeys, pheasants, and quail. I enjoy farming, working outdoors, baling hay, and reading Lancaster Farming's Home on the Range.

I also collect cows and have my house filled with them.

PEANUT CRUNCH ICE CREAM PIE

½ cup peanut butter
½ cup light Karo
2 cups rice crispy cereal
1 quart vanilla ice cream

Combine peanut butter and Karo; mix thoroughly. Add cereal and press mixture evenly and firmly into 9-inch pie pan. Chill until firm. Spread ice cream on top of crust and feeze.

This recipe is simple but delicious.

My husband Jim, farms corn and has a fertilizer business in partnership with his dad, brother, and brother-in-law. We have three children, Andy, 13; Crystal, 12; and Duane, 8. They attend Locust Grove Mennonite School. I'm a homemaker and enjoy gardening and baking bread. As a family, we like to go boating in the summertime.

REFRIGERATOR STRAWBERRY PIE

1 pint fresh strawberries, heaped
⅔ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1¼ teaspoons lemon juice
3 teaspoons unflavored gelatine
½ cup cold water
1½ cups heavy whipping cream or Dream Whip made as directed on box

Cut berries into small pieces. Mix with sugar, salt, and lemon juice. Soften gelatine in cold water for 5 minutes; dissolve over low heat and gently fold in strawberries, whipped cream, and vanilla. Put into baked pie crust or graham cracker crust. Chill overnight. Top with fresh strawberries.

I got this recipe from a great aunt and it is delicious. I don't live on a farm, but sometimes I wish I did. I thoroughly enjoy Lancaster Farming recipes.

COOKIES AND CREAM CHEESECAKE (no bake)

Crust:
2 cups or 24 crushed Oreo cookies
6 tablespoons margarine, softened

Combine crumbs and margarine. Press into bottom and 1½ inches up sides of a 9-inch springform pan.

Cheesecake:
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1 8 oz. package cream cheese, softened
½ cup sugar
¾ cup milk
1 cup whipping cream, whipped
1¼ cups (about 10) chopped Oreo cookies.

Dissolve gelatin in water, stir over low heat. Mix cream cheese and sugar, mixing at medium speed. Slowly add gelatin and milk mixing till blended. Chill till the mixture is thickened but not set. Fold in whipped cream. Reserve 1½ cups cream cheese mixture. Pour remaining mixture over crust. Top with chopped cookies and reserved cheese mixture. Chill until firm - 8 servings. Preparation time: 25 minutes plus chilling.

Although we do not live on a farm, by husband, Dennis, who was raised on a dairy farm in the Shippensburg area, enjoys relaxing by reading the Lancaster Farming.

I am employed at a Vo-Tech school as an instructional assistant in the horticulture program. I use many of the articles from your pages in my greenhouse production classes.

We both enjoy gardening, landscaping and sailing. We have two grown sons, Troy, 20, who is in the U.S. Navy on the USS Michigan submarine and Eric, 19, who will graduate in June from Aviation Maintenance School.

FRESH FRUIT PARFAIT

8-ounce container plain yogurt
1 tablespoon grated orange peel
1 tablespoon honey, jam, or jelly
2 cups fresh fruit, any fruit in season

Cut fruit into bite-sized pieces. Chill. Combine yogurt, orange peel, and honey or jam in a small bowl. Chill. Layer fruit and yogurt in four serving dishes.

For 20 years, I've taught foods and nutrition to 4-H groups. The Fresh Fruit Parfait is easy to prepare plus it tastes good.

My husband Jim and two adult sons, Gary and Tom, own and operate a dairy farm in Northeastern Crawford County. We have 80 registered Holsteins and 40 heifers.

We are looking forward to our son Gary's wedding in July.

BAKED MACARONI AND CHEESE

2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon dry mustard
2½ cups milk
2 cups shredded cheddar cheese
8 ounces elbow macaroni
¼ cup buttered bread crumbs
Paprika

In saucepan, melt butter. Remove from heat; blend in flour, salt, and mustard. Add milk; heat, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens a little and is smooth. Add 1½ cups cheese; heat until melted, stirring occasionally. Meanwhile, cook macaroni as directed on package; drain. Combine with sauce in a two-quart casserole; top with remaining cheese, buttered bread crumbs, and paprika. Bake at 375° for 20 to 25 minutes until nicely browned and bubbly.

I enjoy looking at the recipes both in the featured column and Cook's Question Corner. We live on a dairy farm and also raise pigs, turkeys and chickens.

CHICKEN SOUR CREAM CASSEROLE

4 whole chicken breasts
8 ounces sour cream
1 can cream of mushroom soup
2 cups Ritz cracker crumbs, crushed
4 tablespoons butter, melted

Cook chicken breasts and cut into small pieces. Mix chopped chicken, sour cream, and soup together. Spoon into greased baking dish. Combine cracker crumbs and butter, spoon over chicken mixture. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Serves 8.

Eric and I live on a 30-acre farm near Mount Joy. We have a small broiler house and 40 head of beef cows and calves. Eric also has a truck on the road.

We have four daughters, Heather; 10; Joelle, 8; Sara, 4; and Kelly, 2.

A large garden and lots of roses and other flowers keep us busy in the summer.

SPREADING CHEESE

4 cups milk
3 sticks margarine
5 pounds sliced white American cheese
4 cans Carnation milk

Heat milk and margarine, just before it wants to boil, add the cheese, slice by slice, stirring till smooth. Remove from heat and add Carnation milk.

This is a delicious cheese to eat with bread or for dipping pretzels. Good luck.

Three Vie For Perry County Title

LOYSVILLE (Perry Co.) — The Perry County Dairy Princess Pageant is scheduled for June 20, at the Perry County Extension Office conference room. There will be a milk punch reception at 7:30 p.m. with the pageant beginning at 8:00 p.m. An ice cream social will follow the evening events.

This year's contestants include the following: Colleen Kretzing, daughter of Perry and Adelaide Kretzing, Loysville, will be a senior at West Perry this fall and is active in FFA which includes public speaking, parliamentary procedure, dairy judging, and dairy foods. She is also a member of 4-H, The Holstein Association, Centre Presbyterian Church Youth Fellowship, and a member of the state champion Dairy Bowl Team.

The Kretzing's milk 152 Holsteins, of which Colleen owns 14.

Marel Adene Raub, daughter of Keith and Peggy Raub, Duncannon, recently graduated from Susquenita as valedictorian. She was active in school including Marching/Concert Band, West Side Singers, National Honor Society, Interdisciplinary Research Seminar, Quiz Bowl, Spanish and French clubs. She is active in 4-H, PA Junior Holstein Association, and is also a member of the state champion Dairy Bowl Team. The Raub's milk 60 Holsteins of which Marel owns nine.

Tracey Sauder, daughter of John Jr. and A. Christine Sauder, Ickesburg, will be a senior at West Perry in the fall. She is an active member of FFA including public speaking, chapter procedure, land judging, dairy judging, tractor driving, interview contest, ag sales, and supervised agriculture experience. She is also involved in 4-H, track and BOAC (Building Our American Communities). The Sauder's milk 110 holsteins, of which Tracey owns nine.

and Holsteins.

As a former 4-H state dairy project winner, Noel attended the National 4-H Congress held in Chicago. Through the school Distribution Education Club of America, Noel flew to Colorado to compete in national competition.

Assisting Noel with dairy promotion in Chester County is Sara Laffey, crowned dairy maid. Sarah is the daughter of Michael and Kim Laffey of Cochranville who live at Glenville Farms. The farm, a partnership with Kim's parents, her uncles and grandfather, consists of more than 1,000 acres and more than 500 Holsteins.

Fourteen-year-old Kim is an eighth grader at Octorara Intermediate School where she is editor of the school news and a member of the yearbook staff. She is active in chorus and enjoys reading, cooking, biking, swimming, and playing tennis.

During the evening's events, Charlene Ranck was honored for her dairy promotion work for the past 10 years. Charlene was the county dairy princess and went on to win the state title in 1981. Since then, Charlene has headed dairy promotion for Chester County, but has resigned due to family responsibilities. Charlene is married to Merle Ranck. The Ranks have two children and are expecting a third this month.

A committee of 12 people, with Vera Rohrer as general chairperson, has been appointed to take Charlene's place as head of dairy promotion.

In a farewell speech, 1991 Chester County Dairy Princess Rebecca Blank thanked the audience for allowing her to "give something back to the dairy industry that gave so much to her." Becky said that she dreamed of being the dairy princess since she was four years old. "But I never dreamed how wonderful it was until I lived it," she said. Becky is the daughter of Elam and Dorothy Blank of Parkesburg.

Walter Wurster, Chester County Extension agent, served as master of ceremonies for the coronation that was held at Herr Foods, Inc. in Nottingham.

Getting an early start on dairy promotion are these nieces and nephews of 1991 Chester County Dairy Princess Rebecca Blank. The clan attended the coronation in support of their Aunt Becky, seated. From left: Laura Blank, 9; Daryl Blank, 5; Keith Mast, 5 months; Kim Mast, 3; Dwayne Blank, 3; and Lisa Blank, 8. Parents of the Mast children are Elvin and Carol of Parkesburg. Parents of the Blank children are Cliff and Joyce of Gap. Laura has been Lancaster County's Dairy Darling for the past year. Her sister, Lisa, will be installed as a Dairy Darling during the Lancaster County pageant held tonight.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

June is the month of roses and some of the twelve bushes that we planted are blooming. My husband worked hard to start a bed by digging a two-foot hole for each plant. The Shasta daisies and columbines, that I moved from the farm, are blooming too.

A big snapping turtle was in our front yard the other evening. We took a yardstick and measured his shell as it was 14-inches long and 12-inches across with a 10-inch tail. He was several hundred yards from the river and he or she certainly could hiss and look mean.

Some of us do not realize the work that goes into a smoothly run program. As our pastor of 25 years is retiring, our church members planned a retirement party. He was given a special book, a picture of the church, a scrapbook of letters, and more than ten thousand dollars to go to the British Isles next year. he is of Scottish descent and is looking forward to the trip. Everything was carefully planned and I know a lot of hard work went into the preparations.

My husband and I have been attending a group at our church which has a variety of Saturday evening programs. For several years we've simply gone and enjoyed someone else's efforts. But, now we've been asked to be on the committee and do some of the work, and we'll find out what is involved. It is an awesome responsibility to plan something that one hundred people will enjoy. It is impossible to please everyone but we hope a year's programs will include some that will please most of the people.

Sullivan County Prepares For 'Twilight Open Farm'

DUSHORE (Sullivan Co.) — Two dairy princess candidates for Sullivan County are Raylene Rouse, daughter of Michael and Jacquelyn Rouse of Dushore, and Jana Ayers, daughter of Edward Ayers and Roxanne Green, RD #2 New Albany.

The three Dairy Maids for 1992 are Carrie Hottenstein, daughter of Dennis and Marie Hottenstein, RR #2 New Albany; Susan Pardoe, daughter of James and Dottie Pardoe, Forksville; and Amy Warburton, daughter of James and Barbara Warburton, RR #2 New Albany.

The girls were first made aware of the program at a Milk Tea held recently at the Millview Church Hall.

The princess candidates and dairy maids will be presented to the public at the Twlight Open Farm Home gathering Saturday, June 13, at 8:00 p.m. at the Hottenstein's farm, Overton. This is the home of the 1991-92 Sullivan County Dairy Princess Melanie Hottenstein. There will be a cow judging contest, other activities and commercial displays to show the non-farm public what it takes to produce the food that they buy at the store.

Saturday, June 20, the June Dairy Month Parade will be held on Main Street, downtown Dushore at 7:15 p.m. The parade will include floats, high school bands, farm equipment, fire trucks, antique and classic cars, the 1991-92 dairy princess, candidates and dairy maids as well as other visiting princesses and queens.

After the crowning of the new princess, a huge ice cream sundae will be made and served to all who want some. There will also be cow and goat milking contests. About 9 p.m. there will be a large fireworks display, followed by a block dance.

The Dushore Firemen will hold a fire equipment parade starting at 7:00 p.m. on Main Street, Dushore, Friday, June 19. After the parade the firemen will hold an auction at the firehall. There will also be food concessions, games and music both nights.

For additional information contact the Sullivan County Chamber of commerce, Box C, Dushore PA 18614. (717)928-9550

PEANUT BUTTER DESSERT

Mix:
1 cup flour
½ cup confectioners sugar
½ cup peanut butter
Press in bottom of 9x13 pan. Bake at 325° for 15 to 20 min. Cool.
Beat:
8 ounces cream cheese
½ cup peanut butter
1 cup confectioners sugar.
Fold in two cups whipped cream topping. Spread over crumbs in pan.
Pudding layer:
1 small pack instant chocolate pudding
1 small pack instant vanilla pudding
2¼ cups milk
Mix well and pour over cream cheese layer. Top with whipped cream topping.

We live on a 154-acre dairy farm in Berks Co. Our children just love dairy products!

Mrs. Elaine Wenger
Womelsdorf R2

PINEAPPLE CAKE DESSERT

1 box yellow cake mix
1 (3¾ or 3 5/8 oz.) package of instant vanilla pudding
8 ounces cream cheese, softened
1 (20 oz.) can crushed pineapples
1 (8 oz.) container of whipped topping
Make cake as directed on box but use a 9x13-inch pan. Bake 15 to 20 minutes. Do not overbake. Cool well. While cake is baking, make pudding and let set at room temperature. When cake is cool, add cream cheese to pudding and beat together well. Spread over cooled cake. Spoon on drained pineapples. Spread on whipped topping over cake. Refrigerate.

I was raised on a dairy farm and enjoyed helping milk the cows. In the last six months my husband, Jonathan, and I have become broiler producers for Pennfield. Our boys James, 5 and Andrew, 2, really enjoy the chickens. We all enjoy the country life.

HOT CHICKEN SALAD

4 cups cut up cooked chicken
⅔ cup sliced toasted almonds, optional
2 cups diced, cooked celery
2 cups cut up hard boiled eggs
1 can cream of chicken soup
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 soup can of water
1 cup grated cheese, whatever kind you like
8 slices butter bread, cut up
1 big bag of frozen broccoli cut up in pieces
1 tablespoon chopped onion, optional
Cut up and combine ingredients except cheese and bread. Put into buttered 2- to 3-quart casserole. Top with bread cubes and cheese. Bake 30 minutes at 400°.

My husband and I live in Schuylkill County, Klingerstown, with our four children, Michael 12, Gwen 9, Amy 2, Nathan 1. We raise potatoes and grains. We live on a 50-acre farm and rent another 170. Along with our crops other members of my husband's family also raise potatoes. We all work together in planting and harvesting either on the machinery or watching each other's kids while the other works. Besides working at home I work as an office manager at an automobile dealership four or five days a week.

(serves 20)

3 pounds hamburger
9 slices bacon
3 onions
3 cups potatoes
3 cups celery
3 cups carrots
3 cans peas
2 cans cream of celery soup
3 cups macaroni
1 quart tomato juice
1 pound Velveeta or grated cheese
Fry bacon, remove from pan. Add onions and hamburger to bacon fat, heat. Pour into roast pan and add cooked carrots, peas, potatoes, celery, and macaroni. Lay bacon on top, pour tomato juice and soup over this, and cheese on top. Bake 1½ hours in 350-degree oven. (We like to divide it into 2 or 3 casserole dishes.)

This is our favorite casserole. My 14-year-old brother sure likes it. Even though it's a big recipe it doesn't last too long around here!

I'm the oldest of nine children. I have three brothers and five sisters. My youngest sister is two months old. We all love her. I'll be 17 in June.

We live on a dairy farm in Juniata County. It's nice to be able to just go out to the milk tank and get milk instead of going to the store. Sometimes though, we don't get milk in before the milkman comes! We use a lot of milk. We make puddings fairly often. My Daddy and my 14- and 11-year-old brothers like mashed potatoes and we others do too!

We are looking forward to summer. Hopefully it will be a good growing year. It will be nice to fill the freezer and cellar and also hay mow again. Of course that means work but it doesn't hurt us, does it?

If any of you readers try Wigglers I hope you'll enjoy it as much as our family does. Have a safe and happy summer.

YUM-A-SETTA

2 pounds ground beef
Salt and pepper, to taste
1 tablespoon brown sugar
¼ onion, chopped
1 can tomato soup, undiluted
1 can cream of chicken soup, undiluted
16-ounces egg noodles
8-ounces processed cheese
Brown ground beef with salt, pepper, brown sugar and onion. Add tomato soup. Cook egg noodles; drain. Add cream of chicken soup. Layer ground beef mixture and noodle mixture in casserole with cheese between layers. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

Loganton

SCRAMBLED EGGS

5 eggs
5 tablespoons milk
3 slices or more of White American cheese
Lightly grease tefflon-lined skillet. Heat over medium heat. Beat eggs and milk with a fork. Pour into skillet. Cook. When ready to serve, top with cheese. Cover with lid until cheese melts. Serve with toast.

This serves 2 people and makes a nice quick supper. I don't use the cheese for breakfast.

Mrs. Clifford Holloway
Peach Bottom

STRAWBERRY YUM YUM

1 cup flour
½ cup butter
¼ cup brown sugar
½ cup chopped nuts
Mix together until crumbly. Press into 8x8-inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 12 minutes. Cool and break into crumbs.
2 egg whites
1 cup sugar
2 teaspoons lemon juice
10 ounces fresh or frozen strawberries
1 cup cream
Beat egg whites, add sugar, lemon juice, and strawberries, beat the cream and mix.
Put half of crumbs on bottom and remainder on top. Freeze for 2 to 3 hours or overnight.

We live on a farm, but my brother does the milking and Dad works in the fields. We also feed the calves and horses. We have 39 cows, 28 calves, 2 dogs, hens, and kittens.

Annie Fisher
Quarryville

APRICOT-ORANGE SPONGE

3-ounces orange Jell-O
1 cup mashed apricots
¾ cup sugar
1 cup cream, whipped
Prepare Jell-O according to package directions. When it starts to thicken, beat then add remaining ingredients. Chill.

SOUR CREAM COFFEE CAKE

Brown sugar filling*
1½ cups sugar
¾ cup butter, softened
3 eggs
1½ teaspoons vanilla
3 cups flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
1½ teaspoons baking soda
¾ teaspoon salt
1½ cups sour cream
Glaze

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Grease tube pan. Prepare the filling, reserve. Beat sugar, butter, eggs, and vanilla in large bowl, for 2 minutes, scraping the bowl often. Beat flour, baking powder, baking soda, and salt alternately with sour cream on low speed.

Spread ⅓ of batter, about 2 cups, in pan. Sprinkle with ⅓ of filling. Repeat two times.

Bake about 1 hour or until a wooden pick inserted near center comes out clean. Cool slightly. Remove from pan. Cool 10 minutes. Drizzle with glaze. One coffee cakes makes 16 slices; 355 calories per slice.

*Brown Sugar Filling:
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup finely chopped nuts
2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour

Mix all ingredients together.

Glaze:
½ cup confectioners' sugar
¼ teaspoon vanilla
1 to 2 teaspoons milk

Mix all ingredients until smooth.

This recipe has been a favorite of ours and we like it in the mornings with coffee or a glass of milk.

My husband Brent and I have recently been married in the last six months. There are eight years between our ages but we complement one another.

I grew up on a farm and he got a few years experience working as a hired hand on several different farms before he started farming at age 18. He farmed four years before we got married. We rent 130 acres from his grandfather and he puts out his own crops of winter rye, alfalfa, and corn. He replenishes the herd by raising his own replacement calves.

In our sparetime, my husband likes to spend time with the ham radio and fiddle with electronic and amateur things. I enjoy sewing, baking and working with plants.

CHOCOLATE PEANUT LOAF

1 cup wafer crumbs (or graham)
4 cups chopped peanuts
2 tablespoons powdered sugar
3 tablespoons melted butter
6 cups chocolate ice cream

Peanut butter filling:
1 3 oz. cream cheese, softened
¾ cup powdered sugar
⅓ cup peanut butter
⅓ cup milk
½ cup heavy cream, whipped
chocolate syrup

CRUST: combine first four ingredients; reserve half for topping. Press remaining half into bottom of foil-lined 9x5x3-inch pan. Place in freezer 15 minutes. Soften three cups ice cream. Spread over frozen crust; return to freezer.

Peanut butter filling:

Beat cream cheese, sugar, and peanut butter until fluffy. Add milk, fold in whipped cream. Spread over ice cream; return to freezer. Freeze until firm. Spread three more cups of ice cream over filling. Sprinkle with reserved crumbs, patting lightly into ice cream. Cover with foil; freeze. Unmold just before serving, peeling off foil. Slice to serve, Drizzle with chocolate syrup. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

We live on an 11-acre farm and have four children, three girls and one boy. After receiving a new cookbook from my mother-in-law for Christmas, I've been trying many new recipes. This, by far, is one of our favorite frozen dessert dishes. Some of the compliments were "It tastes llike a Dairy Queen Cake!" "Great for a refreshing treat on a warm day!"

We enjoy family camping, reading, yard sales and many other family-related activities. We are new subscribers to Lancaster Farming and I enjoy the recipes and articles in the B section. Keep up the good work!

Blend and spread over serving dish. Top with chopped lettuce, chopped tomatoes, peppers, onions, and shredded cheese. Serve with tortilla chips.

My husband Bruce and daughters Rachel, 6; Tiffany, 3; Paige, 1; and I farm 160 acres and milk 54 Holsteins. We live just outside the village of Windsor Castle. In the summer, I am always surprised how many people stop and ask directions to see Windsor Castle expecting to see a castle. Sorry folks. All you will see is a quaint village, but I'm sure the beautiful countryside made the drive worthwhile just the same.

CHERRY DESSERT SUPREME

1½ cups flour
2 tablespoons sugar
1 cup chopped pecans
¼ cup butter or margarine, softened

Filling:
1 (8 oz.) package softened cream cheese
2 cups confectioners' sugar
1 pint heavy cream (whipped)

Topping:
1 can cherry pie filling

For crust, mix ingredients well. Press into bottom of a 9x13 pan. Bake at 350° about 20 minutes. Cool. Mix together softened cream cheese and sugar. Add whipped cream and blend well. Spread over cooled crust. Pour cherry pie filling over the top. Chill well. Serves 10-14.

CHOCOLATE CHIP COOKIES

½ pound butter
¾ cup brown sugar
2 eggs
3½ cups flour
¾ cup granulated sugar
1 tablespoon vanilla
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking soda
1 cup chocolate chips

Beat butter and sugars until fluffy. Add eggs and beat well. Add vanilla. Gradually add flour, baking soda, and salt. Beat until well blended. Stir in chocolate chips. Bake at 350 degrees for approximately 12 minutes. Yields: 3½ dozen.

These are my husband's favorite cookies. We have four children, Jordan, 6; Russell, 4; Alissa, 2; and Evan, 9 months.

In our pasture, we have 4 heifers, 10 pygmy goats, and 3 chickens. I like the recipe section of Lancaster Farming.

HAMBURGER SOUP

1 pound ground beef
¼ cup chopped onions
½ cup chopped green pepper
18-ounces tomato juice or 1 quart canned tomatoes
1 cup sliced raw carrots
1 beef bouillon cube
1½ teaspoons salt
1 cup diced raw potatoes
2 tablespoons snipped parsley
⅓ cup flour
4 cups milk

Brown meat in dutch oven. Drain off fat. Add onion and green pepper; cook until vegetables are crisp-tender. Stir in tomatoes, carrots, bouillon cube, salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Cover; simmer about 10 minutes. Add potatoes and parsley; cover and cook 15 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Blend flour with 1 cup milk; stir into soup. Cook and stir until thickened and bubbly. Add remaining milk and heat. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Makes 8 or 9 servings.

My husband Mark and I have been married for 16 years and we have have 4 sons, Mark, 14; Curtis, 11; Joseph, 7; and Luke, 14 months. My husband is a dairy farmer and milks 60 cows and farms 220 acres.

Beef Briefs

PROFIT POTENTIAL FOR BEEF COWS

Many cow-calf producers in our state are part-time producers who own cows for many different reasons.

Even with the 30-cow herd, there is sufficient income potential to make the cows a profitable enterprise. It takes a few mangement procedures and an examination of the use of the resources, both human and economic, to realize the opportunity for profit.

The following steps will help make the cows profitable:

• Know how much it costs. Many beef producers, both large and small, have no idea what the real cost of production is in their operation. However, it is essential to know this information in order to determine how to proceed. Many would be surprised to learn that when all costs are accounted for, it costs about $10,000 or more per year to maintain the 30-cow herd.

The results of the national Integrated Resource Management (IRM) program have shown the annual cost to maintain a beef cow range from less than $200 to more than $1,000, and the average value is about $380. Sharpen the pencil and add it up sometime, and don't forget that your time, the use of your equipment and facilities, and the alternative value of cash and commodities you use in the enterprise all have a value that represents a cost to your production.

• Find a place to cut costs. When you have been sufficiently shocked at how much it really costs to own cows, this part will come easy. Profit is a two-way street — it is relative to both costs and income. Therefore, it is not always more profitable to sell calves at a higher price than you did last year because the cost of producing those calves may have gone up even more.

By taking the first step and determining what your costs are, you can usually find the factor that is the loser.

Consider these factors in your herd:

• A cow is only going to make money when she is either pregnant, nursing a calf, or both. The maximum amount of time a beef cow can economically not be pregnant is 90 days out of the year. The rest is "downtime" and is money (feed, labor, facilities) that is tossed in a hole. You can reduce your herd "downtime" by being sure the nutrition is right prior to breeding season, using highly fertile bulls, keeping the herd on a defined 90-day breeding season or less, pregnancy-checking the herd in the fall, and using an effective preventive health program. Most importantly, cull the cows that are "down" longer than they should be.

• In most small herds it is uneconomical to produce replacement heifers.

Take the time to add up the value of a weaned heifer as a feeder calf, the feed it takes to maintain a growing heifer for a year, the labor involved in feeding the younger stock differently than the mature cow herd, and the purchase or use of a bull that must be designated for light birthweights and calving ease that may sacrifice some genetics for growth. If they are available, purchased bred heifers will allow the small breeder to 1) maintain a single bull that does not sacrifice growth potential for light birthweights; 2) allow a larger, more uniform group of weaned calves to be offered for sale; 3) reduce the competitive advantage for older cows at the feed trough; and 4) allow new genetics to be injected in the herd.

The restrictions of nutrition in trying to get 2-year-old heifers rebred is the same for either home-raised or purchased heifers.

• Be sure the forage program meets the needs of the herd. Many breeders that now have 20 cows can have 30 cows with a change in the pasture management system. Rotational grazing programs have consistently been shown to be most effective for a cow herd as opposed to grazing and backgrounded cattle.

One of the reasons there is a greater level of production when converting to a rotational system is because there is a higher level of management used. Pasture fertility and plant species become focal points of the management instead of an afterthought.

Likewise, there is a tremendous amount of variation in the feed quality of hay and stored forages. Lab tests to determine the composition of the forage are the only way to be sure the feed is the right one, in the right amount, at the right time. Look at the alternatives in forages; for example, there may be times when the price of corn is cheap enough that your best hay should be sold to the neighbor who has a horse and the lower-quality hay can be supplemented with corn or other grains. Another possibility is using food processing wastes such as potato chips, canned beans, apple pomace, or candy. However, except for the beans, these products are notoriously low in protein so the cost of buying supplemental protein must be added in.

• Find a place to increase income. Everybody wants to get a higher price for their calves, and there may be some opportunities to do so. Study alternative markets. Our neighboring states to the south have excellent electronic markets available for selling feeder calves, and several Pennsylvania producers have used them to great advantage. There are cooperative markets available in some locations that allow you to pool your calves with a group of producers to market them to an individual feeder or to a specific market. A group in Chester County has been very successful with a program like this. Other innovations in marketing might include freezer beef sales or retained ownership programs. The key is to see what is available and try to find the one that will get you the best return.

• Be a good businessman. The cattle industry is a business and should be treated like one. Make production decisions based on their ability to return a profit. Keep good records and refer to them when a decision has to be made. Develop a balance sheet for the enterprise and do not be afaid to make investments in the herd when there is the opportunity for a profitable return.

Much of this discussion refers to specific management and marketing procedures. If you have a question or need more information, contact your county cooperative extension office.

Cattlemen's Field Day

The Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association and the Pennsylvania Angus Association are sponsoring a joint summer field day to be held at Linkland Farm in Mercer County on June 27.

Everyone is invited to attend. The meeting will feature educational demeonstrations and lectures in the morning, commercial exhibits, a judging contest, the "Keystone Ribeye on a Roll" for lunch, and a special presentation from Gary Wilson from the National Cattlemen's Association. Wilson will discuss how the beef industry should address the recent attacks on beef and the beef industry.

To reach Linkland Farm, located 8 miles north of Mercer on Hwy. 8, make a left on District Road for 4 miles, turn right at Maple Leaf Farm on Redfoot Road, and go to the first farm on the right.

Complete Egg School

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Eastern Shell Egg Quality School completed its 1992 course recently in Ocean City, Md.

The students came from egg production companies, the U.S. Army, retailers, and federal and state regulatory agencies. The geographical spread added to the experience base with representatives from Nigeria, Puerto Rico, Washington, Oregon, California, Texas, Arkansas, as well as the eastern seaboard.

With growing costs, the school depended on contributions from several commercial sponsors, including Chore-Time Equipment, Inc.; C.J. Martin; DeKalb Poultry Research; EMM Sales and Service, Inc.; and Hy-Line International.

This was the last course directed by Dr. Cecil Howes, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, who has been with the school for 46 years. Dr. Chuck Strong, University of Georgia, accepted the director's chair. Also recognized for their many years of service to the school were Tom Meredith, Maryland Department of Agriculture, and Sam Knowles, Virginia Department of Agriculture.

EGGS AND THE NORTH AMERICAN FREE TRADE AGREEMENT

Milton E. Madison
Ag Economist

How would the North American Trade Agreement (NAFTA) affect egg producers? This has been a topic of consideration for many of us recently and the subject of a March/April 1992 "Egg Industry" article by Lee Christensen of USDA.

In the world market, the United States has been the fourth largest egg producing country, in the late 1980s, producing 13 percent of the egg supply. China, the former USSR, and the European Community (EC) are larger producers and, along with the U.S., Japan, and Mexico, account for 80 percent of the world's 524 billion dozen eggs.

Only about 3 percent of egg production is traded, which means most eggs are consumed in the country where they are produced because of the country's desire to produce their own basic foods and trade barriers.

EC countries (58 percent), China (10 percent), and the U.S. (7 percent) account for 75 percent of egg exports. Much of the EC egg trade is between EC countries. The Netherlands, Belgium, Luxembourg, and Germany export 58 percent of all eggs traded, and Italy, France, and Germany import 43 percent of all eggs traded. Hong Kong (9 percent) and Japan (18 percent) are the other large egg importers and are also major customers of U.S. exporters.

Within North America, the U.S. is the major producer with 73 percent of 1991 egg production. Mexico produces 21 percent of the total and Canada 6 percent. Trade within North America is dominated by U.S. exports and Canadian imports. U.S. exports within North America represent 34 percent of total exports.

Canada received 27 percent of U.S. exports and Mexico 7 percent. The U.S. does import some eggs, primarily hatching eggs and eggs for breaking and further processing, but one-fourth of recent imports have been egg products. Canada provided 23 percent of U.S. egg imports in 1990 and 75-80 percent in 1991.

Canada exports primarily (91 percent) egg products, with Japan being its largest customer. It is also the leading supplier of egg products to the U.S. Canada's imports are primarily hatching and breaker eggs from the U.S. Canadian egg producers are gradually being exposed to more open trade with the U.S. through the existing free trade agreement.

Production costs in 1989 were nearly 50 cents per dozen higher in Canada than in the U.S., partially due to regulation of egg production by the Canadian Egg Marketing Association. If freer trade were allowed in Canada egg prices would fall dramatically for Canadian producers and consumers. The U.S. would see an increase in egg prices in the short-term as exports increased, but producers would soon adjust production to levels needed to serve the small Canadian market.

Mexico has been an irregular egg importer, depending on whether the government has been able to afford food imports. The U.S. supplies about two-thirds of Mexico's imports with 40 percent being hatching eggs, 33 percent table eggs, and 27 percent egg products.

Annual egg consumption per person is lowest in Canada at 196 eggs and declining at about one and one-half percent per year. In the U.S. we eat 235 eggs but the decline is about the same. Mexican egg consumption has increased recently because of government buying of eggs, and they now consume 206 eggs per year. The larger population and possibilities of increasing egg consumption make Mexico the best opportunity for egg exports from the U.S. in the longer term, if NAFTA is approved.

Lebanon CRP Sign-Up Begins June 15

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — Farmers with highly erodible cropland can enter this land into a federal farm program and get paid for it.

The 12th signup of the Conservation Reserve Program will be held June 15-26, said Tim Emenheiser, district conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service in Lebanon County.

Under CRP, producers agree to take this land out of crop production for at least 10 years and put it into trees, filter strips, perennial grasses, or wildlife planting. In return, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) makes annual payments to the producer and shares with them the cost of establishing an approved vegetative cover.

Bids on eligible land will be accepted based on environmental benefits such as significant soil erosion reduction, water quality improvement, and wildlife enhancement. As a result, bids from producers in the Chesapeake Bay and Great Lakes drainage area will be given high priority.

Pennsylvania has 41 counties in the Chesapeake Bay drainage area and two — Erie and Crawford — in the Great Lakes. In addition, producers in the Pequea-Mill Creeks Watershed in Lancaster County will be given special consideration.

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Services (ASCS) and SCS are responsible for carrying out the Conservation Reserve Program. SCS field office employees determine whether the submitted acres are eligible.

ASCS county offices verify eligibility requirements and submit the bids to Washington, D.C. The bids are then entered into a national pool. Only about 1.1 million acres will be accepted nationwide.

"CRP is an excellent way to improve soil, water, and wildlife resources," Emenheiser said. "It's a way to rest highly erodible land and still earn money on it. In addition, producers help improve the environment by reducing soil erosion, improving water quality and enhance wildlife habitat."

SCS employees assist farmers in developing a conservation plan, which is needed before a producer can participate in the program. Once the producer's acres are accepted into the program, SCS provides technical assistance to help him or her plant an approved vegetative cover.

Farmers in Pennsylvania signed 2,854 contracts to enter 98,978 acres of highly erodible cropland into the program to date.

For more information on how to enroll in the program, contact the Lebanon County SCS or ASCS offices at (717) 272-4618 or (717) 272-9321.

Tree Grower Meeting In August

HALIFAX (Dauphin Co.) — State College has been selected as the site for the Pennsylvania Christmas Tree Growers' Association's summer educational seminar and meeting on August 6-8.

About 400 Christmas tree growers from across the commonwealth and adjoining states will be hosted this year by the Penn State College of Agricultural Sciences.

Fifty exhibitors will display the latest equipment and services for the tree industry with a trade show from 4 p.m.-10 p.m. on Thursday, August 6 at the Ag Arena on the Penn State Campus. The program also features refreshments and an evening of entertainment.

Field tours to the university's seed orchards and Christmas tree test plots begin Friday morning, August 7. Tree growers will also travel to the Larry Kuhns' Choose and Cut tree operation near State College.

At the university test plots, Dr. Henry Gerhold will show the university's rooted cuttings of Douglas fir, Douglas fir progeny tests, Scotch pine and Douglas fir variety tests, and the seed orchard plantings. Four stations at the Kuhns' farm will show site selection processes, management practices, equipment used in the enterprise, and the choose and cut process of the business.

An extended luncheon is planned at the Ag Arena along with a continuation of the trade show on Friday.

Saturday's program begins at 8:30 a.m. on August 8 with a pesticide update training and safety course at the Days Inn, State College. Speakers for the event include Rayanne Lehman, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, Christmas tree IPM; Kerry Hoffman, Penn State, pesticide toxicity and exposure; Professor Don Daum, Penn State, sprayer accuracy; Sam Steele, PSU, tractor safety; and John Ellenberger, Agway, environmental regulations. PCTGA members can earn core and category points for attending the Saturday session.

Magician Richard Benninghoff will provide entertainment for the annual PCTGA banquet on Friday evening, August 7 at the Days Inn State College. The PCTGA business meeting is scheduled for 10:15 a.m. on Saturday, August 8 at the Days Inn, which will serve as the meeting headquarters.

The Ladies' Day Program takes place on Friday, August 7 with a trip to Curtin Village and the Eagle Iron Works in Milesburg. A luncheon is included in the day of shopping and sightseeing.

Shuttle bus and handicapped van service will be provided to and from the activities and returning to the host hotel.

Registration for the summer meeting is being handled this year by the Ag Conference Center at Penn State. For more information, call the PCTGA office (800) 547-2842.

Ag Secretary Appoints Pork Board Members

DES MOINES, Iowa — Secretary of Agriculture Edward Madigan has appointed six new members to the National Pork Board. Five will serve three-year terms beginning July 1 and one will serve a two-year term effective June 1.

The newly appointed pork producers for three year terms are Chester M. (Chip) Ray, Gobles, Mich.; Michael L. Wehler, Plain, Wis.; James M. Lewis, Welcome, Minn.; Esther J. Ver Meer, Leighton, Iowa; and Norman W. Montague, El Nido, Calif.

Carnell Korsmeyer, Beardstown, Ill., was appointed to the two-year term.

The six appointees were chosen from nine pork producers nominated by the National Pork Producers (Pork Act) delegate body in Atlanta, Ga. in March of this year.

Benefit Auction Serves Milk, Rootbeer Floats, Sundaes, Banana Splits, More To Entice Crowd

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — Guess what a group of Lebanon County farmers are doing June 19?

They're handing out free milk to those who buy a barbecue chicken dinner from the New Covenant Christian School.

The school is kicking off its two-day benefit auction with a barbecue, banana splits and sundaes served from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. on Friday, June 19.

At 6:30 p.m., an auction of Winross trucks will be held. The school has an Ertl truck, the only one made, that will be auctioned along with such ones as Richard Petty Racing, Ken Schrader Racing, White Oak Mills, Wenger Feeds, Hatfield, Carlos Leffler, Rough and Tumble, Keller Brothers and others.

Also to be auctioned Friday night are valuable coins such as 33 silver dollars dated from 1879 through 1935, nine half dollars, and several commemorative coins.

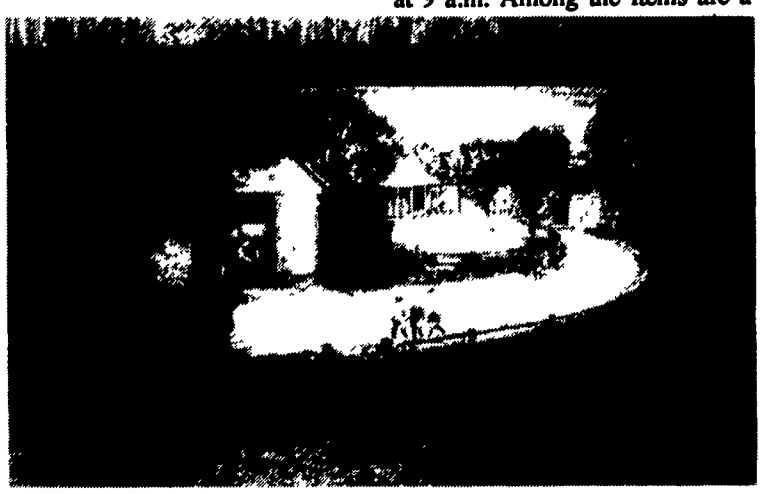
The Saturday auction will begin at 9 a.m. Among the items are a 3-D handcrafted carving 26x35-inches by Abner Zook studio, numerous quilts, sports cards, certificates, quilted feed and seed bags, hand-crafted furniture, flowers, and engraved 10th anniversary items.



Abner Zook's 3-D carving of The Village Blacksmith will be auctioned at the 10th annual benefit auction of New Covenant Christian School on Saturday, June 20, at 1 p.m.

Food specialties of the day include soft ice cream, homemade rootbeer, rootbeer floats, homemade chicken pot pie, pork barbecue, pork roll, sausage, hamburgers and more.

Marlin and Brenda Heisey, farmers and chairpersons for the auction held at the Lebanon Area Fairgrounds, Cornwall and Evergreen Roads, said this year's auction is extra special.

"It is the 10th anniversary of our school and it's the first year our school has been rebuilt after a fire destroyed it two years ago," Marlin said.

The fire was blamed on a faulty gas heater. It meant that 107 students, from kindergarten through eighth grade were without facilities to complete their school year. Schooling continued in two area churches while the building was being rebuilt on land donated by a patron. The land on the previous site was sold and the profits put toward the new building. Several other Christian schools donated books for the library.

With the support of the community and the patrons, the school opened its doors this school year. Proceeds from the auction will be used for operating expenses.

"The school is owned and operated as a nonprofit organization of parents, not a church denomination," said Vel Shearer, principal. "Each child is respected as an unique individual to be challenged academically, nurtured emotionally, and awakened spiritually."

Donations for the benefit auction are still being accepted. For details, call Marlin Heisey at (717) 867-4380; Don Bollinger, (717) 866-6744; or Mary Heagy (717) 273-2910.

Lehigh Ag Equipment Announces Management Changes

ALLENTOWN (Lehigh Co.) — Lehigh Ag Equipment, a division of Jaindl's Farms, headquartered here, announced changes in its management team recently.

The full-service John Deere Ag and Consumer Products Dealership has appointed the following to new positions:

Steve Makarevich, general manager, was raised on a 200-acre dairy farm with 70 registered holsteins in northwest New Jersey. Following graduation from Rutgers University with a B.A. in mathematics, Makarevich worked for North Central Jersey Farm Credit Association and later worked in the family John Deere business as parts and sales manager.

Makarevich's background in agriculture and sales, plus a working knowledge of John Deere equipment, will enable him to serve Lehigh Ag's customers.

Dan Place, sales manager, was born and raised on a dairy farm in Bucks County and was graduated from Quakertown Community High School.

Place brings five years of sales experience to Lehigh Ag and enjoys meeting farmers and discussing their equipment needs. When time allows, Place helps on the family's 400-acre farm, which has a 70 head dairy herd.

Gary George, parts manager, has worked in parts and service areas of Lehigh Ag since 1985. In the service department he specialized in combines, planters, and tractors.

George was raised in the Lehigh/Berks County area, attended Lehigh Co. Vo-Tech, and was graduated from Parkland Area High School. He resides with his wife and child in Berks County and also helps on a large crop farm as time permits.

Mick Williams, service manager, is originally from western Ohio where he grew up on a 1,000-acre grain and livestock farm. He was graduated from Northwestern Business College in 1980, specializing in diesel technology.

Williams worked for a Midwest John Deere dealership for 4 years and was owner/operator of a trucking firm for 4-½ years. He was also service manager for another dealership before joining Lehigh Ag earlier this year.

PennWest Hires Field Rep

MERCER (Mercer Co.) — Kelly L. Mankamyer, Somerset, has accepted the position of field representative in the Somerset branch of PennWest Farm Credit, ACA (Agricultural Credit Association).

Mankamyer is a graduate of Penn State University with a degree in dairy and animal science with a business option. Before coming to Penn West Farm Credit, she served as a farmland preservation specialist for Westmoreland County. She was raised on a beef farm in Somerset County.

Hilbert Is Outstanding Student

LITTLESTOWN (Adams Co.) — MandyJane Hilbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hilbert of Littlestown, was recently named winner of the 1992 Dekalb Agricultural Accomplishment Award.

The award, sponsored nationwide by Dekalb Plant Genetics, is presented to the outstanding senior agriculture student demonstrating superior scholarship, leadership, and supervised agricultural program. Mandy was presented the award at the commencement exercises Friday, June 5.

Mandy attends Littlestown High School where she has been active in many FFA activities, including secretary of the chapter for freshman year and president for the past three years.

In addition to being very active at local functions, Mandy has attended 10 state and national conventions and workshops, and has twice been a state finalist in public speaking competitions.

Mandy earned her Keystone FFA Degree in 1991 and plans to run for a state FFA office during FFA Week at Penn State this summer. Her agricultural projects include raising sheep, swine, and beef cattle, and working for local agribusinesses. Following graduation, Mandy plans to major in agriculture at Penn State.

MandyJane Hilbert

As this year's winner, Mandy receives a pin and certificate. He name will be inscribed on a spe cial plaque displayed in the agr culture department. The Dekal Award is presented at nearly 3,00 schools annually.

A long-time supporter of youth activities, Dekalb has presented Ag Accomplishment awards since 1947. In addition, the company sponsors the National FFA Proficiency Award (Placement in Ag Production) and college scholarships for study in certain ag careers.

Northrup King Unveils Trial Research

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Northup King Co. has received approval from the USDA-APHIS to conduct research trials of genetically engineered corn at company research sites in Stanton, Minn. and St. Joseph, III. this year.

Two trials are planned for each location: corn containing the Bt gene, which confers protection from certain insects (notably the European corn borer), and corn genetically engineered to resist the maize dwarf mosaic virus (MDMV).

With the research trials, Northrup King Co. intends to evaluate growth characteristics of these transformed corn hybrids and their resistance to European corn borer and MDMV under actual field conditions.

The European Corn Borer

Damage by European corn borers is estimated at $200-400 million in lost crops to American farmers annually.

The insects are difficult to control through external applications because such applications must be carefully timed, after eggs hatch but before larvae burrow into the stalk.

It is the second generation of corn borer, feeding inside the plant, which causes the most damage. The insect feeds on the stalk, weakening it — the ears drop and the plant falls.

MDMV

MDMV is a virus present in Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Tennessee, Kentucky and Ohio, particularly in the Ohio River Basin.

Discovered in the mid-1960s, the virus reduces yields of mature corn plants and stunts young plants, preventing them from maturing.

Symptoms include a yellow-or light-colored leaf and/or a mosaic patterned leaf of dark and light green.

Farmers have no remedy for the virus once the plant is infected. "Clean" crop management practices can help prevent the virus, and include rotating crops and eliminating host plants — particularly rhizome johnsongrass, which can carry the virus over the winter in its roots.

Aphids, which feed on both johnsongrass and corn, spread the virus. No accurate dollar estimates exist for crop losses due to MDMV.

Crops Expo Set In York Sept. 2

DAUPHIN (Dauphin Co.) — On Wednesday, September 2, the Penn State University College of Agricultural Sciences Department of Agronomy is sponsoring an agronomic crop field day called Crops Expo 1992.

The expo will be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the York County 4-H Center, Route 116, south of Route 30.

For more information, contact Elwood Hatley, Penn State University Agronomy Department, (814) 863-1013.

Badger's Agri Service Top Volume Dealer

DILLSBURG (York Co.) —Stahl Manufacturing, Inc. (manufacturer and distributor of replacement parts for Harvestore structures and unloaders), announced that Badger's Agri Service, Inc. is their top volume dealer for 1991.

While attending the dealer meeting recently, Badger's Agri Service also received awards for top ten dealer and member of the Century Club and $500,000 Club for the purchase of $500,000 of parts from Stahl Manufacturing, Inc.

Brian and Marlene Badger have been in business for eight years, and have always been in the top ten. Brian also serves on Dealer Council.

Wyoming/Lackawanna Install Dairy Maid, Ambassador

Ronald Clark
Susquehanna Co. Correspondent

Jermyn (Lackawanna Co.) — The Wyoming/Lackawanna Dairy Princess Pageant and dinner was held at the Lakeview Lounge, Heart Lake, on May 29.

A smorgasboard dinner was served by the Lakeview Lounge. Bob Parr, previously associated with Select Sires and now retired, emceed the event.

Kim Maddox, 1991-92 Dairy Princess, presented a summary of her year in office. These included writing more than a dozen newspaper articles, TV and Radio spots, participation in the PBS-TV Telethon, and many school promotions. She participated in the Dairy Promotion Booth and Giant Sundae at the Wyoming County Fair, the Dairy Princess Seminar at Lycoming College, and the Dairy Princess State Pageant. She cooperated with the County Extension Office, the 4-H Club activities, the DHIA organizations of both counties, and numerous other events, which place a favorable public image of the dairy industry.

Of special pride and importance was her activity in the promotion of the CHEERS program, in which encouragement is given to serve milk-based beverages instead of alcohol or non-dairy drinks. A highlight was a two-day display at the Viewmont Mall in Scranton, where about 4,000 persons viewed the display, and more than 2,000 were served chocolate milk or ice cream. At this event a live calf was exhibited, so that some of the urban people could see that dairy products are really from the farm, and not originally from the supermarket shelf.

There were no candidates for the Dairy Princess position for the coming year. Instead, the duties will devolve upon the Dairy Maid, Charlene Shupp, daughter of Dale and Judy Shupp of Tunkhannock. Now completing ninth grade at Tunkhannock Area High School, Charlene has a herd of five Holsteins and three Guernseys. In addition to her invaluable assistance to the Dairy Princess, Charlene found time to devote the 4-H Dairy Club, to showing her stock at the Wyoming County, Harford and Luzerne County Fairs. She also competed in the Wyoming County 4-H Roundup, and the District Roundup. She plans to continue these competitions, in both 4-H and open classes as appropriate.

Other extracurricular activities include the Variety Craft Club, the Tunkhannock Rifle Club, and she just completed her term as Worthy Advisor in the Order of Rainbow. She belongs to the Historians' Club, serves as a member of the County 4-H Council, and plays on the community softball team.

The Dairy Maid cited the use of milk and dairy products throughout history, including Chinese and Indian cultures, and in the Bible. She warned her audience to avoid artificial and substitute products in place of genuine dairy products, which carry the "Real Seal" emblem, two drops of milk with the words "Real Seal" inside. During the coming year, she wants to work more with school-age children, to make sure that they are not overcome by the constant advertising of products less desirable when dairy products can be used.

To assist Charlene in her promotional duties, her brother, David, was named Dairy Ambassador. David has a herd of six Holsteins and four Guernseys. He will appear at various functions when it it impossible for the Dairy Maid to attend, as well as helping in various efforts where more than one pair of hands are needed. David is 13, and participates in Little League baseball, soccer and track.

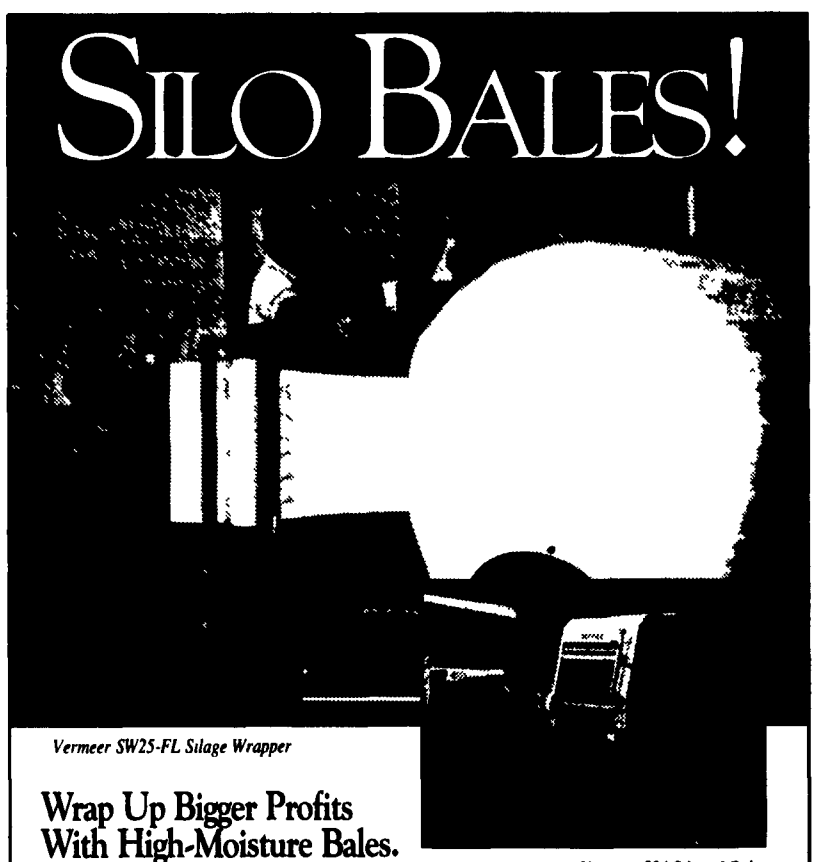
SILO BALES!



Vermeer SW25-FL Silage Wrapper

Vermeer 504 Silage I Baler

Wrap Up Bigger Profits With High-Moisture Bales.

Introducing an entire system designed specifically for harvesting high-moisture hay and silage:

- Vermeer Gator Mowers ... capable of cutting through virtually everything, from wet trampled hay to fire anthills
- Vermeer 504 Silage Baler ... the only baler in the field today specifically designed for high-moisture baling, and able to handle the extra weight
- Vermeer Silage Wrappers ... seal the freshness and nutritional value of balage and silage within a tightly stretch-film-wrapped package, one that's resistant to weather conditions and rodents

The Bottom Line ...

(1) valuable, highly palatable hay packages — individually wrapped — that feed out fresh and improve the health and performance of your herd,

(2) increased milk production and greater weight gains for your dairy herd and beef cow operations,

(3) a reduction in the costs of livestock inputs directly effecting your profit margins, less storage and equipment expense. Discover the savings, the quality, the improved livestock performance!

Berks Dairy Farmer Reflects On 30 Years Of Success

CONNIE LEINBACH
Berks Co. Correspondent

CENTERPORT (Berks Co.) — They all shook their heads more than 30 years ago when Nicholas and Verna Kopicz bought the "poorest farm in Centerport."

"That was the talk of Centerport," Kopicz said recently as he reflected on his subsequent decades as a successful dairy farmer.

"I said I couldn't lose anything (by buying that farm)," he said with a smile.

And he didn't, but it wasn't a piece of cake, either.

Kopicz related how back then, Verna worked the farm with more than 30 dairy cows and 1,000 chickens while caring for three small boys. Kopicz supplemented the family income working in a cement mill.

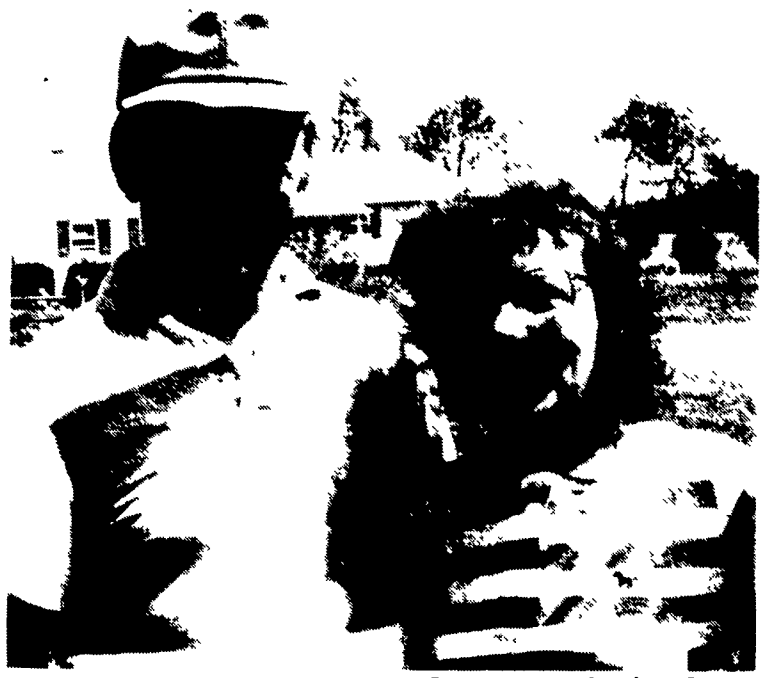
When Carol was born, Nicholas gave up working in the mill.

"I had four kids and I couldn't (work the farm) alone," Verna said.

But full-time farming led to the acquisition of more acreage.

"After we bought the second farm, they gave up that talk (of failure)," Kopicz said about his family's burgeoning success.

But the townsfolk did chatter that the Kopicz's paid "too much" for that adjacent farm.



Verna and Nicholas Kopicz of Centerport take time from farm chores to reflect on their more than 30 years as dairy farmers and founders of the Centerport Milk Haulers Cooperative.

A young Richard Kopicz poses with one of the first trucks the Centerport Milk Haulers Cooperative used to haul milk in 1966.

"When we bought the third farm, everybody was up in arms about it, saying we paid too much," Kopicz said.

He approached one bank for a loan to buy this farm and was turned down, though his credit had been good. A farmer credit company loaned him the money, but Kopicz said he never went back to that first bank.

Now the family holdings consist of more than 650 acres in this rolling section of northern Berks County.

Each of the Kopicz's three children lives in homes on adjacent lots that were given to them when they became of home-owning age.

"They all wanted to live around here," Verna said. "Now we can all watch each other's homes and help each other."

The original farmhouse is occupied by their son, Richard, and his family, she said.

"He's our farm helper," she said.

Two other sons, Bruce and Leonard, are full-time truck drivers and daughter, Carol, is a nurse.

Verna and Nicholas live in a rancher they built across the street from the main farm, which is home to 58 Holsteins, some of which are registered.

But Kopicz's involvement in dairy farming hasn't always ended at the farm.

Earlier this year, Kopicz retired as vice president of the Centerport Dairy Haulers Cooperative, which he had helped found back in 1965.

It was basically out of necessity that Kopicz and four other Centerport dairy farmers began hauling their own milk to milk processors.

"We had a private hauler picking up the milk in cans," Kopicz explained. But that hauler didn't want the milk cans past a certain deadline.

So the farmers thought they might as well haul their own milk if they had to pick up the cans.

After they organized their group, they borrowed two trucks from two other can-truck drivers for hauling the milk to the Lehigh Valley Dairy Cooperative, now Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, headquartered in Southampton.

"At first it was a lot of running around," Kopicz said. He said that at one time he also drove one of the trucks part-time.

The huge tankers became a fascination for Leonard and Bruce, who helped drive them, leading to their current occupations.

As the cooperative tallied its successes, the members realized their first instincts were correct.

Now the cooperative has 10 tractors and trailers hauling milk from 125 farmers in the organization.

Most of the members are in the Centerport area, with some in Jonestown, Lebanon County, and some in Lancaster, he said.

When the cooperative began, he said, they kept the hauling charge down as low as they could to their members.

Atlantic, however, controls the hauling by requiring haulers to bid on their services.

But profit isn't the motive for the cooperative, Kopicz said.

"We want enough to maintain our equipment," he said, adding that there's no business location for which the group has to pay overhead. Meetings are held on a rotating basis at each of the seven board members' homes.

"Any profits are put back into the operation," Kopicz said, with balances refunded to the members.

This year, in fact, business was so good that they were able to refund 2 cents per 100 pounds of milk back to the members.

"That's a good sign," he said. "It shows we're making money."

Although Kopicz is leaving the future of the cooperative up to others, he has not yet given up dairy farming even though he's at the age many people retire.

"He said two years ago he would quit milking," Verna said. "But I don't think he's going to retire."

After hearing that, Nicholas just smiled and gazed out over his farm.

Nicholas Kopicz, center, accepts a commemorative plaque from Donald Landis, president of the Centerport Milk Haulers Cooperative, for his more than 20 years as vice president of the organization and as a co-founder of it. Verna Kopicz, right, is also honored for her share of doing the farm work over the years.

Some of the tankers owned by the Centerport Milk Haulers Cooperative to take milk from 125 members to the Atlantic Dairy Cooperative in Southampton.

The Kopicz's 58-head of Holsteins lope slowly from the pasture into the barn, stopping to gaze at a visitor taking their photo.

Harford County Sponsors Farm Visitation Day

FOREST HILL, Md. — Harford County's Annual Farm Visitation Day, the event which brings rural, suburban and urban people together, is scheduled for Sunday, June 28 from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

There are two "Welcome Farms" for the Sunday event — Waffle Hill Farm in Churchville and Mt. Felix Dairy Farm outside of Havre de Grace, Md.

Waffle Hill Farm, owned and operated by the Jane and Lawrason Sayre Family of Churchville, is a purebred Angus beef operation. This farming operation was started in 1960 with 144 acres and 20 commercial Angus cows. Since then the farm has grown to 217 acres and converted the cattle operation to 140 registered Angus cows and calves.

Bulls raised on the farm are performance tested and have been used by breeders nationwide. One unique labor and cost efficient feeding technique used by the farm is an intensive grazing system with high-tensile electric and portable polywire cross fencing. Waffle Hill Farm is located at 3330 Cool Branch Road in Churchville.

Mt. Felix Farm located just outside of Havre de Grace on Rt. 155 is operated by Kelly and David Keyes. This dairy farm comprises 300 acres of corn, triticale, alfalfa, and pasture for 85 registered and grade Holsteins.

This event is designed to be educational and fun for the whole family. Along with the Sayre Family, the Keyes, the Harford County Farm Bureau, and Harford County Extension Service will be sponsoring the event.

To aid in farm visitation identification, there will be "Welcome Farm" signs posted along roads leading to the farm sites.

The Best of the Best

The Wheeling 2 oz. Seal of Quality coating represents the best of the best in the Wheeling Corrugating line of premium galvanized roofing and siding. Every panel that carries the 2 ounce coating assures you are getting the toughest, the most durable, the most corrosion resistant galvanized sheet available in today's marketplace.

2oz. Seal of Quality Wheeling

Genuine Old-Time Quality
Every Wheeling 2 oz. sheet is manufactured from heavy gauge steel, topped with an extra thick zinc coating, and formed into profiles that contribute strength and good looks. Build with a Wheeling 2 oz. sheet and you'll be working with the kind of durability and dependability that's been a standard in the industry for almost 100 years.

The Proof is in the Process
The performance behind the Wheeling 2 oz. Seal of Quality is possible because of Wheeling's patented Cook-Norteman manufacturing process. This technology allows a more consistent quality product, and a more uniform coating with unsurpassed zinc adhesion. The process takes more handling and more turns, but the end result is a super premium panel that has its own limited 20-year performance warranty.

Dimensions and Specifications
If your building plans call for roofing and siding materials with exceptional corrosion resistance, minimum upkeep, and old-time toughness, you'll want to check the specs of Wheeling 2 oz. Seal of Quality galvanized.
Gauge: 28
Lengths: Up to 40'
Steel: Full hard, 90,000 psi, cold rolled Wheeling-Pittsburgh carbon steel.

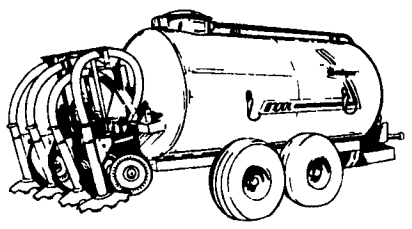
BADGER DISC INJECTOR



- Badger's exclusive patented design injects manure in a uniform ¼ "x22" layer under each injector shank
- Places manure in the plant rooth growth zone maximizing nutrient use by the crop
- No surface manure exposure substantially reduces nutrient loss and odor problems
- Perfect for minimum till operations since the Disc-injector loosens and aerates soil
- Retrofits any Badger injector as well as most competitive units

A Satisfied Customer...

JOHN R. RODGERS, of Belleville had three styles of fencing installed totaling a mile on his farm. John offers these comments. "I looked at others fencers and determined that Beaver Fence Systems had the people that could do a quality job and a quality fence to keep the cattle where I want them. The flexibility of the fence gives me full utilization of the land with maximum efficiency. The job was completed in two days including a barnyard fence, plus 6 and 4 wire pasture fencing."

BREWEX - For Use In Dairy Feeds

BREWEX is used extensively in complete dairy formulations to contribute utilizable energy. It is a price/performance value when used in dry feeds, liquid feeds and on-farm mixes.

MIX WITH DRY FEEDS: BREWEX is found in commercial pelleted rations for dairy, hogs and poultry as an energy source to replace corn. BREWEX replaces corn on a pound for pound dry basis and provides for improved pellet durability, reduced mineral segregation, dust control and improved palatability in dairy rations.

ON-FARM MIXING

A commercial Jersey dairy farm, having over ten years of experience in feeding BREWEX to partially replace corn finds that

- BREWEX replaced 5% to 10% corn/day
- BREWEX improves butterfat about 0.1%
- BREWEX mixed with forage reduces mortality due to displaced abomasum
- BREWEX helps cattle to stay on feeds

MEAT MATTERS MOST

HOME BRED lambs like these have been winning for me and my buyers in the Mid-Atlantic area. They LOOK GOOD. They HANDLE GOOD. They CUT GOOD. My latest triumph was Grand Champion carcass at the 1991 Keystone International Livestock Exposition. Check these stats.

The Eby Wrangler...
★ Better Looking
★ Better Built
★ Better Value

The Wrangler Model 2000-OH represents a new level of value in livestock trailers.

Its standard specifications, top-quality components and proven engineering are found in other Wrangler models. But the new 2000-OH is less expensive. By standardizing height and width and by limiting the number of optional accessories, Eby lowers the production costs for this model. Now you can get all our traditional craftsmanship in a top-value gooseneck.

Unlike other "budget" trailers on the market, the Wrangler 2000-OH achieves a price breakthrough without compromising quality. Consider these features, standard on the new Wranger 2000-OH:

- 7,000# Dexter Torque-Flex axles
- Steel-belted radial tires, 10-ply rating
- Aerodynamic, attractive design
- Sealed beam lights with enclosed, externally accessible wiring
- 2-year warranty

Specifications
- Available in 14', 16', 18', 20' lengths
- 7' Width
- 6'6" Inside height

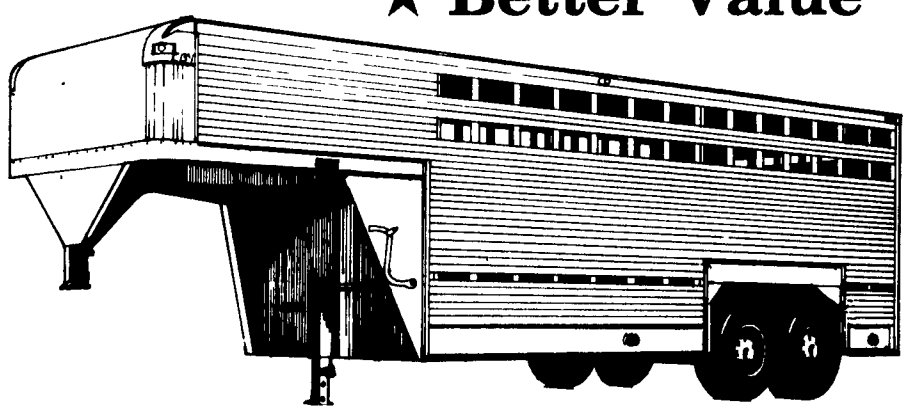
The Eby Wrangler...
★ Better Looking
★ Better Built
★ Better Value



The Wrangler Model 2000-OH represents a new level of value in livestock trailers.

Its standard specifications, top-quality components and proven engineering are found in other Wrangler models. But the new 2000-OH is less expensive. By standardizing height and width and by limiting the number of optional accessories, Eby lowers the production costs for this model. Now you can get all our traditional craftsmanship in a top-value gooseneck.

Unlike other "budget" trailers on the market, the Wrangler 2000-OH achieves a price breakthrough without compromising quality. Consider these features, standard on the new Wranger 2000-OH:

- 7,000# Dexter Torque-Flex axles
- Steel-belted radial tires, 10-ply rating
- Aerodynamic, attractive design
- Sealed beam lights with enclosed, externally accessible wiring
- 2-year warranty

Specifications

- Available in 14', 16', 18', 20' lengths
- 7' Width
- 6'6" Inside height

Zick Dairy Showcases Innovation, Diversification

RONALD CLARK
Susquehanna Co. Correspondent

HARFORD (Susquehanna Co.) — By pampering their dairy herd and keeping careful track of their beef animals, the Zick Farm has weathered some tough times, including the death of a family member.

Operating one of the largest farms in Susquehanna County, Jim Zick's operation includes more than 900 acres, of which 800 are owned and 100 acres rented.

The main enterprise is a herd of about 125 milking head of registered Holsteins, with an equal number of young and dry stock. Jim does his own breeding, using semen from Taurus, and continually seeks to improve the herd performance with the use of better bulls.

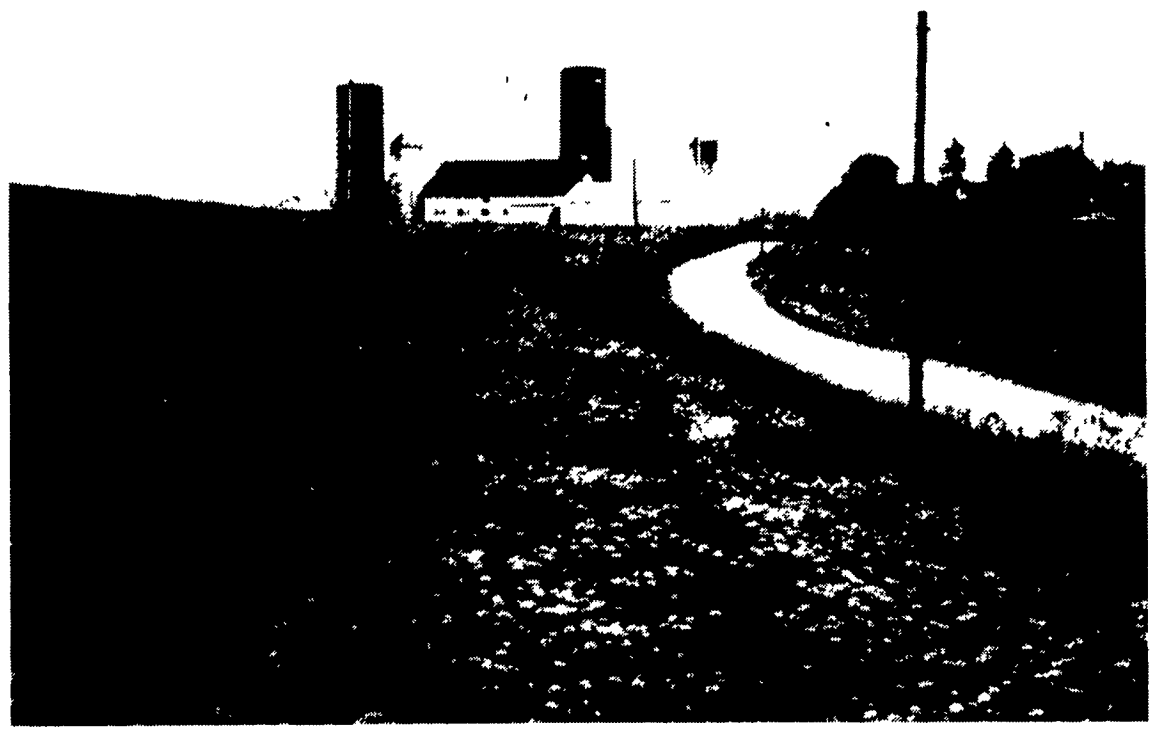
Milk is sold to Readington Farms, White House, New Jersey, which is an enterprise of the Shoprite Corporation.

Zick keeps the milking herd confined in the barn much of the time, only turning the stock out for a couple of hours to detect heat and to provide exercise. In the past, he has employed two hired hands, and with help from his sister, Joanne, a registered nurse, as well as his father, Bill, he was able to keep the operation going.

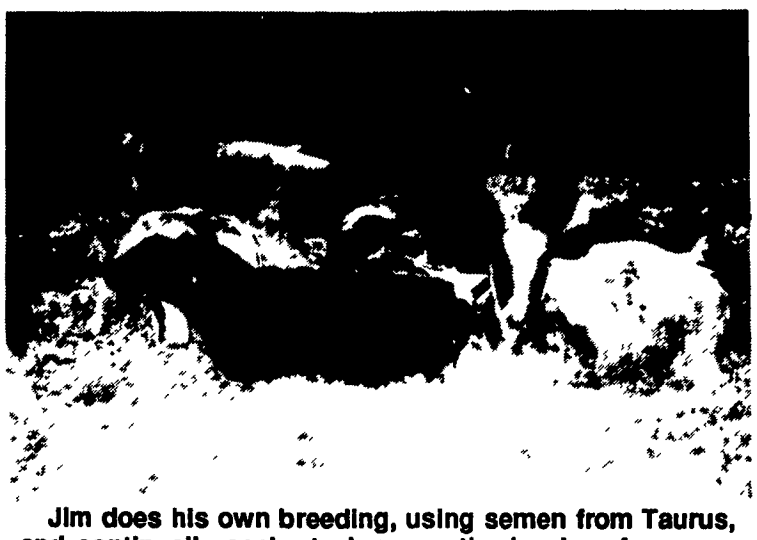
However, since the death of his father last fall at the age of 84, he now expects to get a lot more help from his own sons and daughters. He and his wife, the former Carol Manning, have five children. Brandon is 13, Bristol, 10, then Jeffrey, nine, Bridget, seven, and finally, Christina, one year old.

All of the children have had their chores, except the youngest, and now all are expected to pitch in and take up the slack left by their grandfather's death. During summers, and during school time as well, they have to schedule time to take care of their duties.

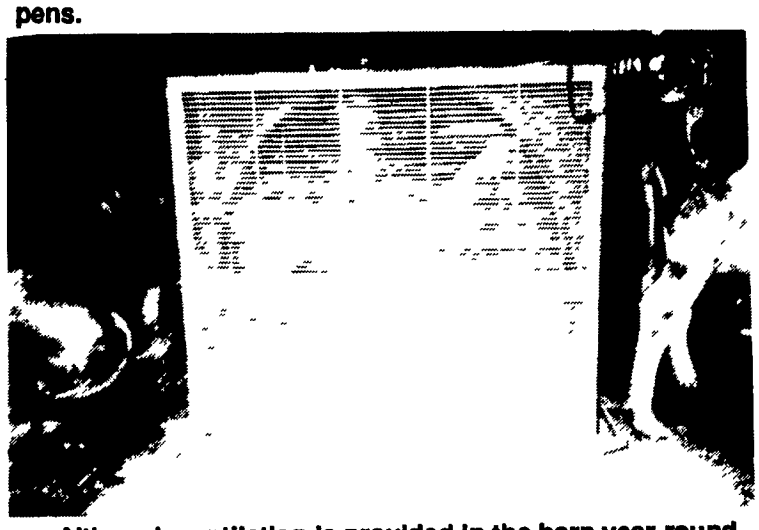
The cattle, especially the milking herd, are definitely pampered. The dairy barn is bright and airy, and rubber pads are provided for them to lie on.



Zick expressed concern over the difficult times being experienced by dairy farmers. While he believes that his operation can survive, because of efficiency and home-grown labor, he worries that many others are nearly at a breaking point.



Jim does his own breeding, using semen from Taurus, and continually seeks to improve the herd performance with the use of better bulls. Here is a view of one of the calf pens.



Although ventilation is provided in the barn year-round, during the summer the regular fans are supplemented by larger fans to provide continuous air movement.

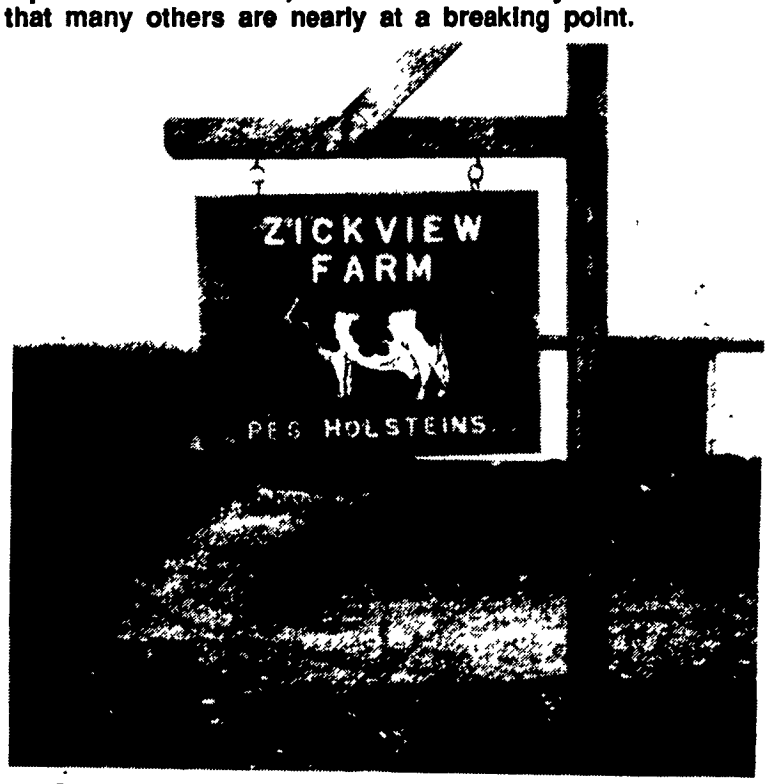
Jim has a standing order for delivery of a trailer load of kiln-dried shavings from a firm in New England, and uses this amount each year. Although ventilation is provided in the barn year-round, during the summer the regular fans are supplemented by larger fans to provide continuous air movement.

Zick notes that he has had much less pneumonia problems since using the supplementary fans, and is thoroughly sold on them. He insists that they have paid for themselves over and over by reducing veterinary costs.

Almost two years ago, Zick began to use newspaper bedding on all his young stock. He has a shredding machine which can shred almost any paper product, including newspapers, magazines, catalogs, telephone books, etc. He combines the paper with a mix of hay, and has found that two large grocery bags of papers, combined with one bale of hay, makes the most favorable bedding product. The manure is liquified, and after it is spread on the fields, the paper is rapidly mulched into the soil.

During the growing season, while the stock eats, produces and relaxes, the family are busy taking care of about 70 acres of corn and 300 acres of hay. Two large silos and two small ones are used.

The Zicks have also developed a herd of beef cattle, now numbering about 100. They are Red Angus, Herfords, and Belgian Blue breeds. The older boys, Brandon and Bristol, showed beef cattle at the Harford Fair last fall, and expect to continue to show both in the 4-H and open classes.



Operating one of the largest farms in Susquehanna County, Jim Zick's operation includes more than 900 acres, of which 800 are owned and 100 acres rented.

Jim supports the efforts of his children in 4-H, and believes that farming has to be encouraged by the programs. As the younger children become old enough, they will also become involved in various 4-H programs. Jim insists that his boys do all of the work involved with their show animals, and believes they will learn the good practices to follow and the less desirable ones to avoid by active experience.

In addition to keeping up the running of the large operation, Jim makes time to devote to community service. He is a member of the Harford Congregational Church. He also serves on the school board of the Mountain View School near Kingsley.

He contributes his business experience to the school operation, and although a new elementary building was occupied during the past winter, there was no millage increase. He hopes to work with

Susquehanna Co. Correspondent

Born in Wayne County, Ronald Clark grew up in Susquehanna County and was graduated from the Harford Vocational High School. He earned his B.S. at Penn State and his M.S. at the University of Scranton. He has an EdD degree from the London Institute of Technology.

After teaching vocational ag for eight years, Clark was employed by International Correspondence Schools, Scranton, for 20 years, becoming dean. After a stint in an educational association in Washington, D.C., Clark became vice president, education, at USA Training Academy, Newark, Del., training secretaries and truck drivers. He retired in 1985, and returned to his farm in Wyoming County.

Clark now does educational consulting and freelance writing. He is married to the former Patricia Yeakel, of Philadelphia. They have four daughters and several grandchildren.

Contestants Prepare For Cumberland County Pageant

CARLISLE (Cumberland Co.) — Three teens will compete in the Cumberland County Dairy Princess Pageant to be held at the Embers Convention Center, Carlisle, on June 19, at 8 p.m.

The contestants include the following: Laura Lee Deitch, daughter of Chester Sr. and Kathy Deitch of Mechanicsburg. Laura will be completing her sophomore year at Cumberland Valley High School. She hopes to study radiology at Holy Spirit Hospital.

Since this is the 25th year of the Cumberland County Pageant, former dairy princesses will attend and give an update on their activities since their reign.

Entertainment will be by "This Bears Repeating," a music ministry by Jim and Lynda Bear and their four children.

his fellow directors to insure the highest possible quality of education, but with consideration of expenses so that taxpayers will not be unduly burdened.

Zick expressed concern over the difficult times being experienced by dairy farmers. While he believes that his operation can survive, because of efficiency and home-grown labor, he worries that many others are nearly at a breaking point.

Last year's drought made conditions worse, and any further disasters could well mark the demise of many near-marginal operations. He is also concerned about the high costs of capitalizing a dairy farm, and wonders how younger men and women can get started in the business.

Science Teacher To Attend Ag Workshop

CHAMBERSBURG (Adams Co.) — Donald Summers, a 4th grade science teacher at the Bermudian Springs Elementary School, has been selected to attend the new program, initiated by the Pennsylvania Foundation For Better Living and the Adams County Farmers' Association, in which he will learn to "feed minds for a successful tomorrow."

According to committee selection chairman Ed Wilkinson, "Mr. Summers is committed to increasing the understanding and awareness of the interdependence of people, food, fiber and the environment among Pennsylvania's elementary and secondary school students, educators, farmers, and the general public for the purpose of encouraging critical thinking and wise decision making to maintain a viable agricultural system conductive to a healthy and economically stable society."

The fun-filled, hands-on workshop will be conducted July 20-23 at the Pennsylvania State University to focus on the wholistic educational approach, enabling elementary teachers to develop projects and lessons that integrate agricultural concepts into their existing curriculum.

Participants are requested upon completing the workshop to return to the county and share materials and ideas with other local teachers.

As a teacher sponsor, the Adams County Farmers' Association will be establishing an agriculturally literate "ambassador" in the county, committed to increasing the understanding of the relationship between agriculture, consumers, and the economy.

The workshops will be geared toward teachers with no or limited agricultrual background. The participants will be introduced to numerous resources.

Farm Picnic July 28

ARENDTSVILLE (Adams Co.) — The annual family picnic of the Adams County Farmers' Association (ACFA) will be held on Tuesday, July 28, at the South Mountain Fairgrounds beginning at 7:00 p.m.

A special invitation is extended to all friends and associates of ACFA.

Committee chairperson Dave Gladfelter, reported that during the program, service representatives of PFA, such as insurance, FMBAS, Market Master, etc., will be available to discuss problems or concerns.

Members are requested to bring their own table service and covered dish. The association will provide the meat, roll, and beverage. Games for the younger members will be provided.

Special door prizes and entertainment will be in store for those attending. The safety poster contest winners will be announced and entrants will receive their prizes.

"We must organize as a group to secure any favorable legislation within the government. By coming together with our peers and associates in a night of social activity will aide in our needs at this time," said President Dave Wenk, "Everybody, every profession, is organized today. Unless farmers are organized, they will not be able to influence their legislators."

The number of remaining farmers in Adams County is growing smaller each year, but a minority could be a potent force in securing legislation.

IXL

Anti-friction Metal Conditioner

Efficiency is our Newest Resource

Science brings a new dimension to Anti-Friction

An oil additive metal conditioner product ahead of its time, IXL gives protection far superior to just oil or lubricants, by blending IXL, to your oil, you can give tons of your equipment priceless protection, for pennies per ounce, IXL saves you money on Maintenance Costs, Fuel, Etc. IXL products are designed to be used in gas & diesel engines (new and used), Hydrostatic, manual, and automatic transmissions, compressors, gear boxes, hydraulics, turbos, pumps, bearings (all types) and much more. The results of using IXL are: minimum metal wear, giving maximum engine and machine life; IXL reduces heat and friction; IXL also helps to maintain and recondition seals and gaskets keeping these items pliable, firm and flexible. Will help prevent leaks. IXL is NOT a lubricant fortifier, such as graphite, moly or PTFE, IXL DOES NOT change tolerances. IXL is a metal conditioner which Treats the metals 3 to 5 microns deep. IXL is one of the highest quality products on the market today. IXL is guaranteed.

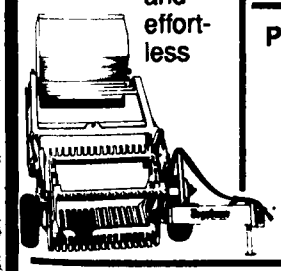
FOR HEAVY DUTY QUALITY ROCK PICKERS AND ROCK RAKES!

Ideal For The Construction Site Or The Farmers' Fields: RD320 ROCK DIGGER IN STOCK!

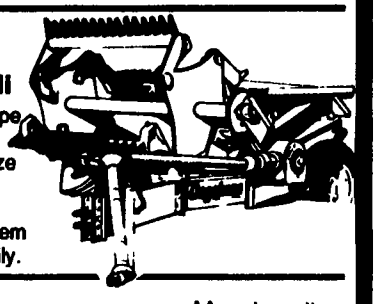
The reality is, this machine must endure some of the roughest treatment known. Designed to withstand this type of treatment, the Degelman RD320 will solve most of your rock and boulder frustrations. It digs, pulls, grabs and removes the boulder from your field in one operation.

ROCK PICKERS

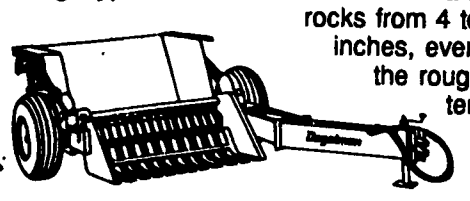
Hi-Lift
The Hi-Lift makes field piling and the removal of rocks by truck simple and effort-less



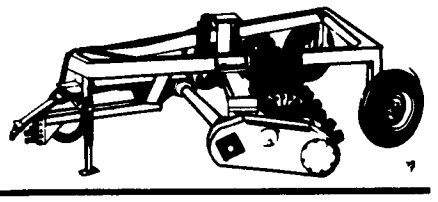
Semi-Hi
A hardworking reel type picker ideal for field piling. Picks gravel-size stones to boulders in continuous picking action, then dumps them conveniently and easily.



Prong Type
Man handles rocks from 4 to 36 inches, even on the roughest terrain



ROCK RAKE
The Degelman Rock Rake is designed to windrow small to medium sized rocks and other ground debris for easy picking. Rock-free fields mean less down-time, greater profits.



TIME IS MONEY and when your equipment is down, it costs you plenty. That's why Degelman engineered farm implements are a wise investment.

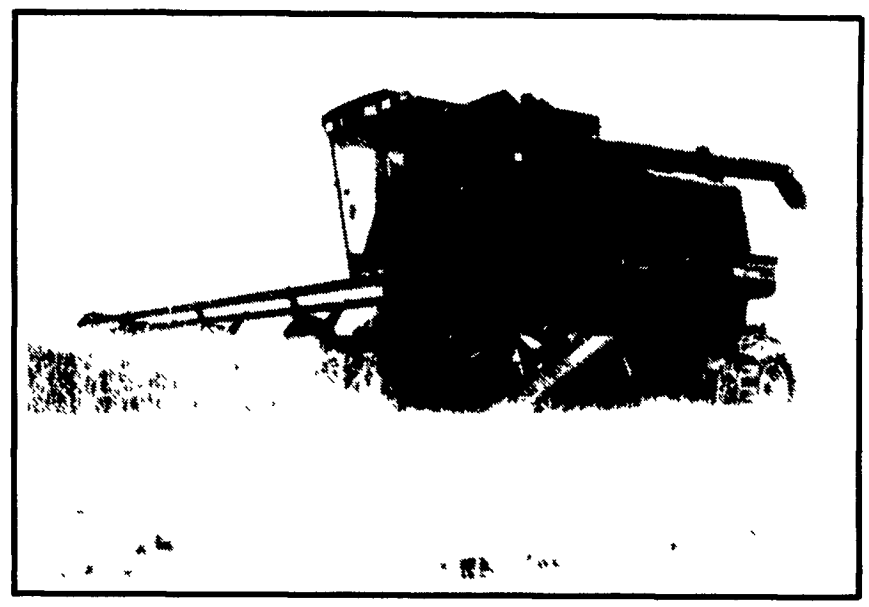
WHAT DO YOU WANT FROM YOUR COMBINE?

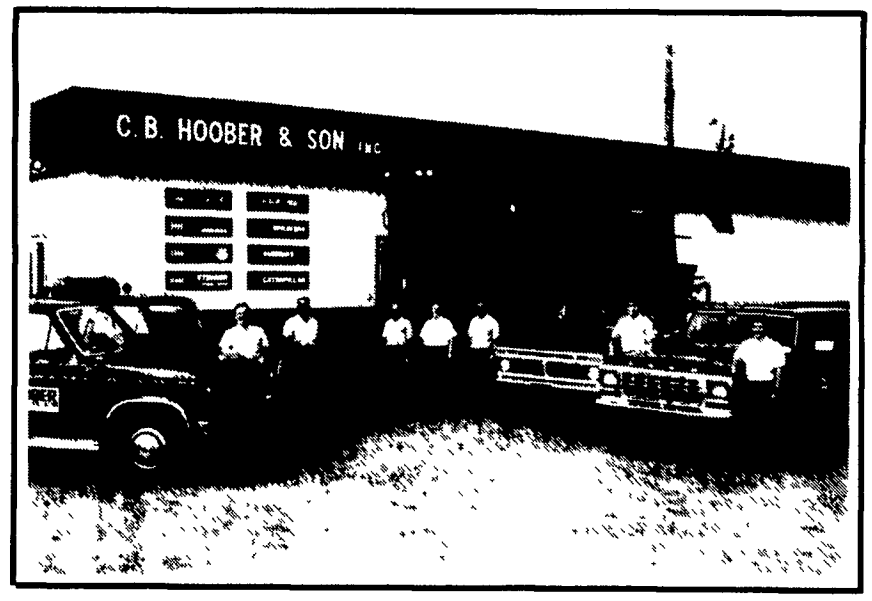
DEPENDABILITY?

Moving when the grain and weather conditions are fit: that is what CASE IH's Axial Flow Combines do. They are built tough to last— many are running over 4,000 hours. How long will an axial flow last? We don't know yet.



RELIABILITY?

Compared to conventional or other style rotary combines, the Axial Flow puts more premium quality grain in the tank and leaves less grain in the field. Why else do most all the growers of food quality corn own axial flow's?



A GOOD DEALER?

C.B. Hoober & Son, Inc. have specialized in Axial Flow combine service since their introduction in 1977 (5) Hoober servicemen work on combines year-round. Where else can you get that support?

Get the Advantage of the Unbeatable COMBINE COMBINATION:

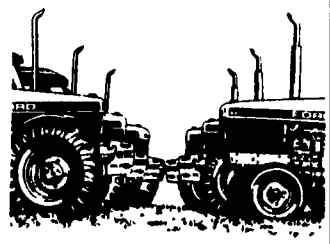
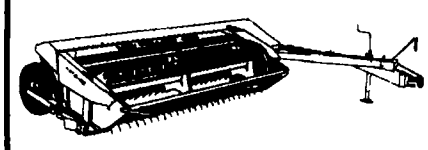
- New transmission choices, including the 16x16 Pulse Command™



The ultimate 9-foot mower-conditioner



Stop by and take a look at the best nine-foot mower-conditioner on the market — the Model 492 Haybine® mower-conditioner You get only the best

Close, even cutting from the lightweight header that floats over ground contours.

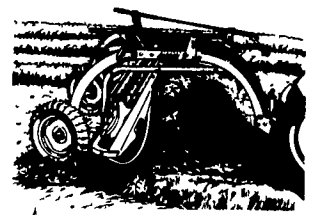
Thorough but gentle conditioning from chevron-design inter meshing rubber rolls.

No plugging thanks to the torsion bar roll pressure system.

Swath to windrow in seconds without tools

Stop by and take a look! You deserve the ultimate nine-foot mower-conditioner.

The original Rolabar® rake

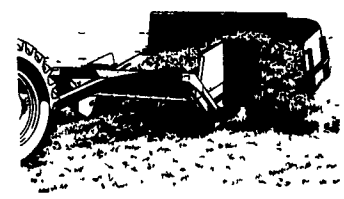


Don't settle for second best

Depend on the rugged construction of New Holland Rolabar® rakes. More farmers buy New Holland rakes than all other brands combined because they're rugged, reliable and pick up more of your valuable hay. Don't buy an imitation. See us for an original.

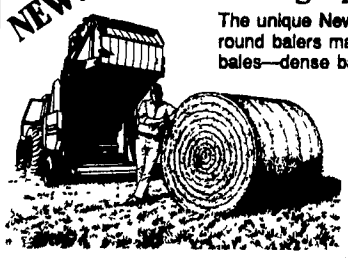
Save hay Save money

SPECIAL PRICE ON NH 144 WINDROW INVERTER



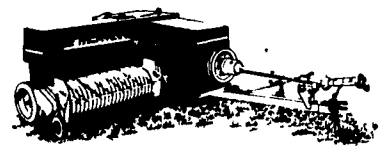
The New Holland Model 144 windrow inverter can save your hay crop by turning it over to dry, without losing valuable leaves. Get your hay out of the field sooner, before it rains. Of, if it's been rained on, dry it quickly and gently. Make your hay more valuable with the "144".

NEW! Exclusive design produces best-ever bales



The unique New Holland Models 650 and 660 Roll-Belt™ round balers make the best quality bales ever. Tight bales—dense bales. Good-looking, square-shouldered bales that hold up to the weather. The patented Roll-Belt design means fast, sure core formation, even in the toughest crops. The adjustable hydraulic belt-tensioning system puts maximum bale density control at your fingertips. And, you can choose from three optional automatic tying mechanisms for the smoothest package ever.

Best-in-class performance, capacity



The "570" New Holland square baler from Ford New Holland brings together performance and reliability, along with improved capacity.

Ted fast... beat the weather

You can beat the weather... and save time and money. The New Holland Model 163 tedder is nearly 18' wide, so you can ted faster and bale sooner. And when you're ready to move, the "163" folds for easy transport.. no tools necessary.

FREE YOURSELF FROM SPREADER CHAINS AND SAVE MONEY

The proven Hydra-Spread design can free you from the grief and maintenance of spreader apron chains for good!

This low maintenance spreader features solid poly boards both on the sides and the floor for slippery, no-stick performance. Hydraulic push power replaces the extensive mechanism needed in ordinary spreaders.'

Why pay more for yesterday's ideas and designs? The design of tomorrow is PRICED RIGHT and will be on the job for years. We deliver to your farm.

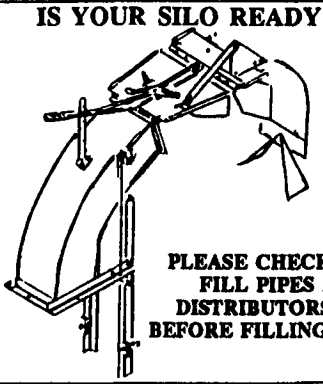
S & S SILO SERVICE

ATTENTION FARMERS
Strengthen And Reseal Your Silo With Shotcrete
STRONGER AND WILL OUT LAST PLASTER

IS YOUR SILO READY TO BE FILLED WITH GRASS SILAGE?



PLEASE CHECK YOUR FILL PIPES AND DISTRIBUTORS NOW BEFORE FILLING SEASON

S&S Silo Service prepares the silo surface by using a 3,000 lb. pressure washer, thus making the silo moist, making a much better surface to bond shotcrete. After shotcreting, S&S always takes away any roughness by applying a steel trowel finish.

The excellent bonding of shotcrete to the silo will keep out moisture and prevent mold from growing on the side of the silo.

WILL SERVICE 3 TO 4 DAYS OR LESS ON MOST JOBS

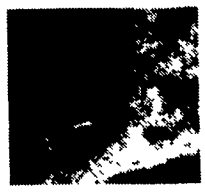
WARNING, ALL SILO OWNERS
It's important that you know your silo needs maintenance. Your silo will not fall when its empty. Please check your silo for damage or check your insurance policy!

WARNING! DETERIORATING CONCRETE FROM CORN JUICE!

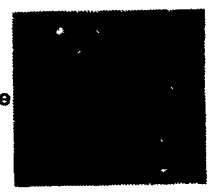
RESURFACES INTERIORS:
- Coats the silo's interior
- Protects feed in storage
- Durable, tough, acid-resistant
- Increases useful life
- Economical

Before The silo's interior with plaster damaged and stave exposed

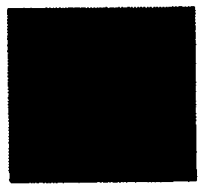


After The surface is reconditioned, and a new, thick, tough surface will protect stored feed

REPAIRS HOLES:
- Repairs even large holes
- Up to twice the strength of the original stave
- Rapid application
- Durable surface

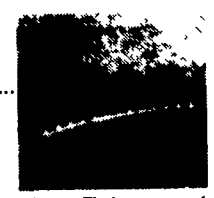


Before A hole is worn completely through the silo wall

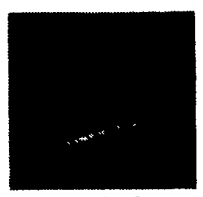


After With the hole repaired by ShotCrete and a new surface applied, the silo is ready for years of use

EXTENDS USEFUL LIFE:
- Support for old foundations
- Special repairs can be made... quickly and economically
- Little or no forming needed
- Stronger than the original



Before The bottom part of the staves are completely worn away



After The ShotCrete System repairs and replaces the missing structure

Shotcrete is also good for repairing stone walls

A concrete hopper floor represents a structurally sound approach to silo floor design, giving aid to natural flow of materials and excellent stress dissipation.

FLYING DUTCHMAN UNLOADER WITH HOPPER FLOOR

A Sollenberger Bottom-Unloading Storage System may well be one of the best investments you'll ever make. It gives you the ability to manage a total feed processing system to your own special feeding requirements.

Main Features of a Sollenberger Bottom Unloader:

- 6" Solid Concrete Wall - Reflects Heat
- No Drying Expense
- Reduced Shrinkage and Spoilage
- Continuous Filling and Feeding
- Lower Field Losses
- Lower Feed Cost
- Increased Palatability
- Lower Storage Losses Due To Heating
- Lower Maintenance Costs On Structure & Unloader

LET US INSTALL THE FLYING DUTCHMAN UNLOADER IN OUR POURED CONCRETE SILO. THE RESULTS WILL BE:

- LOW INITIAL COST
- HIGH VOLUME DELIVERY
- LOWER MAINTENANCE COSTS
